$3.5M facelift in the works for Tom Ham's

By MARIKO LAMB | THE BEACON

Tom Ham's Lighthouse — a longstanding fixture on the westernmost point of Harbor Island — has literally been a beacon of bright light along the waterfront for mariners and diners alike for the last 40 years. When Tom Ham first purchased the property, Coast Guard regulations mandated that a beacon illuminate that point on the manmade peninsula.

Through collaboration with the Coast Guard and with a little ingenuity from Ham's architect, Beacon No. 9 was incorporated into the design of the restaurant itself, and an easement was granted to the Coast Guard for the maintenance and operation of the still-functioning lighthouse.

Now, more than four decades later, Tom Ham's daughter, Susan Baumann, husband Larry and their three adult sons — Andy, Tommy and Grant — will modernize major features of the 1971 bayfront restaurant with $3.5 million in renovations to its interior dining spaces, banquet rooms and exterior facades.

From the outside, Harbor Island passersby will see walls knocked down to accommodate expansive windows and a new outdoor dining patio above the water, drastic changes to the interior dining area that will include an 18-seat bar and adjacent cocktail lounge with panoramic views of the bay and cityscape, as well as the creation of a new wedding court in a semi-secluded corner of the property.

"We did a renovation about 10 years ago, but we were only closed for about a month. It was never seen in the public's eye as a major renovation. There wasn't enough change. It was more of an update than a remodel," said youngest son Andy. "This is a major renovation, and it's definitely about time. We're getting close to our lease end with the port, so if

Noisy, but beautifully exotic wild parrots call San Diego home

By ETHAN ORENSTEIN | THE BEACON

The flocks of large, green-and-red birds around San Diego may seem unusual, but they're a part of the beach culture now. They're wild parrots.

Though the parrots are not native to San Diego, or California as a whole, they've been here for a while and are likely here to stay.

According to The California Parrot Project, the birds survive on seeds, fruit and nectar from tropical trees and shrubs planted in urban and residential areas in such communities as Ocean Beach, Point Loma, Pacific Beach and La Jolla.

Karen Straus, coordinator of the San Diego Bird Festival, hosted by the San Diego Audubon Society, said the birds do not migrate, but stay in San Diego year-round. They have established communal roosts around the county that they return to each night. During the day, the birds will fly out to a variety of food sources, depending on the time of year.

"I see them often out at Lakeside because

PLHS musicians bemoan theft of guitars from campus

By SCOTT HOPKINS | THE BEACON

The theft of $3,000 worth of guitars and accessories overnight from a Point Loma High School arts facility has left two young, dedicated musicians saddened and disappointed.

Eddy Allen and Shawn Gardner were rehearsing the evening of Feb. 21 with the school Jazz Band for an upcoming performance in the campus' Larry Zeiger Performing Arts Center. At the conclusion of the session, the boys were told by a staff member they could leave their equipment overnight.

The next morning, however, the instruments were gone, leaving Allen and Gardner wondering how their property could have been taken from the apparently locked facility.

Allen is the lead singer in two bands — Revoltage, and 140 Yards — and Gardner is a bassist for the groups.

The young musicians said they just want their instruments back.

"These guitars were special to us. As artists, that's how we speak," Allen said. "The Strato-caster was my guitar. It was the one I felt I could express myself on. Shawn and I are both disappointed that someone would take things with such sentimental value."

A drum kit belonging to Allen's brother, Alex, was left behind, as were the amplifiers.

Taken were:

- Allen's custom Fender American Stratocaster with case
- Allen's John Lennon edition Epiphone Casino with Bigsby bender and case
- Gardner's 1991 custom Fender Precision bass guitar and
- Boss DS-1, Boss OD-3 and Boss ME-50 special-effects pedals, a GK bass head (bass amplifier control) along with a capo and various cables

San Diego Unified School District police are investigating the thefts.

Anyone with information is asked to contact school police officer Brad Sato at (619) 223-3121, ext. 1110, or email him at bsato@sandi.net.

For now, Allen said he is borrowing guitars for upcoming performances.

Eulalio Alconcel, Korla Eaquinta, Logan and AJ Alconcel took their Beacon for a grand tour of the Philippines recently. This shot was taken at Pombato Reef at Hunda Bay, Puerto Princessa in Palawan. The Beacon also traveled to Manila, Cavite and the northern provinces, as well as many other sites in the Philippines.

Tyson Volkmann and his wife, Tara, hold their Beacon on a fairly remote, jungle-covered island in the southwestern corner of the Philippines called Palawan. "We rented motorcycles and traversed the island looking for a bit of adventure," said Tyson. "The only perils we encountered were large jungle snakes – but they were the only ones in any real danger, when they tried to slither across the highway in front of our oncoming motorcycles."

you make capital improvements on the building, you get a lease extension."

For a $3.5 million investment and about four months of construction, Tom Ham's gets another 40 years on its lease.

And in the next 40 years, the family-run business will carry on the restaurant's legacy with the myriad strengths of the entire family, including Susan and Larry's sons who — until recently — were pursuing careers in fields like engineering, law and medicine.

"We need to have that family feel in there. Everyone who comes to Bali Hai [also run by the Baumanns] knows Larry, my father. Everybody's met Larry and that's been a big part of the business is to see the same face when you walk in the door, so it's time to have family over there," said Andy. "Unfortunately, my grandfather died a year after he bought the place, so we haven't really had family there, but now we kind of have an army."

Despite the massive overhaul, the Baumanns intend to embrace the steadfast historic charm of the venerable California marine tradition Ham always envisioned.

"My grandfather was a California historian, and he really embraced the early California discovery and shipping culture," said Andy. "He collected artifacts, and his shipping artifacts are pretty impressive."

Ham's penchant for authentic collectables is visible throughout both the Baumanns' family-owned and operated restaurants. Walking through either is like walking through a cultural history museum, with authentic Polynesian tiki artifacts at Bali Hai and priceless nautical relics at Tom Ham's Lighthouse adorning the walls and display cases.

"Putting together the artifacts ties in the whole theme. Those are the things that are important to us," said Andy. "The architect can design the whole thing, but you have to have those little touches at the end that really tie it all in."

Among Tom Ham's Lighthouse's many maritime artifacts are maps of San Diego Bay dating back to 1890, a genuine fog belt from a lighthouse in Massachusetts and a few leftover ship pieces from San Diego's maritime museum.

The most striking nautical fixture in the restaurant, however, is prominently displayed near the main entrance in the form of a fully operational beacon warning bay sailors of nearby land.

The lighthouse, too, is getting a modern makeover, with the Coast Guard's recent replacement of its old halogen lens to a cleaner, more energy-efficient LED light.

"The Coast Guard came out last week and changed the light out just like they did at the Point Loma Lighthouse. It's pretty impressive," said Andy. "It's a bright light, and it's a lot smaller than the other one. The old lens was big and it would put out more of a glow. This one is very distinct and sends out more of a light."

The upgrades to both the lighthouse lens and building renovation are in line with a certain ongoing trend throughout Point Loma, with many improvements at other businesses in the area also under way.

"You can see that everybody is getting to the end of their leases. Everybody's remodeling — Pizza Nova, Point Loma Seafood — everything's getting updated around the same time," he said. "It's fun to be out on the water right now."

Tom Ham's Lighthouse, located at 2150 Harbor Island Drive, is slated to reopen on May 1. For more information, visit www.tomhamslighthouse.com.

The bar at Tom Ham's Lighthouse will offer patrons an expansive panorama of downtown San Diego through oversize floor-to-ceiling windows in the dining area.

Ask The Lawyer

Question:

What are Guardianships and Conservatorships?

Answer:

A Conservatorship is for adults over 18 that can no longer take care of themselves or their finances. They can be established for older adults and for developmentally disabled adults. A doctor has to declare them incompetent, which means that they are unable make their own decisions or are unable to resist undue influence.

A Guardianship is established when the parents are unable to care for a minor child or in the event they inherit funds or have a personal injury settlement, for example.

Both are court procedures that require a lot of time and paperwork to name another to take care of that person's estate and health care decisions. You want to avoid these if possible because they are time consuming and expensive. A judge ultimately will make decisions for the family. There is a conservatorship clinic in the San Diego Courts which helps those who want to attempt to do the paperwork for themselves.

I can guarantee you that the process will be long and frustrating, however if you use an attorney, it will be easier for you. Give me a call for a free 15 minute consultation about you and your family's needs.

there are trees in the Lindo Lake Park area that are a good food source for them," Straus said. "So, at certain times of the year, they'll be out at Lindo Lake, but they're probably roosting back here [in the beach communities]."

She said the parrots have already made an appearance flying overhead at this year's bird festival, and they've caused some excitement at festivals in the past.

"At the bird festival three years ago, they landed in the trees," Straus said. "All our guests were running out of the workshops and running down to see the parrots right here at the festival."

While there is no single explanation as to how the birds got here, Straus said there are two main theories, both of which may be true.

One is that the parrots came to California as pets.

"People like to have birds, especially parrots, as pets," Straus said. "But sometimes, maybe there's a behavior problem with the bird or maybe [the owners] are moving and they can't take the bird with them, so the birds are simply released into the wild or the birds may escape into the wild."

According to The California Parrot Project, hundreds of released and escaped parrots throughout the state over time have led to the wild, breeding populations today.

The other theory, Straus said, is that parrots native to northern Mexico came to California in search of a suitable habitat as areas of Mexico became deforested.

Whatever the reason, the exotic birds have established themselves as a colorful addition to more than 500 species of birds found throughout San Diego County.

"San Diego has an amazing diversity of birds, and that's because we are lucky enough to be located on a major migration flyway," Straus said.

Straus said anyone interested in learning more about the variety of birds in San Diego should go on a San Diego Audubon Society bird walk. Throughout the month experts guide guests through local areas around the county like Santee Lake and La Jolla Shores to observe birds.

Bank robber pleads to multiple heists

A Point Loma bank robber will be sentenced March 19 after admitting he placed gadgets that he claimed were bombs at several banks.

Roberto Amado Sepulveda, 24, pleaded guilty to all charges. The judge said he would impose up to a maximum sentence of five years and eight months in state prison, according to court records.

Sepulveda admitted to holding up the America West Bank on Rosecrans Street on Nov. 21 and to placing a device before two tellers there. He also admitted to holding up a Chase Bank branch and the Navy Federal Credit Union, both in Imperial Beach.

A credit union teller put a tracking device in with the cash and police arrested Sepulveda at an Imperial Beach home where he had been staying. Most of that money was recovered.

The devices Sepulveda left at all the banks were not bombs and no one was injured.

Faux bomber released from custody

A man who made a false bomb threat at Robb Field in Ocean Beach was released from jail Feb. 25 after credit for time served. He will be allowed to live with family in Wyoming on three years' probation.

The bizarre incident took place July 20 when Kreighton John Kilgore, 28, told a woman he put a bomb in her mailbox and he told a responding police officer he had a bomb. He pleaded guilty to interfering with an officer from his duty because of the bomb threat.

San Diego Superior Court Judge Laura Halgren barred Kilgore from returning to within two blocks of Robb Field and to stay away from the woman. Kilgore said his home is in Jackson, Wyo., and probation officials are working to transfer Kilgore to be on probation in Wyoming, according to court records.

Halgren credited Kilgore for 371 days spent in jail, including months Kilgore spent in a state mental hospital after he was initially declared mentally incompetent to stand trial.

No explosives were found and Halgren dismissed charges of making a criminal threat, battery upon an officer and making a false bomb threat. The judge recommended psychiatric and substance-abuse treatment.

Police captain's son gets public service in assaults

A San Diego police captain's son has been ordered to perform 50 days of public work service after pleading guilty to three misdemeanor counts of battery on women in Pacific Beach whom he groped while drunk.

Alex Tyler Guaderrama, 23, will be wearing a device that monitors alcohol use while on terms of three years' probation. His driver license was suspended for 30 days and he was fined on Feb. 11.

Guaderrama, who moved to Alpine, will have to apply for a restricted driver license that would permit driving to and from work, according to Gina Coburn, spokeswoman for the San Diego City Attorney's Office. He will wear the secure continuous remote alcohol monitor (SCRAM) while on probation, she said.

Guaderrama admitted to assaulting two women outside a taco shop around 1 a.m. on Aug. 21 at 1190 Garnet Ave. A third woman was struck in the face. He also pleaded guilty to misdemeanor vandalism involving $400 in damages to a car window of two victims who fled.

His father is Capt. Manny Guaderrama, and the department denied any favorable treatment to his son in the investigation for charges that were filed six weeks later.

The younger Guaderrama could return to court after completion of 25 days of public service and have the next 25 days converted to volunteer work at a nonprofit organization.

Prosecutor resigns after ticket-fixing fiasco

A jury has convicted a prosecutor of conspiracy to obstruct justice and two other misdemeanors in a Pacific Beach ticket-fixing case and she resigned from the District Attorney's Office on Feb. 19.

The resignation of Allison Worden, 37, will take effect on Feb. 28, said Steve Walker, a spokesperson for District Attorney Bonnie Dumanis. Worden was an experienced prosecutor for 10 years and handled murder and robbery cases.

Because the convictions are misdemeanors, they may not affect her license to practice law, but Worden might have trouble finding employment elsewhere as a prosecutor. She had been on paid leave of absence.

Her attorney, former District Attorney

Paul Pfingst, won a delay Feb. 20 in her sentencing and it was set for March 8 before San Diego Superior Court Judge Louis Hanoian. She remains free on her own recognizance.

Worden, who was charged under her married name of Allison Debow, could get up to a year in jail, but it is more likely she would get community service with probation. It would be a security problem for a prosecutor to be sent to any jail.

The incident began on May 28, 2011 in the 4600 block of Cass Street when a police officer pulled over a car driven by another prosecutor, Amy Maund, and discovered that Worden, a passenger, wasn't wearing a seat belt.

The officer issued two tickets to both women, and Worden called Sgt. Kevin Friedman, a supervisor in the traffic department. Friedman apparently destroyed the tickets and later pleaded no contest to destruction of a traffic citation before it was filed in court.

Friedman, 49, was ordered to perform 40 hours of volunteer work, and placed on two years probation with a $500 fine. He also resigned from the police department.

Worden testified "the cop didn't act appropriately" during the traffic stop and said she only called Friedman to complain about the officer, denying asking him to destroy the tickets.

Man to stand trial for bank robberies

A Mission Bay man has been ordered to stand trial for allegedly robbing two Pacific Beach banks in 2010 that are linked to him via DNA in a hat he left behind.

A June 13 trial date was set for Bryan Whaley Leasure, 50, who pleaded not guilty to the charges following a preliminary hearing in San Diego Superior Court. He was arrested Jan. 16.

Leasure's DNA is on file because he was convicted of five robberies in federal court in Arizona in 2000. That means Leasure could get 25 years for each bank robbery as part of the "third strike" law.

Two tellers who were robbed identified Leasure in court as the man who robbed them. A Bank of America branch and a Wells Fargo branch in Pacific Beach were robbed on July 12, 2010 and Aug. 13, 2010.

Leasure remains in custody on $150,000 bail.

Bank robber handed one-year sentence

A robber who held up a Pacific Beach bank on New Year's Eve has been sentenced to one year in jail and his projected release date is May 31, according to the sheriff's officials.

James Arthur McWatters, 36, of San Diego, received credit for serving 44 days in jail on Feb. 14. The sheriff's department has discretion to release inmates after they serve half their sentence.

San Diego Superior Court Judge Frederick Maguirre placed McWatters on three years' probation and fined him over $500.

McWatters held up a Wells Fargo Bank branch that was inside the Ralph's grocery store at 4315 Mission Blvd. It occurred at 12:30 p.m. and he made off with $3,200 in cash.

"Nobody was hurt, fortunately," said Maguirre, who told McWatters he was lucky the case was not prosecuted in federal court.

McWatters pleaded guilty just 15 days after the robbery, and a charge of making a criminal threat was dropped. He was arrested Jan. 1 in Oceanside.

Soccer squad ends post-season run

By SCOTT HOPKINS | THE BEACON

The Point Loma High boys' soccer team was eliminated from the Div. II CIF playoffs on Feb. 23 in a dramatic and physical game that left Pointer players with broken hearts and aching muscles.

The seventh-seeded PLHS squad battled second-seed host Westview to a 1-1 tie in regulation play and the two sides were anticipating a penalty-kick shootout with less than a minute remaining in a 15-minute sudden death overtime period.

But that shootout never happened.

As Westview moved the ball into position near the Pointer goal, Wolverine senior forward Justin Kitts took advantage of a split-second opportunity and drilled a shot from the right side of Pointer goalie Evan Melone that found its way into the left side of the goal netting for a "golden goal" and the win.

Ironically, it was the only goal scored by Westview all night, after a rare "own goal" by the Pointers.

Wolverine players began a celebration while many of the devastated Pointers stood in stunned silence as the realization of what had just occurred struck them.

In a heartbeat, after 95 minutes of intense action, Pointer players saw their dreams vaporize, and many broke down, tears mixing with perspiration in the cold night air. Many had difficulty hiding their emotions as the two teams passed at midfield in the customary post-game handshake.

Earlier, the Pointers got off to a quick start.

It took only two minutes for them to take a 1-0 lead after a 5:30 p.m. start under the lights.

Leading Pointer scorer Devan Patane

Point Loma's Devan Patane, in maroon, is hit by a Westview player during a CIF playoff soccer quarterfinal game. Patane, the Pointers' top scorer, was held scoreless as Westview prevailed 2-1 in overtime.

But moments later, as a Pointer defender attempted to head the ball back to keeper Melone, the pass sailed higher than anticipated over the keeper's head and into the net for a rare "own goal."

That 1-1 score remained for 91 minutes of intense play until the overtime game-winner.

Pointer head coach Elliott Savitz praised his players after the game.

"I'm really proud of our seniors," he said. "They gave everything they had and left it all on the field tonight."

Savitz concluded, "I don't think (Westview) is a better side than us, but in soccer, sometimes there is a little bit of luck that makes the difference."

EXTRA NOTES

- The Pointers ended their season with an overall record of 13-4-7 (2-2-4, third place, Western League).

- Patane was taken down several more times in the match and was noticeably in pain throughout. Many of these tackles drew no response from an officiating crew, resulting in sportsmanlike protests from Pointer coaches, stunned reactions from players and impassioned shouting from fans.

- A number of cautionary yellow cards were issued, but often for seemingly petty acts such as holding an opponent's jersey. Often, when a violent play took place, play continued.

- Both goalkeepers made outstanding saves. Twice, Melone leaped high in the air laterally, using his fingertips to barely redirect Wolverine shots headed into the net's upper corner.

- In the first-round CIF game on Feb. 20, the Pointers dispatched 10th-seeded Steele Canyon by a 3-0 score. Goals were credited to Alcantar, Noah Bunton and Armando Contreras.

- Besides Patane, Alcantar, Melone, Bunton and Contreras, other seniors ending their prep careers were Avery Cramer, Pedro Basaca, Dylan Shackelford, Bobby Cardosa, Yonnie Zea, Oscar Ramirez and Steve Xum.

PLHS sailors once again assert nautical prowess

By SCOTT HOPKINS | THE BEACON

In what has become a local prep-sports dynasty, the Point Loma High School sailing team has once again asserted its mastery in a major event.

The Golden Bear Regatta, held Feb. 23-24 at the San Francisco Yacht Club in Lafayette, Calif., was the scene of the latest dominance, as the school's varsity and junior varsity boats finished first and second among a 30-boat fleet.

Coach Steve Hunt uses different members of his team based on wind and sea conditions to change boat weight and balance variables. Doing so maximizes boat performance and his flexible roster appears to adapt easily.

Each Pointer boat sailed 16 races, including eight each in two series (A and B).

In the Golden Bear "A" Division event, Hunt tabbed Scott Sinks to skipper the varsity boat. Rebecca McElvain crewed for the first seven of eight races, with Greer Wattson taking her place for the final race.

The "B" Division varsity lineup listed skipper AB Reiter, with Merides McPhee crewing in all eight races.

The junior varisty "A" boat was skippered by Andy Reiter, with Halea Holeseck aboard for races 1-6 and Paul Didham for the final two.

In the "B" junior varsity series, Will Ladow skippered, with Jennifer Johnson assisting.

Next up for the Pointer sailors is the PCISA's Gaucho Regatta, slated for March 16-17. Co-hosted by the University of California, Santa Barbara sailing team and the Santa Barbara Yacht Club, strong winds and cold temperatures are possible.

The event was part of the PCISA (Pacific Coast Interscholastic Sailing Association) series.

Scoring in sailing is based on finish order, meaning first-place earns one point, second place is two points, etc. Low score at the regatta's end wins.

The PLHS varsity boat captured five first places and four second places out of 16 races. Despite one 16th-place finish, the varsity easily outscored the competition for top regatta honors.

The Pointer junior varsity boat racked up four first places and five third places in their runner-up total.

Next up for Pointer sailors is the PCISA's Gaucho Regatta, slated for March 16-17. Co-hosted by the University of California, Santa Barbara sailing team and the Santa Barbara Yacht Club, strong winds and cold temperatures are possible.

For Hunt and his team, it's a chance to wrap up another Roy E. Disney Trophy, awarded to the year's top-performing PCISA school.

5 PLNU athletes honored as 'Stars of the Month'

COLLEGE ROUNDUP

PLNU ATHLETICS COMMUNICATIONS DEPT.

San Diego Hall of Champions honors

Five Point Loma Nazarene University student-athletes were honored as "Stars of the Month" at the 67th annual Salute to Champions by the San Diego Hall of Champions on Feb. 26 at the Town and Country Resort and Convention Center.

Sean Lewis, Tiffany Kracy, Wileen Chiu, Kelli LeClair and Josh Dexheimer were each honored as amateur athletes for their outstanding performance during a month in 2012.

Chiu earned the honor for April as she went 3-0 in singles and 4-0 in doubles during the month. Lewis was honored in May after he won the NAIA championship in the 400-meter hurdles with a school-record time of 50.97.

Dexheimer missed a perfect game on a dropped third strike while playing summer ball for the Myrtle Beach Surf Riders. He settled with a no-hitter and 12-strikeout performance. Kracy posted a streak of 445 scoreless minutes in September and helped PLNU reach the top of the PacWest standings. LeClair led the Point Loma volleyball team to upsets over nationally-ranked Grand Canyon twice in October, while leading the team with 4.43 kills.

Others honored at the Salute to Champions included professional and amateur "Stars of the Year," along with Breitbard Hall of Fame inductees Junior Seau, Trevor Hoffman, Brian Quinn and Stephen Neal.

Women's basketball makes a run

The PLNU women's basketball team went 7-1 during the month of February. The Sea Lions put together a six-game winning streak, which included a road sweep of the Hawaii schools.

Callie Rhoads and Jessica Escorza each stepped up their play during the month as each averaged 17.0 points per game. The hot streak pushes the Sea Lions past Azusa Pacific into No. 2 in the NCAA West Region rankings.

Baseball back in action

All seven spring sports teams are back in action for the Sea Lions. The baseball team has won four of its last five games to improve to 5-6 on the season.

It opened Pacific West Conference play with a four-game series against Hawaii Hilo on Feb. 15-16. PLNU and UHH split the opening doubleheader, but PLNU bounced back to take both games on Saturday and win the series 3-1.

Senior pitchers Tyler Garkow and Justin Lawrence each recorded shutouts in the series. Garkow opened the series with a 6-0, six-hit shutout in game one. Lawrence came through big in game three as he delivered nine innings of two-hit baseball while striking out nine. PLNU is currently tied atop the PacWest standings with a 3-1 record along with Fresno Pacific and Holy Names.

Track hits the ground running

The Point Loma men's and women's track and field programs completed their second competition last week at the Rossi Relays in Claremont.

Sean Lewis won the 400-meter hurdles with a time of 53.41. Lewis, who is the defending NAIA National Champion in the 400-meter hurdles, also won the 100-meter and 200-meter races at the PLNU-Fresno Pacific Dual Meet to open the season.

Breelan Matranga also picked up a win at the Rossi Relays as she recorded a time of 10:37.76 in the 3k.

Multiple PLHS teams eliminated in first round of CIF play

By SCOTT HOPKINS | THE BEACON

In CIF playoffs, three PLHS teams were eliminated in first-round play.

GIRLS' SOCCER

The City League champion, and 11th-seeded Pointer girls soccer team dropped a 2-0 home match to sixth-seeded Rancho Bernardo, 9-10-4 overall (2-5-1, fourth place in the Palomar League).

The Pointers posted a final record of 11-8-3 after soaring to a 6-0-2 league mark.

Two late-season goals by senior Grayson Choy gave her five for the season, tying sophomore Taylor Hopkins for the team lead.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

In girls' basketball, the 16th-seeded Lady Pointers had the unenviable task of facing top-seeded Eastern League champion Serra (23-6 overall, 10-0 in league).

Despite a good effort by PLHS hoopsters, they absorbed a 70-19 loss.

The Pointers finished 12-8 overall, 7-5 (fourth place) in Central League standings.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

The Central League champion Pointers were given a No. 9 seed against No. 8 Westview, 20-8 overall (6-4 for third place in Palomar League) in their first-round Feb. 20 game in the PLHS gym.

The Wolverines, down 16-13 after one quarter, used deadly three-point shooting in outscoring the Pointers 23-4 in the second frame to take a 36-20 halftime lead. The visitors laid a 65-40 whipping on the hosts, ending their season.

The Pointers ended their campaign with an overall record of 18-8 (12-0 in Central League).

Post-season honor went to Dillon Fitzmorris and Jamal Agnew (first-team, All-Central League) and Grant Wilburn (second team). Fitzmorris was also named "Player of the Year."

Pacific Beach United Methodist Church Extends a Warm Welcome

Chartered in 1947 and still celebrating the grace of God, the Pacific Beach United Methodist Church (PB UMC) is a faith community which people of many ages, stages, and backgrounds call home. Some have claimed PB UMC as "their" church since the 1950's; others have just arrived. The church is known for excellent music, uplifting messages, opportunities for compassionate service, creativity in putting everyone's gifts to work, and a beautiful courtyard complete with what must be Pacific Beach's largest living Christmas tree!

PB UMC has long-held commitment to supporting families by sponsoring kids to participate in a resident summer camp in Julian, organizing week-long youth service projects which prove inspiring and eye-opening to teens, and mentoring young people. This year the church will add an arts day camp to its array of youth opportunities.

Stephany Cunanan and Zack Meyer saw the need for a Dollar Store in Ocean Beach and jumped at the business opportunity.

Young entrepreneurial couple opens new Dollar Store in OB

By ETHAN ORENSTEIN | THE BEACON

Before they get married in July, Zack Meyer, 23, and Stephany Cunanan, 24, decided to start their own business.

The O.B. Dollar Store, located at 1919 Cable St., opened Feb. 7. The shelves are stocked with a large variety of items ranging from beach toys to tools, and to stay true to the name, everything is priced at $1 or less.

Meyer has lived in Ocean Beach for about three years. After Cunanan came to visit a few times, she realized there was no dollar store in the vicinity and she wanted to open one.

"We're trendy," said Cunanan. "We're up to date. We're not like other dollar stores. You can go in here and get what you need and you can grab stuff that you didn't realize you could go to the dollar store for."

She said they want to cater to the wide range of people in Ocean Beach and carry something for everyone. For them, serving the community is a top priority.

"It still has that mom-and-pop feel, but it's run by two young people, so we bring a new twist to it," Cunanan said.

"It's O.B., so we definitely keep it O.B. and bring in things that the community would want and need."

Meyer said customers have given them a lot of good feedback, and it's the store's customer service that really sets it apart from other dollar stores.

"We're not just a store," Meyer said. "We converse with our customers. If customers find something that they want us to sell, we'll get it for them. If they need something that's more than a dollar, but at a cheap price, we'll get it for them."

Meyer said they plan to always keep prices low. This is the couple's first time running a business. And so far, it has been an exciting learning experience, Meyer said. He said they've been getting used to everything that goes into it, in addition to working behind the counter.

"We're looking to help everybody out," Meyer said. "We're opening a store and that's exciting for us, and at the same time we want to have low prices so that helps out other people."

"We're trendy. We're up to date. We're not like other dollar stores. You can go in here and get what you need and you can grab stuff that you didn't realize you could go to the dollar store for."

Acoustics galore; island rhythms and The Hips

By BART MENDOZA | THE BEACON

Though a number of San Diego's bigger music venues have closed in recent months, including such well-known nightspots as Anthology and 4th&B, the Ocean Beach and Point Loma area's music scene appears to be doing just fine, with more music than ever on offer each week. Here are five top entertainment options in the area this time out.

Fans of acoustic music will want to check out the Ocean Beach People's Organic Foods Co-Op Deli, which offers free music twice a week. The music happens on Fridays from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and on Sundays from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. A great place to take in a meal or a quick break while shopping by catching up-and-coming talent, the venue presents an eclectic mix of artists performing folk, jazz, blues and bluegrass music. Between the great music, fresh food and ocean breezes, this could just about be the quintessential Ocean Beach spot.

• Acoustic music: Friday, March 8 at 5:30 p.m. and Sunday, March 10 at 11 a.m. at Ocean Beach People's Organic Foods Co-Op Deli, 4765 Voltaire Street. Free. www.obpeoplesfood.coop.

One of San Diego's best-known reggae-influenced artists, Quino makes a rare appearance March 9 at Humphreys Backstage Lounge. If you're a fan of reggae or Hawaiian music, this show is for you.

Quino first came to national attention in 1994, when his band, Big Mountain, scored a No. 4 hit with a cover of the Peter Frampton song "Baby, I Love Your Way." While nothing he's released since has climbed to those heights, his groove-filled music continues to be a major draw. Quino hasn't released an album since his solo debut in 2010 with "La Ofrenda," but whether he plays new creations or old favorites, anyone who wants an aural pick-me-up during the gloomy days of March will enjoy Quino's island rhythms.

• Quino performs at 9 p.m. on Saturday, March 9 at Humphreys Backstage Live, 2241 Shelter Island Drive. $12. www.humphreysbackstagelive.com

Anyone wanting to squeeze in a last bit of weekend fun before the reality of Monday hits should head to Gallagher's on Sunday, March 10 for a set from The Hips. Specializing in funk, soul and R&B, the band performs from 3 to 6 p.m., making this the perfect way to top off a Sunday. The Hips' set list includes excellent takes of hit tunes from the Motown 1960s to the funky 1970s, the perfect soundtrack for dancing or just winding down the afternoon.

• The Hips perform at 3 p.m. on Sunday March 10 at Gallagher's, 5046 Newport Ave. 21 and up. For more information, visit www.gallagherspubob.com.

Patterned after classic rockers circa 1970 to 1984, Locked Out of Eden is built on four excellent musicians. Frontman David Hermsen has a superb voice at times, reminiscent of a young, edgy Neil Diamond, while guitarist Guy Reggae-influence artist Quino is set to make a rare appearance on March 9 at Humphreys Backstage Lounge.

Aschelman may be the band's secret weapon, with an arsenal of cool riffs. If you're bored with bands playing the same old covers, Locked Out of Eden's well-crafted original songs, cut from the same cloth as the classics they take their inspiration from, should be enough to satisfy any rock fan.

• Locked Out Of Eden performs at 8 p.m. on Friday, March 15 at Riley's Music Lounge, 2901 Nimitz Blvd. No cover. 21 and up.

Nothing less than an explosion of sound and smooth beats, Afro-Cuban, Latin-jazz and reggae-based band Agua Dulce may not seem like the obvious band to book on St. Patrick's Day on Sunday, March 17, but there is no doubting the band's ability to get a party started. Together since the mid-1990s, Agua Dulce continues to be one of the most popular groups locally. Even if you're not familiar with the tunes, the groove-filled music will get your feet tapping in no time. Appearing at Winston's Beach Club, the band's intricate melodies are wonderful to listen to, but this is a band that's custom-built for the dance floor.

• Agua Dulce performs at 5 p.m. on Sunday, March 17 at Winston's Beach Club, 1921 Bacon St. No cover. 21 and up. www.winstonsob.com

Therapy for Alzheimer's Patients Improves Life

Even though there is not yet a cure for Alzheimer's disease, researchers have been looking into therapies that can improve a person's quality of life, possibly lessen some of their symptoms and help them function better.

Notepad Computers – These same lightweight touchscreen computers, with puzzles, games and apps, are being used to exercise the person's mind, help them improve their dexterity and even help remind them of things. The games help the person feel that they've accomplished a task and are successful.

Bright Lights – A study that was published in the Journal of the AMA found that either intensive light therapy or UV light therapy has helped a person with memory issues have better cognition and helps improve mood. It may be especially helpful with sundowning behavior.

Art – This is increasingly being seen at museums around the country, where there are programs for people with Alzheimer's to view and create art. The result of this therapy lasts well past the therapy session.

"Comfort Food" – It is being researched that letting the person have that extra piece of pie or that nighttime drink makes the person more content and peaceful. This could cause them to need less medication.

Tell a Story – Having the Alzheimer's patient in a group, looking at pictures and making up a story about that picture helps the person be creative, as well as helping them socialize.

No therapy at this time can reverse Alzheimer's, but more people are working to help improve the quality of life. For more help in dealing with an Alzheimer's patient, call the RN care managers at Innovative Healthcare Consultants at 1.877.731.1442 or see us online at www.innovativehc.com.

Plant protein for health

There are many reasons to consider a vegetarian diet. Reducing or eliminating meat from your diet, especially factory-farmed meat that's widely available in supermarkets, not only lowers your risk of some chronic disease, it's healthy for the planet, too. A 2006 United Nations report found that the meat industry produces more greenhouse gases than all vehicles combined. But, what about protein you might ask.

All plant foods are lower in one or another essential amino acids—the building blocks of protein—than animal food sources. To remedy this, combine whole grains and legumes in the same day's meal plan (not necessarily the same meal). The amino acid combo in those foods is the reason rice and beans, for example, are such important protein sources for vegetarians. "Any whole grain like quinoa, corn, whole wheat, buckwheat, brown rice, plus a legume like pinto, lentils, black beans, and garbanzos is perfect," explains spokeswoman Cristine Gerbstadt, MD, RD. "Think of hummus and whole wheat pita, whole wheat pasta and red beans, brown rice and curried lentils, peanut butter on multi whole grain bread." If you're looking to lose weight, aim for three ½-cup servings of whole grain products a day. If you're super active, you may want to eat six servings a day.

Learn more about the benefits of a meatless diet when Ocean Beach People's Organic Food Market celebrates the Great American Meatout on Sunday, March 17, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Open daily from 8 a.m. – 9 p.m., you'll find Ocean Beach People's Organic Food Market at 4765 Voltaire Street, where Everyone Can Shop and Anyone can join! Visit online at www.obpeoplesfood.coop or call us at (619) 224-1387.

Artist's reception will include free portrait shots

On Wednesday, March 13, an artist's reception will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. in the community room of the Point Loma Library, 3701 Voltaire St.

Photographers and 3-D artists who are members of the Point Loma Artists Association are currently exhibiting their work at the library. The public is encouraged to attend.

There will be refreshments and a temporary photo studio where anyone can have a free portrait taken by portrait photographer Patricia Flanigan.

Las Olas offers up tasty Mexican fare on Point Loma with new venue

Since 1981, Las Olas has been serving great Mexican Food by the beaches of North County. In January, the commute ended for residents of Point Loma and surrounding residents craving a meal from San Diego's fish taco pioneers with the opening of a new restaurant at 3924 W. Point Loma Blvd., at the corner with Sports Arena Boulevard.

Owners Dave Murphey and Pete

Johnson, both originally from the area, said they are excited about the new venue, which offers plenty of parking.

According to the owners, the menu offers many options, like "build your own tacos" with seafood, chicken, pork, along with carne asada taco platters and favorites like flame-roasted chili rellenos stuffed with fall-off-the-bone-tender carnitas or seasonal grilled vegetable enchiladas. The owners boast honest food, prepared fresh daily from scratch with wholesome ingredients.

A full bar also features margaritas and other fine drinks, along with a 10-tap draft selection of Mexican brews and San Diego's home-grown craft beers.

Locals feted for achievements, contributions in Scouting

On Jan. 26, Gwyneth (Gwyn) Curry, Charlie Grenis and Rachel Loeffler from Point Loma Venturing Crew 500 were inducted into the National Youth Leadership Society (NYLS) class of 2012 during the annual San Diego/Imperial Council Venturing and Sea Scout Awards Dinner. Venturing is a co-ed program of the Boy Scouts of America (BSA), which emphasizes leadership, outdoor skills, character development and citizenship. The program is geared to high school and early college-age young women and men. The purpose of NYLS is to recognize youth members of BSA who have learned and practiced outstanding leadership skills — the elite of Scouting. There to present the awards on behalf of BSA's National Council was Sean Roy, San Diego-Imperial Council's director of field services, who said, "We're very proud of all three of them. They have been a longtime contributors to the Venturing program at the unit level in Crew 500 and to Scouting in general."

Loeffler, a senior at Coronado High School, has been a member of Venturing Crew 500 for nearly four years, and is currently the crew's guide, having previously served as crew secretary and crew president. She is also currently serving as secretary of the Venturing Officer's Association (VOA) within the San Diego/Imperial Council, which oversees Venturing activities throughout San Diego and Imperial counties. Just a week after completing eighth grade, Rachel drove to Idaho as the newest member of Crew 500, where the crew spent six days at the Salmon River High Adventure Base near Idaho Falls, and completed Kodiak, a leadership skills course taught while the crew was hiking, white-water rafting and rock climbing. Rachel went on to complete Kodiak X and BSA's National Youth Leadership Training (NYLT).

Curry, a junior at University City High School, is vice president of administration in Venture Crew 500, and boatswain (equivalent to president) of Sea Scout Ship 1886. Sea Scouting is a specialized segment of the Venturing program, focused on maritime skills and heritage. Curry has completed Kodiak and Kodiak X leadership programs, NYLT and the National Advanced Youth Leadership Experience and has served on the staff of NYLT teaching leadership skills to other youth.

Grenis is a junior at California State University in Chico and has been a member of Venturing Crew 500 since 2005, and a member of Boy Scouts since 2001, when he joined Pack 546. Grenis is an Eagle Scout and has previously served as the senior patrol leader of Troop 500, as well as vice president of Crew 500. He has also completed Kodiak, Kodiak X and NYLT while a member of Crew 500. Grenis was back at college and unable to attend the dinner, but the award was accepted on his behalf by the current Crew 500 president Hannah Olson.

Olson was also presented the council's Venturing Leadership Award for exceptional contributions to Venturing and exemplifying the Venturing code. Olson is a sophomore at Point Loma High School. She is also a member of Crew 500 and Ship 1886. Crew 500 is chartered through Saint Agnes Catholic Church in Point Loma, while Ship 1886 is chartered through the San Diego Yacht Club.

Venturing Crew 500 advisor Stan Miller was on hand for the presentations during the awards dinner.

About his Crew, Stan said, "The heart and soul of what we do in the Boy Scouts of America, including Venturing, is produce leaders for tomorrow. Charlie, Rachel, Gwyn and Hannah have learned and practiced outstanding leadership skills."

ENJOY THE BEAUTY OF OLD TOWN

GOLF TOURNAMENT TO BRING BACK FOURTH GRADE PROGRAM IN OLD TOWN

The Old Town Chamber of Commerce is teaming up with PGA Hall of Famer Billy Casper to produce the Café Coyote Historic Old Town Golf Classic at the Salt Creek Golf Club on March 18, with all proceeds going toward restoring the fourth grade history program in Old Town San Diego.

For more than 20 years, PGA professional golfer Billy Casper has raised funds for kids in San Diego. Casper is a World Golf Hall of Fame member, winner of two U.S. Open Tournaments, winner of the 1970 Master's Tournament and holds the record for the most points scored for the USA Ryder Cup team. Through his organization, Billy's Kids, he has raised more than 20 million dollars.

Sponsored by Café Coyote, the goal of the tournament is to raise $40,000 to bring back the thousands of San Diego County students that would typically come to Old Town each year. The history program for fourth graders was part of the elementary school Off-Campus Integrated Learning Experiences, which was cut by the San Diego Unified School District in 2010 because of budget constraints.

"Bringing fourth graders back to Old Town is a high priority for the chamber and we are thrilled that Billy Casper is able to help us with this goal," stated Chamber President Fred Grand. "We want the students to have the opportunity to visit Old Town and learn about the rich history of our state."

The fourth grade program could be restored for as little as $3 per student -- the cost to transport the student to Old Town. All educational components of the program would be executed by volunteers and various organizations in Old Town including Old Town San Diego State Historic Park.

Other sponsors of the tournament include Bazaar Del Mundo, the Best Western Plus Hacienda Hotel Old Town, Fiesta de Reyes, the Mormon Battalion Historic Site, Old Town San Diego Guide, Old Town Trolley and Seal Tours, the San Diego Chargers, San Diego PR, the Steve Affleck Family, and Sysco, to name a few.

Sponsorships for the tournament are still available. For inquiries about sponsorship, contact Old Town Chamber Executive Director Richard Stegner at OTSD@aol.com. The golf tournament will also include a silent auction and raffle to raise additional funds and dinner will be provided by Old Town's Fiesta de Reyes.

Making book on the past: OB group seeks memorabilia

By MARTIN JONES WESTLIN | THE BEACON

It was a piece of local history fit for Hollywood, so Hollywood made a movie out of it. “The Rainmaker,” a 1956 film starring Burt Lancaster, centered on Charlie Hatfield’s groundbreaking efforts in something called pluviculture, or chemically altering clouds to fuel precipitation. The real-life San Diego of 1916 was one of Hatfield’s more noteworthy customers — and little did anyone know that City Council would get far more than it bargained for when it hired him.

What started out as an attempt to fill parched Morena Dam exploded into cascading rain over most of January that knocked out phone service, broke two levees, eventually claimed around 20 lives and hit the Ocean Beach area particularly hard. San Diego was fit to be tied, refusing Hatfield his fee ($1,000 per inch of water), over which he would sue the city for the next 22 years.

On either side of the squabble, Ocean Beach has carved its unique niche in local history, boasting the snowlike swath of foam that enveloped its shoreline on the Christmas of 1940, the Days of Fun events that kept thousands of families occupied in the 1950s and ’60s, the Collier Park antiwar melee in 1971 and even Charlie Hatfield was both heralded and later demonized for his scientific efforts in San Diego to chemically alter clouds to trigger rain when the rainmaking event went awry.

Blavatt’s extensive graphics background will weigh in the final stages of the project. She and society member Jonnie Miller will write the 8,000-word text that will accompany the 240 photos. Deadline for submissions is May 1.

KATHY BLAVATT

a “cure” for tuberculosis one visitor experienced as early as 1905. The neighborhood is a crazy-quilt of the best and worst of San Diego — and the Ocean Beach Historical Society seeks your help in designing the fabric.

Arcadia Publishing, a publisher of books on the histories of American locales, is commissioning the society to compile a pictorial anthology on Ocean Beach. The Mt. Pleasant, S.C. firm has churned out work on local lighthouses, aircraft, Coronado, Central Park, legendary residents of more than 50 legendary towns and even one on The Beach Boys. Kathy Blavatt, Ocean Beach resident and historical society member, is appealing to the public for any materials on the neighborhood’s past even as she sings Arcadia’s praises.

“They’re really neat books,” Blavatt said. “And ours, because we own the rights to the archives, we have them available. We also keep the archives for Point Loma. We could do the book now, but we want to give ourselves the best chance at the best photos, so we’re asking for anything anybody has about OB, on older families who’ve lived here a long time, the weather, the migration to OB from 1913 to 1916, Wonderland (Amusement Park), old buildings no longer standing, old cottages, fishing pictures, anything on (residences along) False Bay (now known as Mission Bay), where Robb Field is now. There are so many things that I think people don’t think of as donating, but so many of them are very important in keeping the neighborhood alive and preserving its character.”

The historian in Blavatt fuels her activist bent. The Palo Alto native’s been an Ocean Beach resident since 1965, taking the community’s roily history in stride — but the lessons hit home nine years ago, when she discovered a picture of her grandmother and great-grandmother cruising Ocean Beach in a 1924 Model T. Community involvement took over from there, with Blavatt suddenly becoming one of 17 contesting for a City Council seat vacated in 2005 in connection with an alleged scheme to repeal the city’s “no touch” strip club laws.

“It took me several years to recover from that election,” Blavatt said. “I didn’t like all the things going on. There was a lot of development being proposed, and some of the stuff with NTC [the former Naval Training Center] was becoming a big bait-and-switch, and SeaWorld was expanding. I went to a lot of council meetings and felt the power of the developers in this town. It just was disheartening.”

But there’s more to San Diego than its City Council, which can never dispel Ocean Beach’s impenetrable sense of place.

“The feel for history has remained part of the public process in Ocean Beach,” Blavatt said. “You have the Christmas parade. You have the chili cook-off [every June]. You have the Town Council. You have the [merchants’] MainStreet Association. You have the activist groups. You have the People’s food co-op. It’s such a part of the background and history.

“People do care about the community, and they’re active,” she said. “As much as the merchants might fight with the activists, I think in their hearts they all know and love this community and are trying to do their best for it. Right now, the groups are getting along pretty well. Everybody wants the homegrown businesses here.”

Blavatt added that the nonprofit, 14-member historical society board oversees more than 300 members, up from under 200 a few years ago. She emphasizes that many of those are younger men and women whose maverick take on life echoes that of an older Ocean Beach.

“There’d be a yacht basin here if it weren’t for the people who stopped the yacht basin from coming in in the 1970s,” Blavatt said, recalling that people moved rocks and sand and tried to tip over the cranes in the protest. Nothing wrong with a little nonviolent civil disobedience now and again, Blavatt said.

“That’s OB,” she said. “Anything can happen here. You say ‘That’s OB,’ and that’s the answer to everything. You can’t say that about other places.”

You couldn’t say it in 1938, either, when the fallout from Hatfield’s stunt was finally laid to rest. It was then that the courts declared the rain an act of God, absolving everybody of blame and leaving one future historian scratching her head.

said. “They gave him the liability, saying he caused the rain, and we weren’t going to pay him because he couldn’t shut it off.”

But one neighborhood would reinvent itself in time, just as it’s done whenever necessary over its 126-year history. Meanwhile, the book project is more than a tribute to a locale. It is the locale, with its bouquets, its brickbats and its quirky, singular lore.

That’s OB.
