Federal shutdown shutters Cabrillo

STAFF AND CONTRIBUTION

The inability of Congress to reach a midnight deal Oct. 1 over the nation's budget appropriations has claimed a major local casualty — the beloved Cabrillo National Monument in Point Loma.

Because of the shutdown of the federal government caused by the lapse in appropriations, the National Park Service (NPS) has closed all 401 national parks, including Cabrillo National Monument, according to NPS officials.

All visitor facilities at Cabrillo, including the visitor center, lighthouse, Military History Exhibit, tidepools, bayside trail, bookstore and all of the park grounds are closed. The park will remain closed until the government reopens when Congress can finally reach an accord.

At Cabrillo National Monument, 22 employees are on furlough because of the shutdown and another eight employees at the park are similarly affected, according to a statement. A few excepted employees remain on duty, providing security and emergency services.

Further comment and insight could not be obtained because of the fur-

Town Council takes stand against OB's 'Marshmallow Wars' tradition

By TONY DE GARATE | THE BEACON

The Ocean Beach Town Council has called for a ban on the Fourth of July "Marshmallow Wars," a tradition that was regarded as harmless fun when it began 30 years ago but has increasingly drawn ire in recent years as an out-of-control, messy affair that has brought negative notoriety to the beach community.

"There is no way we can think of to control it. It's a runaway train," said Town Council chairman Dave Martin during the board's Sept. 25 meeting.

Detractors of the tradition have become increasingly vocal since July's marshmallow fight, which left the sand and streets around the pier looking like a cotton field and caked sidewalks with enough goo to cause pedestrians to get stuck and break their shoes.

At a July Town Hall meeting sponsored by the Town Council, people complained of property damage, bystanders being targeting and a free-for-all mentality that attracted outside revelers to descend upon Ocean Beach and make a mess without cleaning up after themselves. A Facebook page has also cropped up calling for a ban to the event, which typically begins after the Fourth of July fireworks display but has never been officially sponsored nor organized.

OB will get its Oktoberfest groove on in 2-day blowout

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

A Brat-Trot Beach Run, sausage toss, beer garden, beauty pageant, musical "band slam," stein-holding contest and traditional German oompah bands are just a few of the delights awaiting festiva-goers at Ocean Beach's annual two-day Oktoberfest on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 11-12.

The Bavarian-themed festival runs from 4 to 10 p.m. on Oct. 11 and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Oct. 12.

It's all in fun to promote OB, benefit worthy causes like youth sports and to let the entire community celebrate everything about the German culture that is Oktoberfest.

Among the popular contests during the Ocean Beach Oktoberfest each year is the hilarious sausage toss (left, photo by Jim Grant) and the endurance test of the stein-holding contest (photo by Paul Hansen).

The Ocean Beach version of Oktoberfest replicates on a smaller scale the world's largest fair, a 16-day festival held annually since 1810 in Munich in Bavaria, Germany from late September to the first weekend in October, drawing more than 6 million participants.

When 'surfvial' matters, this OB guy has just the kit

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

Surfers want to thrive, not merely survive, and now with the all-purpose SurfvialKit they can do exactly that.

"This kit is all the little tools and accessories a surfer might need to have a good session," said the kit's creator, Clarke Graves. "It is an essential bring-along for any surfer that contains all the things you might need for your lunchtime session, weekend getaway or Baja trek. It is also an amazing gift for those surf widows and friends of surfers who are looking for that something any surfer would like."

A graphics designer and life-long surfer who grew up in Ocean Beach, the 36-year-old Graves designed the kit to accommodate surfers of all ages and skill levels. But he said it's particularly helpful for beginners.

"There are a lot of new surfers and the sport can be very overwhelming to them," said Graves.

He said his SurfvialKit helps newbies get organized, as well

Entrepreneur Clarke Graves of Ocean Beach shows off his creative new product he calls a SurfvialKit — a package he said is an essential bring-along for all surfers, particularly beginners.

Planners hear update on Liberty Station's 'surplus' parcels

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

Peninsula planners in September were updated on a long-range management plan for Liberty Station "surplus" properties, and lent endorsement to 11 infrastructure projects to be considered in the city's 2015 capital improvements project budget.

John Collum of Civic San Diego, a city-owned entrepreneurial partner for improving urban neighborhoods and building transit-oriented development, gave a presentation on the status of more than 50 property parcels left over from Naval Training Center's (NTC's) Reuse Plan — a document guiding the transition from the former NTC to civilian use.

Collum told the Peninsula Community Planning Board (PCPB) these holdover parcels, which have not yet been rehabilitated or redeveloped, are awaiting improvements or development in accordance with the terms of a lease agreement with master developer McMillin NTC LLC.

"What's happened is these successor agency-owned properties left over from (NTC) redevelopment are being put into a long-range property management plan to decide how those properties might be used in the future," said Collum.

He said Civic San Diego has been working since the beginning of the year to compile an inventory of such properties.

Collum distributed a handout with detailed information, as well as a color-coded map, showing the 54 surplus NTC properties still under the redevelopment agency's control.

On Sept. 19, PCPB also rolled out a long "wish list" of potential projects to be included in the city of San Diego's fiscal year 2015 capital improvements project budget.

The capital improvements program (CIP) is the city's long-range plan for all individual capital improvement projects and funding sources.

CIP projects are unique construction projects that provide improvements or additions like land, buildings and infrastructure. CIP projects are designed to enhance the overall quality of life by improving police, fire and lifeguard stations, upgrading infrastructure like streets, drainage and flood-control facilities, as well as developing recreational amenities like libraries, park and recreation centers.

"We reached out though our Facebook page to get input and, as a result, we have 11 projects that were submitted by the community for consideration by this board," said PCPB chair Julia Quinn.

Quinn noted the types of improvements which tend to get funded these days with the city's tight fiscal budget are "traffic and public-safety-type improvements."

PCPB's 11 proposed infrastructure improvement projects include Cabrillo Park's north stair and asphalt path repairs, Plum Street Park development, a sidewalk for Famosa Bridge, bus Route 28 turnouts, a bikeway for Chatsworth Boulevard, Catalina Boulevard drainage improvements and hillside developments, stormwater management, lower parking lot improvements and demolition of upper rental properties for Sunset Cliffs Natural Park.

The PCPB voted 8-3-1 to forward the entire list of 11 infrastructure improvement projects to the city.

PCPB secretary Nicole Burgess said she abstained from voting on the CIP because she was "uncomfortable with some of the descriptions in the drainage issues and some technicalities."

In other notable items from the PCPB, John Ly from District 2 City Councilman Kevin Faulconer's office told the group interim mayor Todd Gloria has adopted a stance that any and all medical marijuana dispensaries are "not allowed by any land-use designation," and are therefore operating illegally and subject to law enforcement.

OB's only recycling center closes after 30 years

By BIANCA KOCH | THE BEACON

After 30 years, the only local recycling facility in Ocean Beach has shut down operations and vanished overnight.

The property behind Rite Aid where the facility once operated was deserted Sept. 25, leaving recycling customers to stand by quizzically.

Two signs stated the site had been cancelled by CalRecycle — the California Department of Resources Recycling and Recovery — and there was a CalRecycle contact reference attached to a container.

Three decades ago, Dan Regan, owner of R.B. Enterprises, started OB's only recycling facility at the corner of Voltaire Street and Sunset Cliffs Boulevard before relocating the business to the Rite Aid location in 1998.

Regan also owns another recycling center in Kearny Mesa on Ashford Street.

Having to support a family and house payments with the income from his business, Regan personally oversees operations at both his facilities.

Despite the contention that CalRecycle cancelled Regan's recycling center, CalRecycle officials disagreed.

"CalRecycle did not cancel or close Mr. Regan's facility," said Mark Oldfield, communications director for CalRecycle. "He is in compliance with all program regulations. CalRecycle has absolutely no reason to shut him down. Closing the Ocean Beach facility was solely the owner's decision, based on whether he is able to continue the business and make a profit. Unfortunately, CalRecycle can no longer award the monthly handling-fee payment. It is no longer our responsibility."

That may be of little consolation to Regan, whose world is now upside-down.

"Besides having to lay off one of my long-time employees, my income has been cut in half for the past three months," Regan said.

In conjunction with less income, he has also not been receiving his monthly handling-fee payments from CalRecycle.

"Their [CalRecycle] reasoning is based on a sudden change of CRV zoning that used to make my facility eligible for the handling-fee payments from the state. Without that help, I won't be able to keep the OB place running."

He said that the lack of funds forced him into making the decision to close the Ocean Beach facility to avoid further financial losses.

Regan also fears his family will soon end up homeless.

"Beginning today, I have 90 days to somehow fix this dilemma before my house goes into foreclosure," he said.

Regan insists that he never received notification from CalRecycle about the recent CRV zone change, which was a result of the closure of the former Apple-tree Market, exempting his facility from receiving further state funds.

According to Oldfield, however, once the Appletree Market closed, this eliminated the convenience-zone Regan's facility operated in. Oldfield said Regan knew that his business was no longer eligible for state assistance.

"Nonetheless, we have been working with the owner to find ways for him to stay viable at the current location," said Oldman. "We would like to see Regan to continue his Ocean Beach location. We will assist in finding other ways or locations for him to set up and be successful."

California recycling centers are not owned or operated by the state. However, according to CalRecycle's website, www.calrecycle.ca.gov, profit recycling centers — which are certified convenience-zone recycling centers — are eligible to receive the state's help in the form of a monthly handling-fee payment, provided they meet CalRecycle's criteria.

Regan wonders why Rite Aid and Peoples Market in Ocean Beach are not considered by CalRecycle to meet these CRV criteria, since they are a supermarket and/or a full-line service store.

Regan said he would much rather keep his business in Ocean Beach where his services are well known and respected.

He said he takes pride in the fact that most Obecians, as well as local schools and churches, have been recycling at his Ocean Beach facility for the last 30 years.

Regan hopes CalRecycle will decide to help him rekindle his business in Ocean Beach.

"Hopefully, they [CalRecycle] will somehow consider a reasonable compromise. I would hate to see OB folks travel almost five miles out of town to the next recycle center," Regan said.

Consumers who have concerns regarding the closure of a recycling center can call (800) 732-9253, or email calrecycle@calrecycle.ca.gov.

Regan's customer hotline can be reached at (858) 430-6076.

OBTC to fete outstanding volunteers at gala

The Ocean Beach Town Council will host its annual awards dinner on Tuesday, Oct. 15 to honor outstanding volunteers and recognize the 2013 Citizen of the Year.

The event will include a no-host cocktail hour at Shades Oceanfront Bistro, followed by dinner and awards. Cocktails begin at 5:30 p.m., followed by dinner at 6:30 p.m.

The gala will also include the administration of the oath of office for the Town Council's Board of Directors for 2013-14.

Reservations are $30 in advance or $35 at the door. Shades is located at 5083 Santa Monica Ave.

For more information, call (703) 627-

OBMA to salute standouts during awards dinner

The Ocean Beach MainStreet Association will celebrate its 35th anniversary awards dinner by honoring local merchants and volunteers in the community who make a difference.

The awards dinner runs from 6 to 8 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 24 at the Point Loma Masonic Center, 1711 Sunset Cliffs Blvd. Food will be provided by local eateries, along with beer and wine.

For more information, visit www.OceanBeachSanDiego.com.

Women Voters to host forum on FDA, drugs

The League of Women Voters will host a discussion titled "The FDA: How Safe

Are Your Drugs and Medical Devices?" during the group's October meeting.

The forum will include a short video on how the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approves new drugs and a presentation on the workings of the FDA.

Among the topics:

- What is a generic drug and a "me too" drug?
- What is off-label use of drugs?
- Does the FDA monitor manufacturers worldwide?
- Why do we have drug shortages?
- Should taxpayers fund 100 percent of the drug-approval process?
- Should the FDA permit more prescription drugs be converted to over-the-counter drugs as is done in other countries?

The discussion will be held at the Point Loma/Hervey Branch Library, 3701 Voltaire St. from 1 to 3 p.m.

Drysuits: outerwear for inner-space astronauts

Trekking through outer space may not be an option for most, but inner-space travel is doable for those with a diver certification card and access to a body of water. For either realm, dressing for success is not so different in that NASA's space suits have informed scuba divers' drysuits.

Although modern versions of the drysuit have been around since the late 1980s, they remain a novel sighting for many beachgoers.

Drysuit fabric keeps water out so that I stay dry except for my head and hands, which I encase in good old neoprene (wetsuit material). By keeping most of my body dry, I can conserve heat without wasting energy warming the layer of water between my skin and the neoprene (the blubber-layer concept behind a wetsuit.) Because a drysuit shell provides no warmth, I don layers of polar fleece underneath.

A drysuit's valves allow for air to enter and exit the suit while keeping water out. To inflate my suit for buoyancy and comfort, I press on the inlet valve located on the drysuit's upper chest area. A hose provides the conduit from the valve to the very same air tank from which I also breathe. To release, I press the exhaust valve on the upper arm. Below the surface, I still need to regulate air in and out. For instance, as I sink, I get heavier and heavier due to increasing outside pressure that goes hand in hand with increasing depth. This results in my being squeezed like those food storage devices that suck out the air in a bag (drysuit) of leftovers (diver) and 2) controlling my descent (a braking system).

To learn more about drysuit mechanics (seals and zipper), actual diving in a drysuit, and a drysuit's connection to NASA's space suits, read my full article at www.TideLines.org.

— Judith Lea Garfield, naturalist and underwater photographer, has authored two natural history field guides about the underwater park off La Jolla Cove and La Jolla Shores. www.TideLines.org ; Judith@TideLines.org. Stay updated. Read this and other stories at sdnews.com

Drysuits collectively sport an exhaust valve located on the upper arm to release air, an inlet valve on the chest (a separate hose attachment connects the valve to the scuba tank) to input air, latex neck and wrist seals, and a cross-body zipper for entry and exit. Drysuits include the feet parts, which divers often protect by wearing soft-soled lightweight boots or sometimes high-top sneakers.

as having all the accessories needed to "get them back in the water quicker."

SurfivalKit has 12 accessories divided into three component parts that, Graves said, "at some point or another, every surfer needs."

The kit's surfer-care component contains lip balm, sunscreen, Mack's ear plugs and Surfival stickers. The board-care compartment has surf wax, a wax comb, a Solarez ding kit and waterproof ding stickers. The performance compartment includes a skeg key, a leash string, a longboard fin plate and screw, and shortboard fin screws.

"It has everything you need outside of your surfboard," said Graves. "Your stoke can get you in the water, keep you in the water and help get you back in the water."

Best of all, said Graves, his tackle-box-like SurfivalKit is entirely customizable and transportable.

"You can add your own items and, instead of rummaging, you know exactly where every item is," he said. "The kit almost fits in a glove box. It's made to be with you whenever you're out surfing."

Graves started his company, Surfival Gear, with the support of his wife, Stef, and daughter Ashlyn.

After seven years of kicking around the idea, he and his family finally have the finished product selling for $29.95, marketed online at www.SurfivalKit.com.

Graves described his new entrepreneurial endeavor as a "dream come true" and "a fun side venture in a sport I love."

But Graves' new surf venture is more than just a business to him.

"I've found that surfing is very much a lifestyle," he said. "If you're not surfing, you're thinking about surfing. It really occupies your mind."

Toward that end, Graves said part of his intent in creating a surf business was to "build a community and movement of those who have learned the important elements of having a fun session whether you are new, a pro, a grom, an old-timer or a guy or girl."

The "rules of surfival" posted on Graves' website include: "stoke is contagious; work is a break from surf; give more waves than you take; surf with a buddy; never exaggerate the wave size; don't mess with another surfer's line; always carry some water to rinse; remember every surfer was once a beginner; leave any feeling about having a bad day on the beach; surfing is a lifestyle; always let friends tell their surf stories no matter how many times you've heard them and, most importantly, it's always better than it looks."

Part of mastering the art of surfing is mastering the art of survival, which is something Graves is hoping to share with fellow surfers with his SurfivalKit.

Others at the Town Hall meeting, which attracted more than 60 participants, said the tradition should be continued by creating formal boundaries, time restrictions and similar measures. But Town Councilmembers are unconvinced those alternatives are realistic, Martin said.

"We had four or five really good ideas. But until we can slow it down, we can't implement them," Martin said.

Martin said he didn't rule out trying to revive the tradition in a few years, but, "We've got to slow it down before we can do anything. It's total chaos," he said.

The Town Council's resolution calls for a public-relations campaign to notify the public of the event's cancelation and enforce littering and vandalism laws. Police Lt. Natalie Stone said law enforcement would do its best to accommodate the desires of the community.

"We support what the Board wants to happen," Stone said. "We'll do the best we can."

The resolution also calls for businesses to stop selling marshmallow launchers and promotional T-shirts. Vendors who have sold marshmallow paraphernalia at the annual Ocean Beach Chili Cook-off and Street Fair Festival won't be permitted to set up shop next time around, Martin said.

At least one citizen who previously supported continuing the tradition has since had a change of heart. Local jeweler Gary Gilmore had presented a plan he called "Keep it on the Sand" at the Town Hall meeting to encourage voluntary restraint.

The plan called for an aggressive campaign to stay out of the streets and sidewalks and promote a family-friendly fight using traditional and social media and loudspeaker reminders.

"I was hoping, perhaps naively, that we could keep both the fireworks and the marshmallow fight. In retrospect, I now think that the Town Council's decision was correct," Gilmore said in an email. "To have a year or two where the marshmallow fight is banned may well cool the event down to its proper niche."

But Frank Gormlie, editor of obrag.org, questioned the Town Council's authority to cancel the event.

"The marshmallow wars are a community tradition and a community problem, and the community has to deal with it. We cannot simply declare it 'illegal' and force the issue into being a 'police problem,'" Gormlie said in a Sept. 26 obrag.org posting.

Though the resolution was presented Sept. 25, the actual vote was taken Sept. 11 at the Town Council's monthly closed-door meeting. Results of that vote were not disclosed.

Other Town Council news

• Lt. Brian Goldberg, supervisor of investigations at the police department's Western Division, has been named interim captain, Stone said. Western's previous captain, Andy Mills, has left to become police chief in Eureka.

• Citizens concerned when they saw a SWAT armored vehicle known as a BearCat last month parked on Sunset Cliffs Boulevard can breathe a sigh of relief. It was there for a photo shoot for recruiting publications, not a police action, Stone said.

• State Sen. Marty Block has named Martin "Veteran of the Year" in the 39th District for work in the community, said Block aide Roberto Alcantar. Martin, a former Marine, will be honored at an awards dinner in November.

• Congressman Scott Peters "tried not to like" Nathan Fletcher when he met the mayoral candidate but has since wound up endorsing him in next month's special election to replace Bob Filner. Peters, a Democratic freshman who represents the 52nd District, stopped by hours before taking a red-eye flight to Washington as Congress was debating the passage of a continuing resolution to fund the federal government.

• Designs are under way by the Ocean Beach Community Development Corporation for an exercise area at Saratoga Park that is intended for firefighters at Station 15 but would be available to anyone, Martin said. The OBTC has pledged $1,000 for the effort, he added.

• It's still legal to park oversize recreational vehicles, trailers and boats on city streets overnight, even though the City Council banned the practice last July. The ordinance can't go into effect until it is approved by the California Coastal Commission. That won't happen this year, said John Ly, aide to District 2 City Councilmember Kevin Faulconer

• Sarah Boot, a candidate in next year's election to represent District 2 on the San Diego City Council, introduced herself to the board. Boot is a Democrat and federal prosecuting attorney who lives in the Midway area.

• Even though annual elections were held just last month, openings have already cropped up on the OBTC's Board of Directors. Candidates have until Oct. 9 to apply. More information is available at obtowncouncil.org.

loughs and inability of employees to access their government emails during the shutdown, said one official.

All park programs and special events have been canceled, including those for nearly 400 local school children who had planned field trips to the park in the next two weeks. The park's three-day Centennial Celebration Weekend is also now in jeopardy.

For the last year, the Cabrillo National Monument has been celebrating 100 years as San Diego's only national park.

The park has hosted several festivals to educate the community on the historical and scientific significance of the Cabrillo National Monument, and park officials had planned a weekend extravaganza Oct. 12-14.

Several events had been planned for the centennial weekend, including history tours of the lighthouse and World War II bunkers, an antique car show, a Cabrillo Cake-Off contest, and many other activities.

Cabrillo National Monument hosts thousands of visitors on an average day and more than 800,000 visitors per year. Nationally, more than 715,000 visitors a day frequent the National Park System. Cabrillo National Monument will lose an estimated $2,100 of entrance fees each day of the shutdown. Nationwide, the NPS stands to lose about $450,000 per day in revenue from fees collected at entry stations and fees paid for in-park activities like cave tours, boat rides and camping. Gateway communities across the country see about $76 million per day in total sales from visitor spending that is lost during a government shutdown.

Pointers unleash second-half offensive barrage to crush Santana in 35-3 win

By SCOTT HOPKINS | THE BEACON

For the second straight week, Point Loma's defense struck quickly to start the scoring in a Pointer victory, but this time it took the offense more than half the game to find the end zone.

Defensive end Jake Wambaugh's hit caused a fumble by a Santana High ball carrier just minutes into the Sept. 28 non-league home game. Teammate Sean Gardocki was able to scoop up the loose pigskin and return it 15 yards for the first six points in a 35-3 Pointer victory.

Wambaugh, a 6-foot-4-inch, 245-pound senior earned All-Western League first team honors last season as a tight end in addition to his defensive duties.

The win, the third straight for the Dogs, left them with a 3-2 record as they prepare for their first league game Oct. 10.

The 7-0 score held until halftime after two Pointer touchdowns by the offense were called back because of holding and personal foul penalties behind the play and a fumble on the snap was lost at the Sultans' one-yard line.

"Some kids got frustrated, and they've just got to control themselves," said Pointer head coach Mike Hastings. "We had some inopportune penalties today and we were kind of sputtering. I thought our defense held up very nicely. Coach Dave Aros and his defensive staff again did some great preparation."

The Pointers then awakened to post a 21-point third period to gain control of their Grossmont-Valley League opponents, who have only averaged 5.4 points per game in falling to an 0-5 record.

Pointer special teams opened the period with sophomore Jalen Griffin continuing his breakout season as he returned the second-half kickoff 99 yards to boost the lead to 14-0 before many in the crowd had settled back into their Pete Ross Stadium seats.

Another special-team play set up the Pointers' first offensive touchdown of the game when defender Frankie Lopez broke through protection to block a punt on Santana's first second-half possession.

Starting this drive from the Sultans' 15-yard line, Gavin Grady lofted a 12-yard scoring pass to Wambaugh in the left corner of the end zone with 9:26 remaining in the period.

Just three minutes later, Griffin added his second touchdown of the quarter with a short run that capped the Dogs' next possession.

In just six minutes of play, the Pointers turned a shaky 7-0 lead into a commanding 28-0 lead.

A 72-yard punt return by returning All-Western League second-teamer Dirk Lacy set up the final Pointer score in the fourth quarter.

Lacy, who is returning to full strength after missing the first three games this season with ankle injuries, showed fans what he can contribute as he darted away from tacklers and used his speed to outrun others on the return before finally being hauled down at the Sultans' 10-yard line.

Rookie PLNU midfielder is Soccer Freshman of Week for second time

PLNU ATHLETICS COMMUNICATIONS DEPT.

Tagaloa named PacWest Freshman of the Week — twice

For the second straight week, Point Loma Nazarene University rookie midfielder Nico Tagaloa (Orange, Foothill) has been selected the Pacific West Conference Men's Soccer Freshman of the Week (Sept. 16-22).

Tagaloa was credited with the game-winning goal in a 3-0 victory at Dominican on Sept. 19. He reeled off a long-range shot to the lower side of the far corner at 3:01 to give the Sea Lions an early 1-0 lead. PLNU scored goals in the 14th and 65th minutes to secure the key early-season road win in the Bay Area. Later, he helped lock down the midfield as the Sea Lions earned a 0-0 tie at Notre Dame de Namur.

The conference announced the honor Sept. 16-22. The Freshman of the Week honor is awarded each week to a freshman or red-shirt freshman for his overall outstanding play.

PLNU hosts its first-ever collegiate tournament at Torrey Pines Point Loma hosted its first-ever collegiate tournament at the Torrey Pines Golf Course on Sept. 23-24. The Sea Lions and six other teams played the north course over the two-day PLNU Fall Preview Classic. Kathleen Crossley tied for sixth at the tournament with an 8-over, 156 to help lead the Point Loma women's golf team to a fourth place finish.

the 36-hole tournament. After posting a 76 (+2) on the first day, Crossley fired an 80 (+6) in the final round to claim a tie for sixth place. Andrea Mersino gave PLNU a second top-20 finisher as she registered a score of 161 (+13) to tie for 16th place. She shot a 79 (+5) in the first round and an 82 (+8) to close out the tournament.

As a team, the Sea Lions backed up their 315 (+19) from the opening round with a 321 (+25) in the second round. Their combined score of 636 (+44) left them just two strokes back of third-place Sonoma State.

Cal Baptist seized control in the tight team competition by shooting a 1-over, 297 on Sept. 24. This shaved 16 strokes off their first-round performance and gave them the team championship by 11 strokes over Dallas Baptist. The Lancers' Marvi Monsalve also claimed the individual title with a 1-under, 147.

Swendener named PacWest Runner of the Week

Point Loma sophomore Briana Swendener (Brea) has been selected the Pacific West Conference Women's Cross Country Runner of the Week for the week of Sept. 16-22.

Should You Hire A New Doctor?

With so much emphasis lately on the U.S. healthcare system, good communication between patient and doctor is being increasingly emphasized. New apps and technology is a sign that healthcare providers are quite focused on better engagement with their patients. Doctor's are even taking communication training in order to improve how they engage their patients. So what do you do if you feel the relationship with your doctor just isn't working?

Changing your doctor can be time-consuming and difficult. Before leaving your present doctor, try to resolve the issues you may be having. The following is a guide on when you should consider leaving your present physician.

✓ You leave his office without answers to your questions. If you leave confused or unsure on what you should be doing next, the doctor is not communicating which is his responsibility.

✓ Your doctor ignores your ideas and questions. Physicians should be interested in what you are concerned about regarding your health.

✓ Your doctor misdiagnosed you. Doctors can make mistakes and that isn't necessarily a reason to find a new doctor unless his disinterest in you causes a life-threatening or catastrophic problem.

✓ Your doctor is offended with your request for a second opinion. A doctor should be happy that you are taking an interest in your healthcare and should even suggest other physicians.

✓ Your physician is not board certified. Board certification shows the doctor is interested in continuing to be assessed and educated in his specialty.

The RN Geriatric Care Managers from Innovative Healthcare Consultants are available to help patients by discussing their concerns. They will advocate for the patient with the physician and help the patient understand their rights. View our website at www.innovativehc.com or call us at (877) 731-1442.

O.B. People's Food Market-Healthy Halloween Carnival

This month Ocean Beach People's Organic Food Market celebrates with our annual Healthy Halloween Carnival on Thursday, October 31. Enjoy organic pumpkin bread and apple cider all day, free healthy treat bags for kids, a clown, magician and more! Nowadays, there is a different kind of market where people become something more than buyers or sellers, and that place is called a cooperative.

Co-op member shoppers not only buy goods and services from the cooperative, but they also own the business. They use their combined power to invest their capital, operate their own business, provide themselves and others with goods and services, and share their benefits. Ocean Beach People's Organic Food Market is a California Cooperative. But why buy your groceries at the Co-op? When you make purchases at the Co-op, your community benefits from its own economic activity. How? Your money stays in the local economy. Prices are fair, and local, organic farming is supported. Education and outreach projects promote a vision of sustainability within the community. This direction is widely different than the single end point of profit at any grocery store that is not cooperatively owned.

Come take part in the cooperative experience at Ocean Beach People's Organic Food Market, located at 4765 Voltaire Street (619) 224-1387, where "Everyone can shop and Anyone can join." Check us out on the web at www.obpeoplesfood.coop

Two plays later, Lacy lowered his head and powered between two defenders for his second touchdown of the season.

The resulting 35-0 Pointer lead, with almost nine minutes remaining in the game, signaled game officials to use a running clock for the remainder of the contest.

The Sultans avoided the shutout when, with two seconds remaining in the game, they used the stadium's prevailing westerly winds to help lift a 31-yard field goal as time expired.

"In the end, 35-3 is a great win and we'll take it," said Hastings. "Monday, we'll come back and get better."

Next up for the Dogs will be what promises to be a stiff test at Scripps Ranch on Oct. 4. Kickoff is 6:30 p.m.

After a couple down years, the Falcons have surged to a 3-1 record with victories over San Marcos, Morse and Bonita Vista. They will face the Pointers after a bye week of preparation.

Last year, the Pointers defeated the Falcons 24-3 at Pete Ross Stadium, as Scripps Ranch stumbled to a 2-8 record.

EXTRA POINTS

- Starting linebacker Tanner Manion returned to action against the Sultans but starting defenders A. J. Smith and Jake Virissimo were withheld.

• Prior to the game, every Pointer varsity player escorted a member of the school's teaching staff across midfield as part of a Staff Appreciation Day event. Staff members were adorned in team jerseys bearing the same number as their escorting player.

• The junior varsity moved to 4-1 with its 35-13 victory while the freshman team dropped to 3-2 with a 19-8 loss — both against Santana.

• The Western League opener Oct. 11 against Kearny has been moved to Madison High School, kicking off at 6:30 p.m.

Diego State University on Sept. 21 in Balboa Park. She recorded a time of 20:29 on the 5K course to lead the Sea Lions to a fifth-place finish.

This was the second straight meet Swendener has paced the Sea Lions cross country team this season. She also led the team to a second-place finish at the UCSD Opener as she placed 14th with a time of 16:36.4.

Herrera earns PacWest

Defender of the Week Award

Sophomore goalie Lupe Herrera (La Quinta) has been selected the Pacific West Conference Women's Soccer Defender of the Week for the week of Sept. 16-22.

Herrera led the Sea Lions to a 1-0-1 week by stopping 17 of 19 shots on goal for an .895 save percentage and produced a 0.90 goals against average in 200:00 of action. Herrera halted 10-of-11 shots on goal in a 1-1 double-overtime draw at Dominican on Sept. 19. Two days later, she repelled 7-of-8 shots on net in a 2-1 victory at Notre Dame de Namur.

The Defender of the Week honor is awarded each week to a back or goalkeeper for outstanding defensive play.

a small local for-profit group known as the Hoy Hoy Boys.

Hoy Hoy Boys spokesman Michael Kinsman talked about the origin of the Ocean Beach Oktoberfest, which has become one of the community's signature events over the past nine years.

"We knew we couldn't replicate what they do in Munich," said Kinsman, noting the idea of bringing Oktoberfest in a small way back to OB emerged during a conversation he had with a friend on a train ride to Prague. "We talked about how we would do it (differently) and that we wanted to create something that was really fun, because OB is a really great place to party and have a good time."

Kinsman said the OB Oktoberfest was first held at Dusty Rhodes Park but, due largely to access problems, the event has since been moved to the grassy foot of Newport Avenue, where it's become anchored the past couple years.

Kinsman described the event as a "three-ring circus."

"There are just so many different events," he said. "There's something to keep everyone engaged."

The Oct. 11 schedule will feature the finals of the Beer Garden Band Slam, a competition to crown the best cover or tribute band at the beach with $3,000 in cash prizes (related story, page 9). There will also be a semi-final round of the Miss Oktoberfest contest.

Saturday's festivities begin with the second annual Brat-Trot Beach Run, an all-ages race fundraiser promoting local youth sports.

Brat-trot chairman Jim Musgrove, treasurer of the Ocean Beach Community Foundation (OBCF), a 12-year-old non-profit, said proceeds benefit numerous worthy causes supported by the foundation, including youth sports.

"We've supported the skate park at Robb Field with helmets and other safety gear," he said. "We've also done work with various boys' and girls' softball and soccer teams. We sponsored 15 boys and girls to go to YMCA youth sports camps this summer and last."

Musgrove said this year, the brat trot was expanded to include a family oriented 2K run and a 21-and-over 5K run along the beachfront. The 5K costs $30 to enter, offering participants free beer garden admission. The 2K costs $20 to enter per family team.

"We're gearing it toward young parents with children," Musgrove said, noting lots of runners come dressed in costume.

OB MainStreet Association executive director Denny Knox said the Oktoberfest event has improved over time as Ocean Beach has molded it its own.

"It's a more locally grown event now and we have a really good turnout and it's really fun," she said. "I think we're the only Oktoberfest celebration right on the ocean."

Knox said proceeds from a portion of Oktoberfest entrance fees are used sensibly by the OB MainStreet Association.

"Proceeds go into a beautification fund where we do repairs to public rights-of-

way," she said. "It's really a great event that raises a lot of money for a lot of different groups."

The Oct. 12 Oktoberfest schedule is packed tight with bratwurst-eating, stein-holding and other traditional Oktoberfest contests. Once again, participants will vie for a $10,000 cash prize in the infamous, one-of-a-kind sausage toss competition. The Miss Oktoberfest finals will take place this day.

Saturday's Oktoberfest will also include performances by traditional oompah bands all day, as well as many local musical acts.

Admission to the beer garden is $3, which goes to support the Ocean Beach community. The outdoor area is free. This year, the event shuttle will run between the 710 Beach Club in Pacific Beach, as well as The Local in Downtown and True North in North Park, delivering people to the festival throughout the day Oct. 12. The last shuttle leaves Ocean Beach at 10 p.m. There will also be a shuttle on Oct. 11 from 4 to 10 p.m. running between 710 Beach Club and the festival.

"It's a good day at the beach," said Kinsman. "It has evolved every year."

This year, Kinsman said, a social media interactive online component has been added, called "Find the Schnitzengruben." The OB Oktoberfest Facebook page has been sending out tasks. Those completing the tasks and emailing proof of them in will be entered into a drawing for cool prizes, including a trip for two to Oktoberfest in Germany next year.

During the last decade, the Ocean Beach Oktoberfest — a joint venture between the Hoy Hoy Boys, Ocean Beach MainStreet Association and the Ocean Beach Community Foundation — has raised more than $150,000 for local non-profit organizations.

By BART MENDOZA | THE BEACON

With its mix of surf, sun and fun, there are few places on the planet as enjoyable as Ocean Beach. Throw some music into the equation and you have the perfect excuse and location for a party. Such is the case with the ninth annual Ocean Beach Oktoberfest that will take place Oct. 11-12.

On Friday, Oct. 11, festivalgoers will enjoy a single stage at the foot of Newport Avenue beginning at 4 p.m., where there will also be a beer garden. The night's entertainment will be a Band Slam competition to pick the best cover or tribute band in the area, resulting in $3,000 in prizes. Artists were chosen through several rounds of "battle of the band" contests at Winston's Beach Club. On hand will be performers like the Elvis Costello tribute group The Distractions, Top 40 band The Big Lewinsky and — just in time for Halloween — Rob Zombie impersonators American Zombie.

On Oct. 12, there will be a full-day event beginning at 10 a.m., featuring two stages. The Main Stage will be hosted by inimitable local personality and crooner Jose Sinatra, and include sets from the Stranger, Hi Roots, Mike Pinto, Sandollar, Jet West, Atlantic Rising and The Routine, along with authentic oompah music between sets, courtesy of The Bavarian Beer Garden Band and The Rey Vinole Oktoberfest Band.

Beer garden admission is limited to those 21 and up. Admission is $3. Funds raised go to help fund the Ocean Beach MainStreet Association and the Ocean Beach Community Foundation.

But Oktoberfest is not just for the grownups. All ages are encouraged to turn out at no cost to soak up a host of oompah bands and entertainers performing on a second Seaside Stage on Abbott Street, featuring Lobster Bob.

Ted Wigler, talent booker at local venues Winston's and the 710 Beach Club, has been involved with the event's music component since it's inception nine years ago.

"At this point, we look for artists that have some sort of local following and, hopefully, a San Diego following," he said.

Wigler said the decision to expand music to two nights has added a distinctive element to the festival.

"To make it a two-day event, we wanted to do something totally different and off the hook, as well," Wigler explained.

"We wanted to stay away from cover bands on the main day but realized there's a huge market for cover bands in the San Diego music scene."

Ariel Levine of the Elvis Costello tribute band The Distractions is an Ocean Beach resident and considers that to be a bonus when playing the event.

"Absolutely. It's nice to show my neighbors what I can do and it's flattering to be recognized around town," he said. "I've only played within OB limits a few times and I always look forward to another opportunity. I think this show, whether we win or lose, will be a real accomplishment as an Obecian."

He said he loves the outdoor nature of the event.

"I love the festival feeling," Levine said. "I don't often get to play outside. Every time I do, it's a blast. Also, I get to come down off the stage and join the festivities, as opposed to hiding backstage at a venue." He admits, though, that outdoor gigs offer challenges.

"It's a bit harder to hear clearly as the sound just escapes immediately. Also, wind can be a pain. But it's a lot more fun," he said.

Fellow Ocean Beach resident Chris Warner, guitarist for Jet West, agrees.

"There are, for sure, differences between outdoor and indoor gigs," he said. "Indoor gigs are great because all that energy from the crowd is harnessed within closed doors. But outdoor shows allow you to connect with your surroundings a lot more and enjoy Mother Nature to her fullest."

The band has opened the event once before.

"We are very thankful to be able to participate in the events like this one," said Warner. "Being a part of your greater community is what it is all about, and this festival is a great experience."

A message from the OB MainStreet Association

Welcome to Ocean Beach — a great place to spend an entire day. Whether you are in need of antiques, a surfboard, or a great meal — Ocean Beach has something for everyone. All of the colorful neighborhood shops and restaurants will be open during their regular business hours throughout OB Oktoberfest, so be sure to stop in and see what's new. Be sure to enjoy the FREE, all ages beachfront vendors and mini-stage along the lawn at Veterans Plaza. Visit our website for more information on all of our special events: www.OceanBeachSanDiego.com or follow us on Facebook and Twitter.

Out of the bun: How the Sausage Toss came to be

The annual Sausage Toss is one of the highlights of the Ocean Beach Oktoberfest.

But how in the world did it come into being?

The Hoy Hoy Boys were looking for something interactive for their event when someone suggested a Sausage Toss. The idea was nothing more than having participants throw a sausage to win a prize.

Nobody knew exactly what to do. So two guys went to Crown Point one afternoon with several raw sausages and tossed them toward a bucket. It was messy and as unsanitary as it was unsavory.

Next came the search for rubber sausages or anything like them. One search led to an X-rated bookstore and another to pet store. Finally, a rubber hot dog made for puppies was adopted.

The first Sausage Toss was a resounding success. Long lines of people queued up to throw the sausage toward a bucket 50 feet away. It was novel, simple and it looked so easy.

Several hundred people tried their hand before Trevor Koenig, then goaltender for the San Diego Gulls hockey club, launched the perfect throw, winning the $10,000 first prize.

"It was pure luck," Koenig confided. "I could have thrown that sausage another thousand times and not made another."

Come One, Come All!

This year's OB Brat Trot Beach Runs promise to be the best yet! Especially since now there are two events to participate in - a 2K Family Fun Run and the 5K Beach Run!

All ages are welcome. The 5K OB Brat Trot Beach Run course starts and ends near the entrance of the OB Oktoberfest Beer Garden and runs along the beach from the OB Pier to the river channel and back. This year we are also sponsoring a 2K Family Fun Run that will also be run on the beach and promises to be a fun family event.

Runner Bonus: Personal Trainer Natalie Gibbins from The Private Gym will be conducting a pre-run warm-up for participants in both runs.

The Peninsula Family YMCA is also offering it's members a "Couch to 5K" program to help prepare for the OB Brat Trot runs!

This annual event is sponsored by the Ocean Beach Community Foundation, a 501c3 non-profit organization. All OB Brat Trot Beach Run Proceeds to Benefit Local Youth Sports.

Details:

2K FAMILY FUN RUN: Check in starts at 8 am. Race starts at 9 am. All ages are welcome - cost is per family.

The OB Brat Trot Family Fun Run will start and finish near the entrance of the OB Oktoberfest Beer Garden entrance. The run will be on the beach. There's a trophy for 1st place family.

5K BEACH RUN: Check in begins at 9 am. Race starts at 10 am. All ages are welcome.

Entry fee includes 2 tickets for 2 free beers*, entry into raffle drawing and OB Oktoberfest entry*. * 21 years & older with valid ID

The 5K OB Brat Trot Beach Run will start and finish near the entrance of the OB Oktoberfest Beer Garden entrance. The run is on the beach and will go approximately from the OB Pier to the river channel and back. There's a trophy for 1st place runner. Costumes are optional.

BONUS: Racers - bring a friend before 11 am and your friend gets free admission into the OB Oktoberfest Beer Garden!

WWW.CUTTINGEDGEK9.COM CUTTING EDGE K9 REHAB Has Been Featured On Local & National News, Radio, A Number Of Local Papers & Magazine Articles. Swimming is one of our strongest recommendations for most K9's. It is an ideal form of exercise for a many reasons. Our rehab services offer assisted swimming in a warm water environment. The benefits are: • Non-weight-bearing (reducing stress on joints) • Facilitates full use of the front and hind legs vs. partial use as seen with underwater treadmills • Dogs are often able to actively swim although unable to move their legs on land (due to stroke/ spinal injury) • Allows manual techniques by therapist/ manual resistance to an affected limb • Swimming in a controlled environment is the safest way for clients to exercise. • Speeds recovery following injury/ surgery • Improves function & quality of life • Works reciprocal muscle groups (helps correct muscle imbalances) • Reduces pain & inflammation • Reduces canine obesity thus decreasing the risk of other health-related problems • Increases strength, range of motion & cardiovascular conditioning • Prevents overheating through proper water temperature • Increases tolerance for extended cardiovascular training • Decreases recovery time • Reduces post-exercise soreness • Provides good cross training for the competitive, athletic dog (619) 227-7802

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: THOMAS LAWRENCE RICKERT CASE NUMBER: 37-2013-0006506-PR-PL-CTL. To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of THOMAS

LAWRENCE RICKERT A Petition for Probate has been filed by ROBERT RICKERT in the Superior Court of California, County of SAN DIEGO. The Petition for Probate requests that ROBERT RICKERT be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. The petition requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court. The petition requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A hearing on the petition will be held in this court as follows: Date: OCT 08, 2013 Time: 11:00 A.M. Dept: PC-1 Address of court: SUPERIOR COURT OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF SAN DIEGO MADGE BRADLEY BUILDING 1409 Fourth Ave. San Diego, CA. 92101 Central Probate. If you object to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. If you are a creditor or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above. You may examine the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk. Petitioner: Robert Rickert 2144 Cordero Road Del Mar, California 92014 ISSUE DATE(S): SEPT 19, 26 AND OCT 03, 2013

NOBLE HOUSE

Ahhhhh, relaxing with the Beacon. Steve and Susi Aldridge, formerly of Ocean Beach, recently entertained Brent and Sandra Young (of OB), along with Sam and Judy Wurtzbacher (formerly of Ocean Beach) at their Black Dog Lodge on Lake Inez, Montana. Susi is head chef and a water ski instructor while Steve is maintenance supervisor and activities director at the lodge. This was also the first trip of many for recently retired Judy and Sam, who spent a combined 70 years working for the local YMCA.

Jef Fitzgerald, Carol Fitzgerald and Michelle Dose take the Beacon along during a visit to Spouting Horn in Kauai, Hawaii. Carol is a spry 93 years of age.

Matias Rico of Ocean Beach flew to Nairobi, Kenya to visit his daughter and family. While there, he took a safari side trip to see the crossing of the wildebeest on the Mara River. Here he shows off his Beacon as the wildebeest frantically jump across the river.

Kim Gutierrez and Jorge Pires of Ocean Beach take their Beacon inside the Coliseum in Rome, Italy. Rome was the first stop of their Italian vacation before visiting Florence, Pisa and Venice.

Catie Hanna celebrated her wedding to Chris Blentzas in September at the National Tropical Botanical Garden in Kauai, Hawaii, along with longtime Point Loma residents Rob and Leslie Hanna, Jeff and Radmila Fulton, Matt and Lori Roth, and Don and Debbie Clauson. The Beacon didn't have a role in writing the couple's vows.

From left, Tate McKay, Christina Gilmore, Kerry McKay and Sam McKay take their favorite hometown newspaper along on a trip to Spain and France. The family, which has lived in Ocean Beach for 17 years, followed the Tour de France in Provence and the Alps. They are shown here in front of the Barcelona Cathedral.

Jim, Roxanne, Holden and Emerson Prine of Loma Portal spent time this summer visiting the New England states, stopping here at Pemaquid Point Lighthouse in Bristol, Maine for a photo with the Beacon.

Mike Conner and Judy Thompson enjoy the sun and their Beacon at Tunnels Beach on Kauai, Hawaii. The couple went to Kauai to celebrate their 10th anniversary and to renew their vows on Poipu Beach.

Ever-popular Phil's BBQ continues to sizzle and grow

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

Phil Pace isn't Col. Sanders. Nor does he want to be.

There is no beard, no bow tie and no plans to franchise Phil's BBQ, which Pace created 16 years ago as "a small place serving a little bit of barbecue and having fun doing it."

"Look at what I am today. Something went wrong," joked the 52-year-old Pace.

An Ohio transplant, Pace's "barbecue-edom" now includes 400 employees at three full-fledged restaurant sites on Sports Arena Boulevard in the Midway District, in Santee and San Marcos. He recently opened a smaller outlet with a more limited menu in San Diego Lindbergh Field's new airport terminal.

Phil's BBQ moved from cramped quarters in Mission Hills a few years ago to its headquarters site at 3750 Sports Arena Blvd., close to everything: the airport, freeways, motels and hotels, the beaches, SeaWorld and Petco Park and downtown San Diego.

The son of an Italian restaurateur, Pace continues to follow his father's advice, which was, "The only person you need to compete with is yourself," and "Just try and wake up every day and not make the same mistakes you made yesterday."

And one other pearl of wisdom imparted from father to son, "Do what you do best."

That's why Phil's will always be Phil's: Pace knows — and respects — his limitations.

Pace ticked off the qualities — consistency, service, cleanliness, quality — that make his or any other restaurant a cut above the rest.

"The idea is to keep the consistency going," said Pace, noting you can't do that if you grow your business too fast.

Reasonable prices are part of the successful mix, too.

"People work hard today for their money," said Pace. "They can come here and have a great meal. Not too often do people ask for seconds."

"I really enjoy what I do," he said, acknowledging that meeting and relating to customers is what he enjoys most, and that staying in business in the face of continually rising costs is always a huge challenge.

And barbecue lovers countywide have responded to Phil's philosophy of giving customers what they want and keeping it simple. They've turned out in droves daily to satisfy their craving for mesquite-grilled baby back and beef ribs, chicken and sandwiches.

Pace has also become involved in philanthropic causes. Phil's BBQ has a tailgate fundraiser every summer at Petco Park, where all proceeds are donated to Big Brothers and Big Sisters of San Diego County, which pairs children facing adversity with professionally supported, one-to-one mentoring relationships with adults to improve their lives.

Like his restaurant, the charity tailgate event has taken on a life of its own, raising $72,000 this year by serving more than 3,000 guests. The annual $25 ticket fee includes the Phil's tailgate experience and a Padres game ticket, with all ticket sales benefiting charity.

A dog lover, Pace also supports the San Diego Humane Society and Labrador Rescuers organizations.

Phil's BBQ is also big into catering, owning 16 trucks. At Phil's, catering is made to order.

A customer can come and pick it up, have it delivered, have it cooked right there at the venue and served by restaurant staff if they wish.

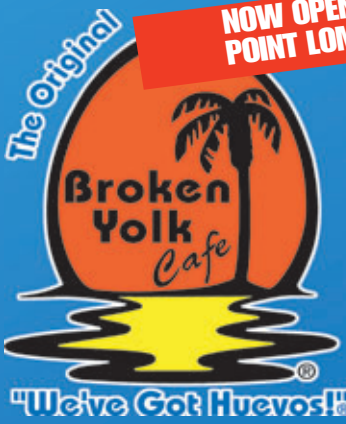

Sixteen years into barbecuing in San Diego, things continue to look good for Pace and Phil's BBQ. Asked what it is about barbecue that keeps customers licking their fingers and coming back for more, Pace replied, "It's down-home. American."

Noting barbecue is "spelled many different ways," and "cooked many different ways," Pace said, "We just try to serve something that's good. We'll be in business as long as the customer still wants to eat."

For more information on Phil's BBQ, call (619) 226-6333, or visit www.phillsbbq.net.

ENJOY THE BEAUTY OF OLD TOWN

OLD TOWN HOSTS HALLOWEEN-THEMED ACTIVITIES IN OCTOBER

Ghosts and ghouls will be out in full force this October in the most haunted area of San Diego: Old Town. Several events have been planned to celebrate this most spooky holiday.

The following events and activities are sponsored by Fiesta de Reyes, Michael Brown's Ghost Tours, Old Town San Diego State Historic Park, Save Our Heritage Organisation and Write Out Loud.

MICHAEL BROWN'S GHOST TOURS

DATES: Various dates in October

Michael Brown leads San Diego's spookiest ghost tours. During his 90-minute walking tours, guests will get to visit various paranormally active places in Old Town such as the Whaley House, a park that used to be cemetery and a haunted brothel located on the Whaley House property. He shares tips, tricks and techniques to find ghosts and other paranormal happenings in Old Town. Each tour includes photos, voices of the dead and a video vortex. His tours are every Thursday through Sunday in October. Walking tours begin at 9 p.m. in front of the Fiesta de Reyes fountain and no reservations are necessary. Adult tickets are $19 and children 6-12 are $10. Kids 5 and under are free. For more information, visit www.oldtownsmosthaunted.com.

OLD TOWN'S FALL FESTIVAL

DATE: Saturday, Oct. 26

Fall crafts and children's activities at la San Diego in the 1870s will be held from noon to 4 p.m. in the central plaza at Old Town San Diego State Historic Park. Many merchants surrounding the park will have activities within their stores as well.

OLD TOWN THEATER: DANSE MACABRE BY WRITE OUT LOUD

DATE: Monday, Oct. 28

Write Out Loud will present "Danse Macabre" in the Old Town Theatre on Monday, Oct. 28 at 7 p.m. Danse Macabre will feature stories of magic and mystery brought chillingly to life by professional actors. Tickets cost $15 for adults and $13 for students, seniors and active military. For more info, visit writeoutloudsd.com.

TRICK-OR-TREAT

DATE: Thursday, Oct. 31

Trick-or-treaters are invited to come out in their best costumes on Thurs., Oct. 31, from 4 to 6:30 p.m. to collect goodies from participating shops and museums throughout Old Town San Diego State Historic Park. Free to the public. For more information, call (619) 220-5422.

DIA DE LOS MUERTOS

DATES: Fri., Nov. 1 and Sat., Nov. 2

The premier Day of the Dead event in San Diego County, Old Town's Dia de los Muertos is designed to celebrate the history, culture and heritage of the region. Old Town's predominantly Mexican, Spanish and Native American and legacy makes it the best site in San Diego to hold this special and beloved celebration. There will be a tour of more than 30 altars, a candlelight procession and live music. At Fiesta de Reyes in the state park, five life-sized Catrina dolls in historic dress will delight visitors as well as altars in nearby every store. This two-day-long activity will also feature workshops, performances and lectures. For more information, visit sddayofthedeadd.org or call (619) 297-7511.

TOGETHER AGAIN

Members of the Point Loma High School class of 1953 gathered for their 60-year reunion during a two-day gala at the Bali Hai resort on Sept. 20 (above) and the Admiral Kidd Club on Sept. 21. The class has always held the first day of its reunion at the Bali Hai, and this year, 118 classmates attended the reunion out of the original 350 who graduated that year. Roughly 70 members of this class of 1953 still live locally, and the classmates continue to be active in terms of reuniting. The class held reunions every 10 years until the 50th celebration and now get together every five years.

OBITUARY

Longtime OB resident Byrna Bicknell, 74, was huge music fan

Byrna D. Bicknell, 74, passed away on Tuesday, Sept. 3. She was born in Norton, Kansas and attended high school in Salina, Kansas. She participated in the school marching band and various other music-related pursuits. After living in several U.S. cities and abroad, she moved to San Diego and became a longtime resident of Ocean Beach.

Byrna was a musician. Her favorite instrument was the alto saxophone and she was passionate about music and school music programs. She was an avid reader, teacher, business owner, world traveler and a think-er. She cared deeply about and studied political, economic and social systems. She was an optimist who believed that we all hold the ability to change the world for the positive.

Byrna was a much-beloved mother, friend, colleague, auntie and grandmother. She is survived by her children, Larry, Paul,

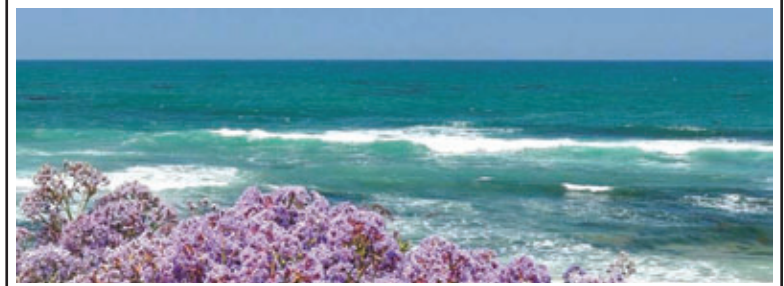

BYRNA BICKNELL

Tony and Darci; four grandchildren; longtime business colleague Petie Paul; and life-long family friends George Murphy and Denise Leto.

She is remembered and missed by numerous, loving friends.

A memorial and celebration will be held at 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 12 at the Masonic Hall at 1711 Sunset Cliffs Blvd. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the Women's History Museum in Washington, D.C., the Nature Conservancy, Heifer International or to a local school music program.

INTENTIONAL HAPPINESS:

The Howell Foundation Evening Series Continues...

FALL 2013

An Evening of Flow & Mindfulness:
Powerful Tools for Increasing Your Happiness

FLOW: Have you ever been so absorbed in what you were doing that time passes without you noticing? This state of intense focus is called "Flow." Researchers report that people who frequently experience Flow are happier. Flow in your life with John Coffey M.A., M.S.W., Ph.D. Candidate, Claremont Graduate University.

MINDFULNESS: Mindfulness is the practice of purposely focusing your attention on the present moment - and accepting it without judgment. Research results indicate that by practicing Mindfulness you can improve both your physical and psychological health. Increasing Mindfulness in your daily life with Steven Hickman, Psy.D., Director of the UCSD Center for Mindfulness.

SPRING 2014

An Integrative Approach to Stress Management:
Reducing Stress & Increasing Happiness

We all experience stress in our daily lives that diminishes happiness. But how we cope with stress and how stress affects our mental and physical health differs from one individual to the next. The biological response to stress differs in men and women and there are gender differences in effective methods of coping with stress. Learn how the concept of "relational wellness" influences stress management and how "Western" and "complimentary" medicine can be integrated to reduce stress for men and women. Learn simple, "hands-on" stress management techniques to incorporate into your daily life with Tahir BhaW, M.D., Integrative Psychiatrist and Wellness Physician, UCSD and Carole Banka, Ph.D., Dept. of Medicine, UCSD.
