YOUNGSTERS GET COLORFULLY CREATIVE IN OCEAN BEACH

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

It took two ballot rounds for the San Diego City Council to select Point Loma resident Ed Harris, a longtime lifeguard and former Marine, to fill the District 2 seat vacated by now-mayor Kevin Faulconer over the next eight months.

"There were numerous highly qualified and inspiring candidates in the field, and I'm very humbled by the council's decision," said Harris after his April 7 appointment. "I look forward to working directly with community leaders to strengthen District 2 neighborhoods."

The diverse field of candidates for the temporary District 2 post included a TV producer, a retired judge, a disabled-persons advocate, an attorney and an architect, among others.

Harris was immediately sworn in after being selected by the council. His candidacy drew the support of councilmembers Sherri Lightner, David Alvarez, Mark Kersey, Scott Sherman and Lorie Zapf, who will run to become the next full-term District 2 councilmember in the June primary.

In appointing Harris, who is head of the city's lifeguard union, his council

Beach lifesavers ask for budgetary boost for staffing, equipment needs

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

The lifeguards responsible for the lives of 20 million-plus beachgoers along San Diego's 17-mile coast who made more than 5,000 water rescues in 2013 are asking for a little more than $5 million over the next five years from the city during budget deliberations.

"The main thing is to look ahead and have a plan ready so that, as funding is available, we know where we want to be (operationally) and can act on those opportunities," said San Diego Lifeguard Services Chief Rick Wurtz. "We recognize the city is still going through its recovery in the budget and that there are many important needs throughout other departments like police and fire. The list of needs

OB, Point Loma to join the world in feting Earth Day

By MARTIN JONES WESTLIN | THE BEACON

On April 22, 1970, grass-roots activism came to call in workplaces across the U.S. It was a Wednesday, when the organizers of the country's first Earth Day figured they had the best chance to entice employees out of their offices for the nationwide rallies. The ploy worked, to the tune of 20 million souls in attendance—and 44 years later, more than a billion people worldwide are expected to take part in clean-ups and attend speeches on the environmental state of the globe.

Point Loma family with sick infant rescued from their distressed vessel

A critically-ill infant aboard her Point Loma family's damaged sailboat who was rescued by the military and Coast Guard and Air National Guard parachutists on April 3 about 925 miles off Cabo San Lucas, Mexico, continued to receive medical attention this week aboard the Navy frigate USS Vandegrift.

"We are thankful to be safe and well," said Eric and Charlotte Kaufman in a statement to the Air National Guardsmen rescue team, the ship's crew, the Navy and the Coast Guard who rescued them and their two daughters, including ill 1-year-old daughter Lyra, from their distressed 36-foot sailboat Rebel Heart.

"Lyra is doing well now and her medical condition continues to improve," the Kaufmans said.

The rescue was initiated after the family spent about two weeks at sea on a planned trip around the world. The family had been moored in Point Loma for seven years.

The family's trip was aborted because "the stricken child required treatment beyond the capabilities of those on board," said 2nd Lt. Roderick B. Bersamina, spokesman for Air National Guard 129th Rescue Wing.

"The child is getting medical care aboard the USS Vandegrift while the Navy vessel is heading back to San Diego," Bersamina said. "The mission is not over until the 1-year-old is in the care of medical facilities onshore that can treat her."

Military authorities said the Kaufmans' craft had lost steering and some of its radios. The yacht took on water and sank.

Addressing those questioning their decision to sail with young children, the Kaufmans said they had prepared as well as any crew could when they had departed more than a year ago.

Eric Kaufman is an ex-Navy corpsman and a U.S. Coast Guard-licensed captain.

"The ocean is one of the greatest forces of nature, and it always has the potential to overcome those who live on or near it," the Kaufmans said.

"We are proud of our choices and our preparation, and while we are disappointed that we lost our sailboat and our home, we remain grateful for those who came to our aid and those family and friends who continue to encourage us and support us," they said.

A military spokesman said the frigate transporting the Kaufmans was to arrive at North Island Naval Air Station on April 9.

Ambitious community projects march forward

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

Two developments being championed by the Ocean Beach Community Development Corporation (OBCDC) — Saratoga Park and Veterans' Plaza redevelopment — are forging ahead.

Started in 1993, the OBCDC is a non-profit created for the benefit of Ocean Beach which seeks to develop resources for revitalizing the infrastructure of Ocean Beach applying the OB "spirit."

Conceptual plans by OBCDC to construct park improvements for all ages at the foot of Saratoga Avenue adjacent to the Ocean Beach lifeguard station took another step forward during an April 8 public workshop.

"We got input to implement the park plan, which calls for a children's play area, some exercise stations and maybe some seating," said Byron Wear, an OBCDC volunteer and former San Diego city councilman. "It was an opportunity for us to hear from the public."

Wear said the next step now in developing Saratoga Park is to "come back at a second workshop in June and show an actual concept that people can look at and the public can comment on."

The Saratoga Park project is supported by the Ocean Beach Town Council, the Ocean Beach MainStreet Association and the Ocean Beach Community Foundation and is consistent with the proposed Ocean Beach Precise Plan.

The park project is expected to primarily be a private community fundraising effort.

Work is also advancing on "Life Journey," a proposed memorial to replace the current Veterans' Plaza at the foot of Newport Avenue.

The intent of "Life Journey," as envisioned in the Ocean Beach Veterans

Plaza Redevelopment Conceptual Design Package, is to create a new coastal veterans memorial that is "artistic/beachy informal" in design.

Plans call for an artificial rock wall mimicking Sunset Cliffs' stratified geology with veterans' names etched into a series of four granite slabs set into it.

Adjacent to the new memorial wall would be inlaid stars representing lives lost in battle. Other artistic flourishes are to include low-lying artistic-themed meandering walls culminating in a family gathering plaza and a disabled-accessible path with decorative walls overlooking the ocean.

"We're pleased with the progress on the Plaza project," said OBCDC president Tom Perrotti. "We've only been working on it for about a year and we have construction documents done."

Perrotti said continuing work on Veterans' Plaza redevelopment is being accomplished with the aid of a $22,500 city grant.

"That chunk of money went toward the RFP for construction documents which have been completed," he said.

'Bite of Point Loma' to tantalize tastebuds

By SCOTT HOPKINS | THE BEACON

Tantalizing tastes from many of Liberty Station's finest restaurants await patrons of "Bite of Point Loma," a flavorful fundraiser designed to spruce up the Point Loma High School campus.

Peninsula palates will be satiated by samples from a wide range of eateries on Tuesday, April 22 from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Organizers also are rounding up numerous items for a silent auction — all in hopes of providing a nicer environment for students in the central quad area of the 89-year-old Pointer campus.

At press time, entrees from popular restaurants like Slater's 50/50, Solare, Luna Grill, Sammy's Woodfired Pizza, Fig Tree and Tender Greens were set.

Fitzee Foods and Go Raw will share samples of their health-conscious offerings, while Chi Chocolat will provide sweet endings to tour participants.

Pre-sale tickets ($35 each) are available at biteofpointlomaevent.mydagsite.com. Tickets for youthful tasters (ages 5-18) are $20. Day-of-event purchases are $40 per ticket. Auction donors and event sponsors are being added.

supporters said they were familiar — and comfortable — with his leadership style.

"I support Ed Harris," said Alvarez. "He really has the ability to get things done and that's what it's going to take. He's well prepared to take the job. Ed is the right choice today."

Lightner agreed.

"I am supporting Ed Harris because I have known and worked closely with him for the past six years and believe he is best suited to come in and hit the ground running as a councilman," she said.

District 9 Councilwoman Marti Emerald was of like mind.

"Ed Harris is a hero, flat out, a U.S. Marine, a lifeguard who puts his life on the line every time the bell rings, and he's been an incredible partner here at the city," she said.

Other candidates receiving votes to fill the temporary District 2 seat were: Chris Cramer, CEO and co-founder of Karl Strauss Brewing Company; Gretchen Kinney Newsom of LeSar Development Consultants, which works with the chronic homeless; and Howard Wayne, a deputy attorney general and former three-term state assemblyman.

All 17 candidates had three minutes to address the council and present their qualifications.

Harris told the council that protecting the safety of the public and the environment topped his priority list.

"I know how to work with labor and managed the city's most fiscally responsive department (lifeguards)," Harris said, adding he's worked to set up and administer Marine Protected Areas (MPAs) set aside along San Diego's coastline to protect fish species in no-take areas allowing them to repopulate.

Also a Point Loma soccer coach, Harris started a real-estate investment company in 2002 and has purchased and renovated Ocean Beach and Point Loma properties for nearly two decades. He said he understands "the business perspective and the need to improve small business in the city of San Diego."

He said he's a renewable energy proponent. His home is totally solar-powered.

"I believe renewable energy starts in your backyard," he said.

A 25-year resident of District 2, Harris became a San Diego lifeguard in 1989 after serving in the Marine Corps. His most current post was as a lifeguard sergeant and a dive-team supervisor answering high-profile emergency calls.

Harris said he initiated a deal with Toyota for 34 new lifeguard vehicles that saved the city $1.1 million. He is also a member of the Livable Streets Coalition, striving to make San Diego a more walkable and bike-friendly city. He also started the annual "Fill the Fin" campaign in 2011 to raise money for swim programs in San Diego's poorest neighborhoods.

"As City Council representative, I will be the 'voice for the coast' at San Diego City Hall," said Harris in his council application. Harris will be the District 2 representative until that district's newly elected councilmember is seated on Dec. 8 or Dec. 10.

Extremism on either side should not drive SeaWorld debate

The documentary "Blackfish" and Point Loma High theater students reacting to it with a public-service announcement calling for SeaWorld to eliminate orca show performances has ignited a chain-reaction of local debate and inspired a state Assembly bill that would ban the practice.

At issue are a number of fundamental questions. One is whether animals have legal rights and deserve protection under the law. Another is whether it is appropriate, moral or ethical for humans to hold animals of higher intelligence, like dolphins and killer whales, in captivity. A third involves the ethics — and wisdom — of requiring marine mammals to perform in live shows.

It's an interesting discussion and one that should — and apparently will — be fully vetted.

The outcome seems uncertain. But however things ultimately unravel, one thing seems clear: In the end, the public's perception of the relationship between humans and captive animals is likely to be forever altered.

And the debate comes at an interesting time, as SeaWorld is being saluted for rescuing distressed marine mammals, promoting their conservation, and for the theme park's economic contributions to the city over the past half-century. The City Council has declared March as "SeaWorld San Diego Month."

Sides are chosen, lines drawn.

On the one hand are global institutions like SeaWorld, zoos, aquariums and similar institutions exhibiting animals that many people would otherwise never have the chance to see. Such mostly for-profit entities insist what they do is essential to public education. They point to their conservation and research work that contributes toward saving and preserving endangered species as justification for what they do.

Protesters make their message known about SeaWorld's orca captivity and its public shows during a rally on Sea World Drive on March 21.

On the other side are the pro-animal rights advocates who insist keeping dolphins, orcas and other higher-order animals captive is slavery, labeling institutions which do so as "abusement" parks which profit from exploiting innocent, allegedly illegally held captive animals.

There are telling points on both sides. Whether or not it's right to hold higher-order animals captive requiring them to perform in shows is justifiably a matter of public debate. At the same time, it is undeniable that the SeaWorld and San Diego Zoo and Stephen Birch Aquariums of the world are not only cornerstones of our culture, but serve a useful purpose, not only in terms of research and education for humans, but in protecting and preserving dwindling global wildlife populations continually encroached upon and threatened by expanding human habitation.

The danger here is in taking the argument too far. While "reassessing" the situation with captive animals performing for human entertainment is entirely appropriate, denying people the opportunity to see animals first-hand in marine parks, zoos, aquariums, circuses, etcetera, is not.

Horses that we've saddled and ridden and used and held captive for centuries and "gambled" on in competitive races, doesn't that constitute exploitation? Are people who own dogs and cats "slaveholders," as some animal-rights extremists would have us believe?

Should we stop using mice in scientific research aimed at discovering cures to diseases afflicting mankind?

Let's salute SeaWorld for the fine work its done and its contributions to San Diego over the past half-century. Let's discuss, fully vet and come to reasonable conclusions as to whether captive dolphins and orcas performing in live shows is exploitation or not. Let's come to a collective consensus on that, and then act accordingly, changing the rules if they need to be changed for the betterment of both species.

But let's not let extremists on either side of the debate dominate and control the conversation.

Human beings and animals co-exist. They always have and, hopefully, always will. Let's define that relationship and set the parameters for what is, and is not, right for them as they continue to share this world.

Let's question whether orca shows at SeaWorlds are entertainment or exploitation.

But let's not question SeaWorld's right to exist, or that they do — or should — have a continuing central, positive role to play in society moving forward.

— Editor's note: The proposed legislation addressed in this editorial failed to muster enough support in the state Assembly's Water, Parks and Wildlife Committee on April 8. Committee members agreed, however, to direct a study be done over the next year and before revisiting the issue at a later date.

EARTH DAY

But you don't have to go to France or India, or even Cleveland, to get a sense of Earth Day's meaning. Ocean Beach and Point Loma have a few items on tap on the 22nd.

The Ocean Beach People's Organic Food Market, 4765 Voltaire St., will raffle two pedal-powered bicycles in doing its part for a cleaner planet. No purchase is necessary, and everybody, not just members, is invited to enter. Members will receive 10 percent off bulk items, excluding coffee and herbs, encouraging bulk purchases with reusable containers and thus cutting down on packaging.

Ocean Beach is also host to San Diego's first and only eco-soap refill shop. Blue Dot Refill, next to the market, at 4799 ½ Voltaire St., provides bulk body care, soap, laundry and other household cleaning products to consumers for refill. Brands carried are environmentally safe, popular labels sold at major retailers and natural food markets. Consumers bring in an empty container or purchase a new one on site, refilled in bulk and weighed for purchase by the ounce. The idea is to help reduce single-use plastics.

Elsewhere, Point Loma Nazarene University is taking it to the streets as the school opens its residence halls to faculty, who will invite discussions on sustainability issues between 7 and 8 p.m.

Meanwhile, Earth Day almost coincides with the annual Creek to Bay Cleanup, set for Saturday, April 26. I Love a Clean San Diego's signature event. Since the event's inception in 2003, nearly 45,000 volunteers have helped remove 1.65 million pounds of debris from locations countywide. The group emphasizes that 80 percent of the county's coastal debris originates from inland locales.

11 Critical Home Inspection Traps to be Aware of Weeks Before Listing your Home for Sale

SAN DIEGO. According to industry experts, there are over 33 physical problems that will come under scrutiny during a home inspection when your home is for sale. A new report has been prepared which identifies the eleven most common of these problems, and what you should know about them before you list your home for sale.

Whether you own an older home or a brand new one, there are a number of things that can fall short of requirements during a home inspection. If not identified and dealt with, any of these 11 items could cost you dearly in terms of repair. If you wait until the building inspector flags these issues for you, you will almost certainly experience costly delays in the close of your home sale or worse, turn prospective buyers away altogether. In most cases, you can make a reasonable pre-inspection yourself if you know what you're looking for, and knowing what you're looking for can help you prevent little problems from growing into costly and unmanageable ones.

To help homesellers deal with this issue before their homes are listed, a free report entitled "11 Things You Need to Know to Pass Your Home Inspection" has been compiled which explains the issues involved. To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report, call toll-free 1-800-276-0763 and enter 1003. You can call any time, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. MAKING SENSE OF INVESTING

Walkers ready to put best foot forward in fight against MS

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

A three-mile fundraising walk along San Diego Bay benefiting the war on multiple sclerosis will culminate at Liberty Station on Saturday, April 26.

The 2014 San Diego County Credit Union Walk MS at Liberty Station's NTC Park, 2750 Womble Road in Point Loma, is hosted by the National Multiple Sclerosis Society in San Diego.

The event is expected draw about 3,500 walkers who hope to raise about $525,000 for MS research, programs and services for MS victims.

Multiple sclerosis (MS) is an inflammatory disease affecting nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord, disrupting the ability of parts of the body's nervous system to communicate.

MS can lead to restrictive or awkward movements and mental gaps, among other problems. The disease can occur in isolated attacks or attacks that build up over time.

Symptoms can disappear between attacks, but permanent neurological problems often occur. The disease usually begins between the ages of 20 and 50 and is twice as common in women as men.

"It's time to put on your walking shoes and connect people living with MS with those who care about them," said Rich Israel, president of the National MS Society chapter. "Walk MS is a rallying point of the MS movement. It's a day when our community comes together to raise funds, show the power of our connections and celebrate hope for the future."

Check-in begins at 7 a.m. and the walk begins around 8:30 a.m. On-site registration is available. Admission is free. There is no cost to be a walker.

San Diego County Credit Union (SDCCU), San Diego's largest locally-owned financial institution, will return as title sponsor of the 2014 Walk MS. This will be the 13th consecutive year that SDCCU has served as title sponsor. SDCCU has supported the National MS Society's Walk MS for the last 16 years, and has served as title sponsor since 2002.

Over the years, SDCCU's sponsorship support for Walk MS has exceeded $1 million, according to the National MS Society.

"We are proud to participate in such inspirational events as Walk MS that celebrate the power of a community coming together in a movement toward a world free of multiple sclerosis," said Teresa Halleck, SDCCU president and CEO. "Team SDCCU, a volunteer group made up of our employees, customers and friends, are eager and ready to step out in the fight against MS."

Now in its 24th year in San Diego, Walk MS is known for drawing a large number of teams representing businesses, neighborhoods, clubs, community groups, churches and family members and friends of a person with MS. Many teams have a team name and their members are outfitted with costumes, including T-shirts, hats or balloons. All it takes is four or more people to form a team.

Free snacks and beverages will be provided to walkers, plus live music and a festive finish line celebration. Walkers will have the opportunity to earn prizes, including T-shirts, movie tickets and gift cards, based on the amount of donations they collect.

Autism fundraising gallery event slated at Liberty Station

San Diego-based Ballast Point Gallery at Liberty Station NTC will host a fundraiser for autism during the month of April, which is Autism Awareness Month. Gallery proceeds from art sales in April will benefit the Autism Tree Project Foundation (ATPF) based in Point Loma. All money donated to ATPF will go directly to helping families in our community who have children with Autism Spectrum Disorder. ATPF is a grass-roots foundation with an all-volunteer staff.

The featured artist for this event is Joel Anderson, who was diagnosed with autism at age 3. Joel started drawing when he was 5 years old, and it quickly became apparent he was uniquely gifted as an artist. Joel's colorful art reflects his delightful sense of humor and whimsical design style.

"... The purpose of my art is to make people smile," he said.

A reception is planned for Sunday, April 27 from 2 to 5 p.m. Ballast Point Gallery is located at 2770 Historic Decatur Road next to Stone Brewery. It is open Wednesdays through Sundays from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Wurts' recent budget proposal to the city asked for about $5.28 million over the next five years. This includes $1.77 million in fiscal year 2014-15, to add personnel and address maintenance and equipment needs.

Wurtz said his department's budget proposal was projected over five years "to take a comprehensive look at areas where we felt we could augment operations to be able to continue to provide even better service in all aspects of our operations."

Mayor Kevin Faulconer is expected to release his proposed budget later this month, which will be vetted by the public and City Council in budget deliberations over the next couple of months. The budget will be finalized sometime in June for the new fiscal year starting July 1.

The lifeguard budget proposal requests 15 additional lifeguards and support staff.

"We have 97 full-time lifeguards working year-round, and in the summertime we bring in about 200 seasonal, part-time lifeguards," Wurts said.

New lifeguards would reportedly be added to Pacific Beach, Ocean Beach, South Mission Beach, Windansea and Mission Bay for the boating-safety unit.

Though the lifeguard's flotilla of watercraft is small — totaling 11 vessels, including two fire boats and nine patrol/surf-rescue vessels — it's integral to the department's lifesaving mission.

"We have a cliff-rescue vehicle that sorely needs replacement," said Wurts. "That's currently being constructed and we hope to get that delivered to us sometime in January 2015."

Wurts said another big-ticket item, replacement of a fire boat, is going through vendor selection.

"We'll hopefully get that boat about 12 months from now," he said. "We're setting chunks of money aside over the next 20 years or longer so when a boat comes due for replacement, there's money that's been set aside. Our goal is to pre-plan for when these things start coming due."

There's also funding set aside in the lifeguards' five-year plan to expand lifeguard headquarters at Mission Bay.

"We've shared that facility with the Park and Recreation Department for decades," said Wurts. "We need some additional lifeguard headquarters for things we want to do."

One way lifeguards could be getting more space is through the conversion of a carpenter garage used by Park and Rec at Quivira Basin into a boating safety unit locker room and sleeping quarters.

"It's a really big footprint (garage) and used by only one person," Wurts said. "We're in the process of identifying another space to relocate all that shop equipment. We're hoping to build out that same space into a large locker room and sleep facilities for our emergency lifeguards who work 24-hour shifts."

Wurts noted supporting lifeguards is important, not only for their rescue function but for the "preventative" work they do.

"Last year, we made more than 251,000 preventative actions," said Wurts, pointing out such actions involve activities like "lifeguards seeing people too close to a rip current and warning them to move further north or south."

"There is a tremendous amount of activity that goes on along the coastline to make sure that our beaches are safe," he said.

PLNU hoopsters notch All-American honors

PLNU ATHLETICS COMMUNICATIONS DEPARTMENT

ESCORZA AND RHOADS EARN NCCAA ALL-AMERICAN HONORS

Callie Rhoads and Jessica Escorza of the Point Loma Nazarene University women's basketball team have been voted to the National Christian Colleges Athletics Association All-American Second Team by the NCCAA coaches throughout the country.

This is the second straight season Rhoads has earned second-team All-American honors, while it is the first for Escorza.

Escorza paced PLNU with 16.6 points per game. She scored in double figures in 16 of 18 games this year, including all eight games after returning from a knee injury while upping her scoring average to 19.9 points per game. Escorza was also second on the Sea Lions with 5.4 rebounds, 2.4 assists and 2.3 steals.

The junior from South Riding, Va. also inked her name in the PLNU record books by recording just the second triple-double in the history of the women's basketball program with a 16-point, 10-rebound, 10-assist performance in a season-finale victory over Cal Baptist (91-84).

Rhoads was the leading scorer for PLNU for much of the season, especially while Escorza was out. She averaged 14.1 points per game while shooting .428 percent from 3-point range. She averaged 2.3 3-pointers per game, and had at least one trey in 26 of 28 games. The senior from Poway scored in double figures in 22 of 28 games, including putting up a career-high 30 points on the road at Dominican.

Callie Rhoads (No. 21) goes in for a layup for the Point Loma Nazarene University women's basketball team. Rhoads and Jessica Escorza were named to the National Christian College Athletic Association's All-American Second Team.

The two All-American selections for PLNU matched Roberts Wesleyan and University of Northwestern for the most of any team in the country.

LESCAULT ADDS ALL-AMERICAN HONORS TO HIS LIST OF ACCOLADES

Point Loma guard Hayden Lescault capped off a fantastic junior season by being selected to the NCCAA All-American First Team by the NCCAA coaches.

Lescault averaged 16.6 points per game while shooting .524 percent from the field to lead the Sea Lions.

He scored in double figures in 25 of 30 games this season to help PLNU claim the NCCAA championship.

Lescault also led Point Loma in assists (3.77) and steals (1.7). He shot .725 percent from the free throw line and .388 from behind the arc.

Lescault was also named the Pacific West Conference Newcomer of the Year and second team All-PacWest.

NORDGREN NAMED PacWest CO-PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Point Loma's senior third basemen Tyler Nordgren was named the Pacific West Conference co-Player of the Week for the week of March 24-30.

Nordgren powered PLNU to a series win over Azusa Pacific as the Sea Lions took three of four games from the Cougars. Nordgren hit .467 (7-for-15) in the four-game stretch with two doubles, a home run, seven RBI and two runs scored.

He hit a walk-off home run in game two of the series to lift PLNU to a 3-2 win. He then came back in game four to drive in all three runs in a Sea Lions 3-1 victory.

Nordgren is now second in the PacWest with 32 RBI and eighth with a .374 batting average. He also ranks fifth in slugging percentage (.548) and seventh in on-base average (.444).

Point Loma is 18-15 this season and in fourth place in the Pacific West Conference standings with a 9-7 record. They have won four of their last five games, which included taking three of four games from Azusa Pacific.

The Sea Lions will be on the road the next two weekends to play Fresno Pacific and California Baptist before returning home to close out its 2014 regular season with games against PacWest-leading Dixie State (April 25-26) and Academy of Art (May 2-3).

Jefferson Jay works to nurture dreams of aspiring new talent

By BART MENDOZA | THE BEACON

San Diego's music scene has been growing over the last several years, led by a colorful cast of music lovers and promoters. Each makes their own music but also strives to help others in their quest for the musical brass ring. A list of the most influential in San Diego would easily include Ocean Beach resident Jefferson Jay.

Originally from New Jersey, Jay arrived on the West Coast in 1995 and has been performing locally with his band since 2001, releasing five albums and becoming a mainstay of beach-area clubs with his occasionally quirky but always compelling tunes.

A sixth album, "Hallelujah Expressway," is currently in the process of being recorded. However, where Jay has really made an impact is in hosting events that allow others to shine. Besides the more typical rock-show events, Jay now hosts an open-mic night at Winston's Beach Club each Wednesday night from 6 to 9 p.m., immediately following the OB Farmers Market. Meanwhile, he is also the man behind the popular Acoustic Evenings music series held at La Jolla's Athenaeum.

Unlike many other hosts of similar events, Jay takes a back seat to the other performers. Yes, he performs the occasional song, introduces the other artists and even tells a few jokes. But he said it's not about him.

"It goes back to the way I was raised," he said. "From the beginning, for me, if we all work together and help each other, build each other up, it's a more gratifying, fully enjoyable experience. It's what feels most right to me."

He said hopes to make each event a showcase.

"I want it to be a high moment of the week for the performers. I really try to make a big moment for whoever is on stage," he said. "Not everyone has a band or plays other shows, so through these events, I try to give them their big moment in the sun."

While he has staged open-mics at other San Diego venues, Jay has a special place in his heart for Winston's and the residents of OB.

"The venue itself is so professionally run," he said. "And they are so friendly. But that's just the way people are in OB. It's a great place to hear music and it has great beach proximity," he said. "It's like the show 'Cheers.' It's a place where everybody knows your name."

Upcoming projects for Jay include that sixth album, "Hallelujah Expressway," for which he's also working on a musical. "It's kind of an ambitious project," he laughed. "I was walking home last night, and I was asking myself what I really want to go with my life and I realized that the things I wanted to do, such as have a creative outlet, express myself, be part of a community and help people where I can, I realized that I was already doing all these things. And I was pretty happy about it. I mean, we can always do more or try a different approach, but it's nice to know that as long as you stay active and keep putting lines in the water, eventually something will happen, something will bite."

For now, Jay is happy to keep running full speed ahead with his open-mic night. "I really try to make it like a variety show," he said. "If you're an attendee, you'll hear a real mix of things; there is a lot of talent in San Diego. The night can include a little bit of everything. We even have one gentleman who does a bit of spoken word where he riffs on current news." He notes not all taking part are "professional" musicians, but he adds that it's all part of the evening's charm. "Some of the performers are still trying to find their sea legs," he remarked. "But anyone who takes in one of these shows will be thoroughly entertained."

Peninsula Winds music show set for April 15

The Point Loma High School gymnasium will be alive with the beat of the drums, the bells of the brass and many other wind instruments as three public schools and a university join together for the 24th annual Peninsula Winds concert on Tuesday, April 15 at 7 p.m.

Guests are invited to see the progression of outstanding student musicians, which include fifth- and sixth-graders under the direction of Ruben Flores at Dana Middle School; Marc Dwyer's junior high band students from Correia; James Sepulveda's Point Loma High School musicians; and Point Loma Nazarene University music students under the direction of John Dally.

The event features short performances from each of these award-winning bands. They will come together with a combined energetic closing number in a free concert.

Concessions will be available beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the school gymnasium, located at 2335 Chatsworth Blvd.

For more information, call (619) 823-9966.

Thursday Club preps for benefit gala, online help

The local Thursday Club is gearing up for a gala event on Friday, April 25 to benefit Promises2Kids, a local nonprofit organization dedicated to supporting foster children in the local community.

The event is scheduled to take place at the Thursday Club's clubhouse in Point Loma, and will feature dinner, music and a live auction.

Proceeds from the gala will go to support Camp Connect, a life-changing Promises2Kids program that ensures brothers and sisters separated through the foster-care system stay connected throughout the year.

The mission of Camp Connect is to keep the family bond. Promises2Kids annually provides more than 3,300 current and former foster youth in San Diego County with the tools, opportunities and guidance they need to address the circumstances that brought them into foster care, overcome the difficulties of their past and grow into healthy, successful adults.

In 2013, 460 children were able to reconnect with their siblings through Camp Connect. With community support, organizers hope all foster children separated from their siblings will be able to attend Camp Connect.

To help get the gala going, event organizers are asking for help from local merchants and residents.

Here are the ways you can participate in the run-up to the benefit event:

• Donate an item or service to the Thursday Club online and/or its live auction.

The online auction alone is expected to reach a multitude of viewers through the Bidding For Good website. Organizers said this type of exposure is sure to bring donors new, prospective patrons for future clientele bases.

• Financially sponsor the event. Examples of financial support include cash donations, table sponsorships and in-kind donations (such as food, beverages, printing, equipment and staffing volunteers).

To help, visit www.thethursdayclub.org. You can also connect through Facebook at www.facebook.com/The-ThursdayClubJuniors?ref=hl.

The Thursday Club was founded in 1921 to promote social, educational, cultural and civic activities throughout San Diego County.

Each year, the Thursday Club Juniors support their heritage of philanthropy by planning a gala event. Since the group's founding, the Thursday Club has raised nearly $2 million to support local charities.

Past beneficiaries include Special Delivery San Diego, San Diego Food Bank, Boys to Men Mentoring, San Diego Adaptive Sports Foundation and ARTS — A Reason to Survive.

Funds raised by Thursday Club Juniors have helped to transform many local charities, enabling them to better serve our community and help where it is needed most.

Eggcellent quality and value.

OB Restaurants Showcase Delicious Eats During OB Restaurant & Hospitality Week

The 2nd Annual OB Restaurant & Hospitality Week is April 27 – May 4, 2014.

More than 15 Ocean Beach restaurants will show off their chops at Ocean Beach's 2nd Annual OB Restaurant & Hospitality Week. More than fifteen local restaurants are participating throughout the week, starting Monday, April 28 and finishing Sunday, May 4. Restaurants will offer special menus and deals for breakfast, lunch, dinner and dessert.

This year, the event has expanded to include local lodging establishments. The OB Hotel, The Ocean Villa Inn, Elsbree House Bed and Breakfast and The Inn at Sunset Cliffs will host OB Restaurant & Hospitality Week launch parties at each of their locations open-house style on Sunday, April 27 from 4-7pm. You'll be able to take in the view, check-out the rooms and enjoy some nosh from participating restaurants. Each open house location will also raffle off an "Enjoy Ocean Beach" gift basket – complete with hotel, dining and beauty treatment gift certificates, among other treats.

"The Ocean Beach food scene keeps growing and expanding and bringing in more and more great dining establishments. We're excited to open up our doors and show everyone what the great food and hospitality of Ocean Beach is all about," said Raglan Public House's Mike Zouroudis, event chair. For a list of participating restaurants see OBRestaurantweek.com

San Diego Grab Bars
Provide Security

SAN DIEGO GRAB BARS is dedicated to helping you stay independent and safe in your own home.

We offer grab bars, shower seats, and hand held shower heads to help make the bathroom a safer environment. And while the bathroom is where people normally think that they need grab bars, we can install hand rails and grab bars anywhere in your home: next to the bed, at the top of the stair case, in the hall or outside the back door.

When we visit you, we bring along a great selection of products for same day installation. Decide what diameter and texture feels best before you buy. We can match the finish of your existing hardware.

Falls are one of the main reasons people leave home and move into assisted care. Let us help you prevent falls and stay in the home you love.

"I don't have anyone anymore!"

A retired nurse who is now a widow was referred by a friend to Innovative Healthcare Consultants. She started by telling our RN Care Manager that she is all alone and worried about what will happen to her if no one is there advocating on her behalf. She never had children and even though she had good friends, they were all about her age, in their 70's and 80's.

As a nurse, she had seen patients in the hospital who didn't have anyone around to advocate for them. She dreaded the idea of developing a serious health problem and finding herself all alone. She asked the care manager for recommendations about how to find a good elder law attorney to help update her will and other estate documents. Most importantly though, she wanted to establish a relationship with a care manager who could visit her regularly, accompany her to doctor's appointments and make sure her wishes were always followed.

Call a RN Care Manager at Innovative Healthcare Consultants to help you maintain your quality of life at home. Our number is (760) 731-1334 or visit our website at www.innovativehc.com.

Lighten up with OB
People's Market

Spring is here and it sure is grand! With all this warm weather comes the craving for all the fresh fruits and vegetables that the season brings. As the days heat up, we feel the need to lighten our fare. Whether you're planning a picnic on the beach, a Sunday drive to Julian, or fresh veggies on the grill, Ocean Beach People's Organic Food Market has everything your light heart desires. From artichokes to mangos, spring onions to papaya, and baby greens to pineapple, our produce is just what the doctor ordered... always fresh, and always organic! So stop on by as you stroll down the sunny street and taste what all the fuss is about. And don't forget to stop by the market on Earth Day, Tuesday April 22, when we'll be raffling off two bicycles and offering an additional 10% off many Bulk Dept. items. Visit online at www.obpeoplesfood.coop, Tweet with us at @PeoplesOrganic, show us your smile on Facebook at www.facebook.com/oceanbeachpeoples, or call us directly at (619) 224-1387. Open daily from 8 a.m. - 9 p.m., you'll find Ocean Beach People's Organic Food Market at 4765 Voltaire Street.

WWW.CUTTINGEDGEK9.COM CUTTING EDGE K9 REHAB Has Been Featured On Local & National News, Radio, A Number Of Local Papers & Magazine Articles. Swimming is one of our strongest recommendations for most K9's. It is an ideal form of exercise for a many reasons. Our rehab services offer assisted swimming in a warm water environment. The benefits are: • Non-weight-bearing (reducing stress on joints) • Facilitates full use of the front and hind legs vs. partial use as seen with underwater treadmills • Dogs are often able to actively swim although unable to move their legs on land (due to stroke/ spinal injury) • Allows manual techniques by therapist/ manual resistance to an affected limb • Swimming in a controlled environment is the safest way for clients to exercise. • Speeds recovery following injury/ surgery • Improves function & quality of life • Works reciprocal muscle groups (helps correct muscle imbalances) • Reduces pain & inflammation • Reduces canine obesity thus decreasing the risk of other health-related problems • Increases strength, range of motion & cardiovascular conditioning • Prevents overheating through proper water temperature • Increases tolerance for extended cardiovascular training • Decreases recovery time • Reduces post-exercise soreness • Provides good cross training for the competitive, athletic dog (619) 227-7802

Claytime Ceramics Camps offer a good balance of indoor and outdoor activities. Children begin their day with a walk by the tidepools (one block away from the studio), followed by warmup exercises at the studio.

On Mondays and Wednesday days we work on ceramic painting projects in which children learn ceramic painting techniques (color blending and use of puffy paints).

On Tuesdays and Thursdays the kids work on mosaic projects. Children create their own patterns, learn to apply adhesive and grout their own pieces. On Fridays we include fabric painting or sketching or jewelry making. And the week ends with an ice cream party in which the kids get to use the ice cream bowls they painted on Monday. All supplies are included.

For reservations call 619-223-6050 or go to claytimeceramics.com for information.

Coastal Sage Gardening to host reopening gala

Coastal Sage Gardening is preparing to host a grand reopening bash on Sunday, April 13 to entertain and bring together neighbors for a day of fun and gardening frenzy.

The event will feature art, music and a garden exchange, where visitors can trade fruits and treasures from their individual gardens.

Artist Kyle Bowen's work will be displayed on gallery walls. Bowen's art is inspired by native civilizations like the Huichol Indians and sacred geometric artists. His meticulous mandala designs are delicately painted on everything from garden rocks to canvas.

Musical entertainment will be provided by Acoustic Blue, featuring members of the world-traveled Liquid Blue, performing a wide variety of classic and modern hits acoustically, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

This will be followed by guitarist and Ocean Beach icon John Tafolla at 3 p.m., as he performs a repertoire of original music and songs reflecting his life of entertainment.

Coastal Sage will also introduce a 2nd Sunday Garden Exchange, which will take place the second Sunday of every month from 1 to 5 p.m. During these events, participants can trade, sell or barter items from their respective gardens.

The entire event runs from 1 to 5 p.m. on April 13 at the store, located at 3685 Voltaire St.

Coastal Sage specializes in drought-tolerant and native landscapes and is experienced in all garden environments. It does custom design, installation, maintenance, irrigation, repair, labor and consultation.

Phil's BBQ reopens after $1 million renovation

The wildly popular Phil's BBQ location in Point Loma reopened its doors Feb. 11 following a six-week shutdown for renovations to the kitchen and design upgrades.

The renovations, which topped $1 million, were the largest in Phil's BBQ history and included a complete overhaul of its kitchen. In conjunction with the temporary closure, the restaurant held a Shutdown Sweepstakes and named 34 winners, including the grand-prize winner, during the reopening.

The temporary closure was implemented to improve workflow in the kitchen while also increasing energy efficiency.

"When we moved in to the Point Loma location over seven years ago, we took an existing kitchen and tried to make it work for our needs, but it just wasn't," said owner Phil Pace. "We're really excited for this day to have come and are very pleased with the outcome of the renovations.

"We know it was an inconvenience to many of our customers, but we also know that the upgrades will help us to run a tighter ship and improve our service to guests," he said. "It's a win-win [situation] for our employees and our diners."

More than 2,500 Shutdown Sweepstakes entries were received over the course of the closure, and nearly $10,000 in cash value was awarded to 34 lucky winners.

4th Annual Point Loma / OB Community Yard Sale Day set for May 3rd

Attention Homeowners it's time for the 4th Annual Big PL/OB Community Yard Sale Day. This year's Event is slated for Saturday May 3rd. The event is hosted yearly by Long Time Point Loma Realtor Bob Woodard of Berkshire Hathaway here in Point Loma. "The event has grown to grand proportions" says Woodard. "We nearly doubled the number of sales last year as we had 140 sales throughout the PL/OB communities and the best part for the seller is it's FREE! It is a great opportunity for home owners to get some spring cleaning done and turn those unwanted items into cash! We market the sale throughout San Diego County and it brings thousands of buyers to our neighborhood. The sales provide just about every item you can imagine from sporting goods and antiques to clothing and décor. This past year we even had an antique Model T Ford at one of the sales". Master maps will be provided to buyers of all of the sales however you must be signed up by Saturday April 26th to make the map (Limited to the first 150 participants). We are once again encouraging sellers to be open from 7AM until Noon which still provides them a free afternoon. Sign up to participate by calling Bob Woodard at (619) 227-LIST or by going to our website at www.BigPLSale.com You may also email us at BigPLSale@gmail.com.

Shades earns honor for its pet-friendly penchant

Shades Oceanfront Bistro has captured the honor of most pet-friendly destination from the San Diego Humane Society.

The award presentation was made during The San Diego Humane Society's annual telethon on March 22 on CBS TV.

Shades owner Jeff Levitt accepted the award, which recognized Levitt and his family for their involvement in stimulating human/canine relationships and for hosting adoption events that ultimately led to the adoption of 175 pets.

"Anything we can do to help promote pet adoptions within the community, we're more than happy to do," Levitt said. "It's something we love to do anyway, so it's been a win-win."

On a related note, City Councilwoman Lorie Zapf was honored with the Humane Hero Award for her efforts to promote humane conditions for pets, including leading a campaign to crack down on pet stores with respect to the illegal sale of dogs, cats and rabbits within city limits.

Credit union opens Midway-area branch

San Diego County Credit Union (SDCCU), San Diego's largest locally owned financial institution, has opened its 32nd branch in the Sports Arena-Midway District. The new SDCCU branch, located at 3455 Sports Arena Blvd., is found in a retail center where tenants include Target, Ralphs, Petco and Dick's Sporting Goods. It is across the street from the Valley View Casino Center, formerly the San Diego Sports Arena.

The new SDCCU branch offers loan and new account stations, teller windows and an exterior ATM. The branch is open Mondays through Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Fridays from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"We are proud of our new branch, which enhances our market-leading position," said Teresa Halleck, SDCCU president and CEO. "Our desire to serve our expanding customer base has prompted our expansion efforts."

Kiwanis to host 65th Easter Sunrise Service

By MARTIN JONES WESTLIN | THE BEACON

The Kiwanis Club of Point Loma will again present an ecumenical Easter Sunrise Service at the Cabrillo National Monument, 1800 Cabrillo Memorial Drive in Point Loma, on Sunday, April 20.

The services will be held in the lower parking lot, giving those who attend a great early morning panoramic view of San Diego Harbor and the city behind it.

Club president Charles Perdue said this year's service marks the 65th consecutive year the club of Point has presented the service.

The gates to the monument will open at 6 a.m. on Sunday, with the non-denominational service beginning at 6:30 a.m. There is seating for approximately 550 guests.

Speakers this year include Capt. Scott Adams, commanding officer, Naval Base Point Loma; Gary Jander, immediate past governor, Kiwanis CalNevHa District; and Doug Beckham, past lieutenant governor, Kiwanis Division 21. Chaplain Jerome Hinson of the Third Fleet will conduct the service.

The Navy Band Southwest will provide pre-service patriotic music, and the Naval Base Point Loma Color Guard will open the ceremony. Soloist Jojo Ito and accompanist Brent Johnson will be featured.

National Park Service visitor and parking fees are not in effect for the Easter Sunrise Service. Coffee, tea and pastries will be served immediately following the services.

How to Avoid Costly Housing Mistakes Before and After a Divorce

POINT LOMA/OCEAN BEACH- Divorce is rarely easy and often means a lot of difficult decisions. One of the most important decisions is what to do about the house.

In the midst of the heavy emotional and financial turmoil, what you need most is some non-emotional, straightforward, specific information and answers. Once you know how a divorce affects your home, your mortgage and taxes, critical decisions are easier. Neutral, third party information can help you make logical, rather than emotional, decisions.

Probably the first decision is whether you want to continue living in the house. Will the familiar surroundings bring you comfort and emotional security, or unpleasant memories? Do you want to minimize change by staying where you are, or sell your home and move to a new place that offers a new start? Only you can answer those questions, but there will almost certainly be some financial repercussions to your decision process. What can you afford? Can you manage the old house on your new budget? Is refinancing possible? Or is it better to sell and buy? How much house can buy on your new budget?

To help you know what questions you should ask and how to arrive at the right answer for your specific situation, a FREE special report has been prepared by industry experts entitled "Divorce: What You Need to Know About Your House, Your Mortgage and Taxes". To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report call toll-free (800) 467- 9064 and enter 2109. You can call any time, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

WHAT'S AHEAD?

Peninsula-area events, April 13-May 21
SUNDAY, APRIL 13

The Point Loma Community Presbyterian Church Easter Fest is poised to celebrate with a petting zoo, crafts, games and a bounce house at the church, located at 2128 Chatsworth Blvd., from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. For more information, email Cindy Davis at cindypoint-lomachurch@gmail.com, or call (619) 223-1633.

WEDNESDAY, April 16

The Point Loma Republican Women Federated club hosts its monthly luncheon meeting at 10 a.m. at the Point Loma Cafe, located at 4865 Harbor Drive. The program features Rachael Meyer, who will present a program titled "Guard My Vote," a campaign to get the voter-identification push on the ballot in California. A no-host lunch will follow the presentation. Guests are welcome. For more information, call Marilyn at (619) 222-9532.

THURSDAY, April 17

The Ocean Beach Historical Society will host a free presentation spotlighting the Ocean Beach Woman's Club (OBWC), which turns 90 this year. This is an opportunity to celebrate the women of Ocean Beach and their rich local history. The 7 p.m. presentation will feature club interim president Melyssa Roark and board member Mercy Baron, who will detail the club's history and plans for the future. The program will take place at the Point Loma United Methodist Church, located at 1984 Sunset Cliffs Blvd. The OBWC was formed in 1924 by a group of women from the founding families of Ocean Beach. It is the oldest civic group in Ocean Beach. Over the years, the club met in several of OB's past landmark buildings before settling in the current clubhouse on Bacon Street. For more information, visit www.ob-history.wordpress.com.

1924 Ocean Beach Woman's Club

SUNDAY, April 20

It's egg-hunting time! Westminster Presbyterian Church will host its free, annual Easter egg hunt for local children at Westminster Park, behind the church grounds at 3598 Talbot St., at 11:30 a.m. For more information, call (619) 224-6263.

WEDNESDAY, April 23

The Sharp Health Senior Resource Center will host a conference for seniors and their families, titled "Aging: Planning and Coping." People are living longer but with illness and medications prevalent in their lives. The conference, which includes free health screenings, continental breakfast and lunch will take place from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Point Loma Community Presbyterian Church, located at 2128 Chatsworth Blvd. Registration is required. Call (800) 827-4277.

SATURDAY, April 26

The Point Loma Garden Club is preparing for its big, annual plant sale. The event is set to take place at Westminster Presbyterian Church, located at 3598 Talbot St. (east of Cañon Street) from 9 a.m. to noon. Take home heirloom tomatoes, unusual vegetables and herbs, beautiful patio container plants and specimen, waterwise and native plants — all grown and created by Point Loma Garden Club members. Visit the Club Cafe and Boutique and get information from master gardeners who will be there to answer any gardening questions. Proceeds from the event provide continued philanthropic support for local college scholarships and community organizations. For more information, visit www.plcg.org.

WEDNESDAY, May 21

• The Point Loma Singers will perform a free concert at the Point Loma/Hervey Branch Library at 6:30 p.m. The library is located at 3701 Voltaire St. For more information, call (619) 531-1539.

• The Sharp Health Senior Resource Center will host a free presentation titled "Know the 10 Signs: Early Detection Matters." Holly Pobst, community education manager of the Alzheimer's Association, will present the seminar. Current data suggest that fewer than 35 percent of people with Alzheimer's disease or other dementias have a diagnosis of the condition in their medical record. Learn about the difference between normal aging and Alzheimer's disease and the benefits of early detection, as well as tips to follow up on any concerns you may have about yourself or someone you care about. The presentation will take place from noon to 1 p.m. at the Point Loma Community Presbyterian Church, located at 2128 Chatsworth Blvd. Registration required. Call (800) 827-4277 or register online at www.sharp.com.
