Trio of local athletic fields get green light for various upgrades

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

It's full-speed ahead for plans to upgrade three Point Loma sports fields — Dana (now David Wells Field), Point Loma High and Correia Middle School — as groundbreaking was held June 30 on a $1.4 million upgrade of Dana to replace natural grass with synthetic turf.

"This field will be a lasting tribute to everybody from our school district to our community to our city," said Mayor Kevin Faulconer during the groundbreaking, noting it was an example of "teamwork coming together to make this happen."

Major League Baseball All-Star player and Padres pitching legend David Wells, for whom the field is named, is a Point Loma High alum.

"Obecian/Point Lomans like myself had rock fields" to play on in their youth, adding that upgrades will make it a more "even playing field."

Wells added he's "just a coach and baseball guy" lauding the mayor and City Council.

Point Loma Summer Concerts launch 14th season of frolic

By BART MENDOZA | THE BEACON

One of the things that makes the Point Loma area such a wonderful place to live is the area's sense of community. Nowhere is that more visible than during the annual Point Loma Summer Concert Series (PLSC).

Now in its 14th year, the season kicks off July 11 at Point Loma Park and continues over five weekends, offering free, family-friendly fun.

This year's featured performers will include Motown and classic-rock cover band The Mighty Untouchables on July 11, award-winning dance and Top 40 band Liquid Blue on July 18, Beatles tribute combo Help on July 25, Neil Diamond impersonators Hot August Night on Aug. 1 and horn-driven soul group Detroit Underground on Aug. 8.

While the music is diverse, the bands have one thing in common; they are all crowd pleasers.

"What we have found is that people really like cover bands," said PLSC marketing the direc-

During balloting at the June 28 Ocean Beach Street Fair and Chili Cook-Off Festival, more than ballots were cast for 39 unique submissions.

Immediate right, placing first with 38 votes was this sunset shot of a lone surfer framed by Ab Cave at Sunset Cliffs. by Scott Mac Laggan. For his winning effort, Mac Laggan will receive a $100 gift certificate to Donovan's Steak & Chop House.

The second-place entry, top right, fell just one vote shy of a tie for first with 37 votes for Sam Wariner's shot the stairs at Garbage Beach surf break at the foot of Lareda Street.

The second-place honor earned a $50 gift certificate at The Patio Restaurant.

Claiming the third and final spot in the Beacon photo contest, bottom right, was this cool, colorful shot of the twilight mist and wave action at Sunset Cliffs south of the Ocean Beach Pier.

The shot was taken by Annie Marsch, who has earned four tickets for free admission to the Museum of Photographic Arts in Balboa Park.

Congratulations to the winners and to all who participated!

Many thanks also to our loyal readers who took time to stop by the Beacon booth at this year's street fair and who cast their votes in this year's contest!

OB's July 4 fireworks display always a blast for celebrants

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

The Fourth of July is going to be a blast — literally — with numerous pyrotechnic displays up and down the San Diego coast, including Ocean Beach's 35th annual fireworks extravaganza.

"There's always an exciting finale," promised Denny Knox, executive director of the Ocean Beach MainStreet Association (OBMA), the community's Business Improvement District, about OB's always-dazzling display.

Fireworks launched from the Ocean Beach Pier at the end of Newport Avenue will begin at 9 p.m., capping a day of picnicking, swimming and frolicking in the sand and surf for thousands of Independence Day visitors along Newport Avenue.

"The fireworks will last about 17 or 18 minutes," said Knox, adding it's hoped pre-event publicity will also extinguish any "fireworks" associated with this year's annual post-display marshmallow war on Newport Avenue.

Marshmallow wars could still happen, but be prepared

By TONY DE GARATE | THE BEACON

If you want to buy marshmallows in Ocean Beach in time for this year's Fourth of July celebration, you may want to disguise yourself with a pair of nose glasses first.

If the Ocean Beach Town Council (OBTC) has its way, buying or selling marshmallows for Independence Day is going to be as socially dubious as cigarettes, ammunition or pornography.

The Town Council last year called for an end to the notorious "Marshmallow War," and it looks like they mean business.

They're pulling out all the stops and recruiting volunteers to prevent it from happening, said organizers during a June 25 monthly public meeting of the OBTC's Board of Directors.

The OBTC has persuaded at least nine Ocean Beach businesses to refrain from selling the puffy treats, lest they be used as weaponry after the annual public fireworks display at the pier, according to board member Steve Grosch.

In addition, a citizen "Peace Patrol" is being assembled to be on the lookout for revelers with marshmallows and gently persuade them to donate their stash to the Girl Scouts.

Grosch noted the irony of his opposition to the tradition. His father was in on it from the beginning in the late 1980s. It starts as innocent mischief — a "fun little family thing where two warring streets were trying to one-up each other and started throwing marshmallows back and forth," Grosch said.

But in recent years, concerns have escalated as thousands have joined in the fray, spreading along the entire beach and bursting into streets. Innocent bystanders reported being injured by frozen and even flaming marshmallows, launched by slingshot and marshmallow bazookas.

All the gooey, sticky crud is left behind for cleanup volunteers the next day, many of whom did not even participate in the gooey warfare. In 2012, Ocean Beach generated nearly 80 percent of the 2,600 pounds of trash collected at five beaches, said Randy Iwai, executive committee member of San Diego County Surfrider Foundation.

Citizens and businesses who want to prevent another marshmallow battle can sign a pledge at the OBTC web-

Midway planners give initial OK for possible med-pot dispensary siting

By DAVE SCHWAB | VILLAGE NEWS

The Midway Community Planning Group conditionally approved two medical marijuana cooperatives at their June 16 monthly meeting and called a July 2 special meeting to review six more. Group chairwoman Melanie Nickel told the packed room at San Diego Community College's West Campus that discussion on the agenda items was not to be about the pros and cons of medical marijuana, but about whether or not proposed cooperatives fit in with the Midway Community Plan now being updated.

"We will focus on land use, health and safety, parking and security," said Nickel noting the group's job was merely to make recommendations as to whether applicant's projects comply with the community's general plan. She added it's not the advisory group's purview to rule on whether applicants meet the standards of the new medical marijuana cooperative ordinance. That, she said, is something to be decided later by the City Council.

Nickel's statement was well received by meeting participants, who consisted primarily of medical-marijuana advocates and hopefuls of cooperative operations.

The new City Council ordinance allows cooperatives to operate only in industrial-zoned areas removed from residences and youth-oriented facilities.

Cooperatives are not allowed within 1,000 feet of schools, churches, public parks, playgrounds, minor-oriented facilities.

A new (gateway) sign of the times for OB

By TONY DE GARATE | THE BEACON

They used to say the entryway sign on Sunset Cliffs Boulevard was so fragile it was ready to fall apart once the termites decided to stop holding hands.

Ever since the wooden sign was installed in 1984 by the Ocean Beach Town Council, it's been an epicurean delight for the termites.

Thirty years later, the party's over for the insects, and a fresh, new look awaits passersby.

The new sign, unveiled June 18 in front of a small crowd of onlookers and community leaders, is an exact replica of the Samuel Wald design it replaced, with the familiar seagull, sky and sea.

And yes, just as it did in the old sign, the great big letter "O" still leans, like much of the community in Ocean Beach, to the left.

The only constituency unlikely to approve of the new sign are of the entomological six-legged variety. There's nothing to munch on in the new sign, which consists of high-density foam — the same material used to make surfboards — and aluminum.

"This is OB's sign. This is what signifies OB," said District 2 Councilman Ed Harris. "And it's not just a sign, it's a landmark. It represents that you've come home."

The unveiling capped a three-year effort to replace the sign, which had also been damaged by rot, ocean air and sun. The Town Council invited citizens to offer ideas on how to replace it, resulting in 20 proposed designs.

In an election last year, Town Council members decided none of the new designs could beat the original designed by Wald, a longtime community advo-

On hand for the unveiling of the renovated Ocean Beach gateway sign, an iconic greeting to motorists and pedestrians on their way in to OB along Sunset Cliffs Boulevard, were District 2 City Councilman Ed Harris, Ocean Beach Town Council Community Enhancement chairman Jim Musgrove, OB Town Council president Gretchen Kinney Newsom and District 4 County Supervisor Ron Roberts.

cate and volunteer who died in 1989.

Funding for the sign came in the form of a $7,500 Neighborhood Reinvestment Program grant from District 4 San Diego County Supervisor Ron Roberts.

In the county's latest budget, the program allows the five supervisors to allocate $2 million each to projects they deem worthy.

"They were well-spent dollars," Roberts said. "The sign was falling apart. It was an endangered species."

Jim Musgrove, the OBTC's Community Enhancement chairman who spearheaded the effort, said citizens tried unsuccessfully to extend the life of the sign.

"We repaired it twice before with bondo and paint. And community members would come out here and touch it up, give it a face-lift. But it (degraded) beyond that," Musgrove said.

One of those touch-up efforts included putting red paint on the "O" more than a decade ago. The new sign restores the capital letter to its original white color.

Painting the letter red "turned out to be not such a good idea because at night when the lights are on, the O disappeared," Musgrove said.

HONOR ABOVE ALL

How to save thousands when selling your home

OCEAN BEACH/ POINT LOMA, When you decide to sell your home, setting your asking price is one of the most important decisions you will ever make. Depending on how a buyer is made aware of your home, price is often the first thing he or she sees, and many homes are discarded by prospective buyers as not being in the appropriate price range.

Your asking price is often your home's "first impression," and if you want to realize the most money you can for your home, it's imperative that you make a good first impression.

This is not as easy as it sounds, and pricing strategy should not be taken lightly. Pricing too high can be as costly to a homeseller as pricing too low. A recent study, which compiles 10 years of industry research, has resulted in a new special report entitled "Homesellers: How to Get the Price You Want (and Need)." This report will help you understand pricing strategy from three different angles. When taken together, this information will help you price your home to not only sell, but sell at the price you want.

To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your FREE copy of this report, call toll-free 1-800-276-0763 and enter 1017. You can call any time. 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Get your free special report NOW to learn how to price your home to your maximum financial advantage.

Zoning concerns take center stage for PCPB planners

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

In June, Peninsula planners got an update on San Diego International Airport's north-side development and debated — before postponing until July — final consideration of Point Loma Village, a proposed three-story, mixed-use condo project on Rosecrans and Byron streets.

Many residents turned out at the Peninsula Community Planning Board's monthly meeting at Point Loma Library on June 19 to protest redevelopment projects calling for higher density, insisting the largely single-family residential neighborhood is not suited to such development.

Ken Wilschetz, director of planning at the San Diego Airport Authority, which makes decisions on Lindbergh Field improvements, discussed progress being made on north side's ongoing redevelopment, which includes a $264 million, 17-acre consolidated car-rental facility.

Airport redevelopment also includes a new fixed-base operator facility as well as a new centralized receiving and distribution center to serve Lindbergh Field.

"The airport master plan is the last plan we're going to have for this airport's one runway, which will not be lengthened," said Wilschetz, adding the airport plan's goal is to "make every square foot of the airport site as efficient as it can possibly be."

Wilschetz said plans for the north side's redevelopment include "a pedestrian bridge over Pacific Highway" in order to "take people back and forth on airport roads much better than we have now."

ENJOY THE BEAUTY OF OLD TOWN

CELEBRATE INDEPENDENCE DAY WITH AN UNFORGETTABLE OLD-FASHIONED EVENT IN OLD TOWN SAN DIEGO

—Jump Back In Time and Celebrate the Red, White, and Blue in True 1800s-style —

Old Town San Diego State Historic Park is hosting an old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration where guests will be able to come and relive the excitement of a 1800's Independence Day celebration. This free event is from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the park's grassy plaza.

"Come join us and celebrate the Fourth of July in a way that your family will never forget," said Frances McMeeken, event organizer. "We will have free activities and games for all ages that date back to the 1800's. This memorable celebration is a family tradition for many San Diegans."

Guests are encouraged to participate in the parade around the plaza reminiscent of the July Fourth parades of early San Diego with horses, wagons, and people in historical costumes. Children 12 years and under may enter the patriotic hat-making activity and proudly wear their creation in the parade. Children's games and crafts begin at 10:30 a.m. in the plaza.

The band "Made in America" will be performing historic and patriotic music on stage starting at 10:30 a.m. Opening ceremonies start at 11:30 a.m. with a welcome address on stage and a parade around the plaza. It will be followed by a flag-raising ceremony, which will include the color guard and guest speaker at noon.

Following the parade, there will be crafts, games, contests, and informational demonstrations that represent the activities enjoyed in the 1800's. The stage will be filled with free entertainment such as historic dancing, vignettes, and patriotic music. All of the museums will be open and, as always, free to the public.

The park is located on San Diego Avenue and Twigg Street, and is conveniently located next to the Old Town Transit Center, with Coaster, Trolley, and MTS bus service. Free parking is available at the CalTrans headquarters, just two blocks from the park at 4050 Taylor St.

For more information about the Historic Fourth of July celebration, call Old Town San Diego State Historic Park Visitor Center at 619-220-5422 or visit www.parks.ca.gov/oldtownsandiego.

Conflicting jurisdictions and rules for medical marijuana, which vary from state to state — and remain illegal under federal law — have left its use in legal limbo. In 1996, California voters passed Proposition 215, making it the first state in the union to allow for the medical use of marijuana. Since then, 19 more states, and the District of Columbia, have enacted similar laws.

But marijuana at the federal level remains classified as a Schedule I substance — considered to have a high potential for dependency and no accepted medical use — making its distribution a federal offense.

The Obama administration has sent a memo to federal prosecutors encouraging them not to prosecute people who distribute marijuana for medical purposes in accordance with state law.

The first two cooperative applications dealt with by Midway planners in June are located at 3430 Hancock St. and 3570-3572 Hancock St. After presentations by applicants on both projects, and discussion among planning group members of their merits, the two were conditionally approved by wide vote margins of 8-2-1 and 9-1-1, respectively.

One point of concern that among planners' discussion of both cooperatives was whether either would be considered to be too close to youth-oriented facilities to be legal under the city's new ordinance.

In question is whether both proposed cooperatives would be too near the Valley View Casino Center (formerly the San Diego Sports Arena) and nearby Rock and Roll San Diego, a building housing a music camp, either of which could be construed as "youth oriented" under current city guidelines.

Midway planners insisted that they expect cooperative applicants to come forward with complete plans prepared to discuss questions related to their providing ample parking and security for their facilities.

Planners were also concerned that applicants leasing portions of buildings for medical marijuana cooperatives not be allowed to expand beyond their designated areas.

City Council set to put brakes on proliferation of oversize vehicles

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

Local reaction to the oversize-vehicle ordinance (OVO), which is to take effect citywide in August, has been positive, with the general consensus being it will rid streets of unwanted vehicles while preserving quality of life.

"This gives people a clear way of complying with the ordinance while getting oversize vehicles off the streets," said Mayor Kevin Falconer, noting the ordinance is affordable for citizens who will be able to get temporary permits for recreational vehicles online.

"The oversize vehicle ordinance really addresses safety and quality-of-life issues," said District 2 City Councilman Ed Harris. "We already have a great deal of density in our beach communities and that density only increases during summer months."

Harris said oversize vehicles parked on city streets for weeks at a time is a problem.

"Visibility is reduced for drivers, and access to driveways and alleys is often compromised," he said. "Parking is already a challenge for folks coming down to the beach just for a day."

District 1 City Councilwoman Sherri Lightner agreed.

"This could provide some relief for parking-impacted beach communities and other non-coastal neighborhoods that have pervasive problems with oversize vehicles," Lightner said, adding the biggest complaints her office hears from local residents is that vehicles are too big for neighborhoods, causing public safety, quality-of-life and environmental problems.

The City Council adopted the revised Neighborhood Parking Protection Ordinance June 17, said city public information officer Bill Harris.

He said the ordinance bans overnight parking of "oversize vehicles, non-motorized vehicles and recreational vehicles."

Oversize vehicles are defined as any vehicle, including any attached trailers, vehicles or loads thereon, that exceeds 27 feet in length and 7 feet in height.

The new ordinance also allows owners of recreational vehicles to obtain a permit allowing overnight parking within one 24-hour period.

People's Watermelon Surprise
Serves 4

Watermelon juice is a perfect summer-time drink. Just one glass of this refreshing beverage supplies half your day's requirement for vitamin C, and a good amount of fiber, vitamin B6, manganese, and potassium.

Ingredients:

- 3 cups watermelon (seeded or seedless) cut into small chunks
- 1 cup frozen raspberries or strawberries
- 1 large orange, rind and seeds removed
- 1 lemon, rind and seeds removed
- 1 Lime sliced into rounds for garnish

Directions:

In a blender, puree all of the ingredients until desired consistency. Add extra orange juice or filtered water if too thick. Pour into chilled glasses and garnish with lime.

Health Scams Abound

Health scams have been around forever but it seems that there are more ways than ever to advertise miracle cures and "magic potions" with the Internet and e-mails bombarding us. A lot target diseases that have no cures such as diabetes, arthritis and Alzheimer's and the older person is the one that suffers most often with these diseases. You may see ads for:

Anti-aging medications. Aging is normal and as of this time, no treatment has been proven to reverse the aging process. Eating right, getting exercise and not smoking give you the best chance of aging well.

Arthritis cures. Symptoms of arthritis come and go. Cures with a product are unlikely. If you think you want to begin a new treatment, discuss it with your doctor.

Cancer cures. Cancer is frightening so scammers prey on that fear. There is no one treatment that can cure every type of cancer. Delaying conventional treatment may cause you to lose valuable time.

Memory aids. Many of us worry about forgetting things or losing our memory as we age. Many ads promise to keep or improve your memory with "smart" pills or removal of amalgam dental fillings. These are untested approaches and the buyer must be cautious.

Dietary supplements. Most dietary supplements do not undergo government testing before they go on the market. While some may be helpful, they may also interact with certain medicines and become dangerous. Be cautious of supplements that say they shrink tumors, solve impotence, or cure Alzheimer's. Talk to your doctor first.

Seniors Helping Seniors
Honors Client Who Served as WASP During WWII

During World War II, a select group of young women pilots became pioneers, heroes, and role models. They were the Women Airforce Service Pilots, WASP's, the first women in history trained to fly American military aircraft. The WASP program was born in 1942 to create a corps of female pilots able to fill all types of flying jobs at home, thus freeing male military pilots to travel to the front. Thirty-eight WASPs were killed in service in World War II and about 100 of the more than 1,000 WASPs are still alive today.

Seniors Helping Seniors is proud to provide assistance to one of these brave women, Beverly Beesemeyer, and honors her service to our country as we celebrate Independence Day. Seniors Helping Seniors caregivers have helped Beverly, who turns 96 on August 25, catalog her mementos and records to provide to museum and university historical collections. They also assist Beverly with her daily activities, drive her to appointments, and prepare meals, which Beverly describes as "the best." Beverly has been a client for over two years, "I am so happy with the services Seniors Helping Seniors provides, they do everything and I don't have to worry about a thing."

"Beverly is a delight and her caregivers understand and value the sacrifice Beverly and her fellow WASP's made during WWII," said Sue Erskine, co-owner of Seniors Helping Seniors, serving most of central, east and south San Diego including Point Loma, Coronado and La Jolla. David "Boomer" Wells, a Major League Baseball All-Star, former pitching phenom for the New York Yankees and San Diego Padres, Point Loma High School alum and now head baseball coach for PLHS, listens during a groundbreaking ceremony at Dana Field (now David Wells Field) on June 30.

cilmembers Lorie Zapf, Ed Harris and others for "their commitment and support" in working to "make things happen."

"What you put in is what you get out of it," Wells said.

Supported through Proposition Z funding, the Dana/Wells Field improvements include reconstruction of the bullpen and installation of a new center-field fence with access gates and wind-screens, utility upgrades and field logos.

"Refurbishment of Dana/Wells Field will 'make it a safer place,'" said John Murphy, Point Loma High athletic director, who added center-field fences are being brought in, as well as being black-screened to make it "easier to see the baseball."

"We're hoping to have it (renovation) completed before school resumes Sept. 2," Murphy said.

Dana's new artificial field is to include a painted track and field workout area to be used for youth PE education to focus on strength and agility training, as well as facilitating youth baseball.

Wells, a former New York Yankee, Toronto Blue Jay and San Diego Padre pitching star, and newly named baseball head coach for his alma mater at PLHS, was taken up by the San Diego Unified School District (SDUSD) on his offer to improve Dana Middle School's baseball field, which Point Loma High varsity and junior varsity teams also use.

But to do that required the city and school district to sever an agreement between them, under which the 7.3-acre field had been jointly operated since 1994. The field was turned over to exclusive SDUSD operation by the City Council earlier this year.

The city had been reluctant to let joint use of Dana Field go because the "Peninsula community is currently deficient in population-based parks by 78 acres," said Jim Winter of the city's Park and Recreation Department.

Renovation at Dana/Wells Field is part of improvements proposed for a trio of fields used for athletics throughout Point Loma. Upgrades elsewhere include a controversial proposal to add lighting at Point Loma High School, as well as plans to construct a new, $10 million, lighted four-field sports complex at Correia Middle School.

Correia sports enhancement is meant to address the growing need in the area for field space for both boys' and girls' sports.

"The Correia Sports Complex is meant to be the pinnacle for sports in Point

"What you put in is what you get out of it."

DAVID WELLS

Former professional baseball star, Point Loma High School alum and now head coach of the PLHS baseball team

Loma, with the focal point being youth and the high school," said Murphy, who noted that a large increase in girls' sports, everything from field hockey and lacrosse to softball in recent years has necessitated designating more play and practice field space areawide.

A proposal contained in PLHS's long-range site master plan now being revised would provide the previously unlit PLHS with stadium lights to consist of four 90-foot-high towers allowing for maximum lighting of the field and minimal spillover into nearby properties, said school officials.

The PLHS master plan athletic stadium upgrades will consist of bleacher renovation, installation of a press box and a new sound system, as well as stadium lighting.

But plans for the PLHS stadium lighting has drawn the ire of some neighbors, who fear the stadium complex project at Point Loma High may be a prelude to commercial use of athletic fields to generate revenue for SDUSD.

Fears about commercialism being the underpinning for improvements to Point Loma's three sports fields is completely unfounded, said SDUSD trustee Scott Barnett, who represents beach-area schools.

"That is an absolute false and disturbing rumor meant to frighten people about commercial use," said Barnett, who noted a full-blown environmental impact report is under way on proposed PLHS stadium lighting and addresses traffic and noise. "The neighborhood will not be impacted as much as some people think."

Pointing out PLHS is one of only three high schools districtwide whose stadium fields do not have lights (Mission Bay High has lights under construction), Barnett added the new Correia Sports Complex "will take the pressure off use of PLHS for sports tournaments and actually reduce the usage of high-impact events like big soccer tournaments currently going on at PLHS."

Murphy said upgrades under way at Dana/Wells Field do not include lighting. He said the new Correia Sports Complex, which could be completed as soon as summer 2015 if all goes well, does include lighting.

"But the lighting is not expected to be controversial because there's a big buffer around that school, with big, wide streets," said Murphy.

site, and Internet traffic has been strong, Grosch said.

One of the participating businesses, Rite-Aid, will observe a two-day sales ban July 3 and 4. Grosch also reported strong cooperation among businesses along Newport Avenue, though it's unclear when some of those businesses planned to clear their shelves.

During the 35th annual Street Fair and Chili Cook-Off Festival on June 28, marshmallows were abundant at OB Dollar Store, Newport Quik Stop and Super Max — the latter, ironically, even displayed a supportive "Mallow Out" poster on its door.

At those businesses that do choose to sell marshmallows, Grosch called on non-marshmallow throwers to buy up the supply and ask those merchants to refrain from selling until after July 4.

The citizen Peace Patrol was suggested by the San Diego Police Department, but the volunteers won't be doing anything resembling law enforcement, said Dave Cieslak, the OBTC's public relations chairman.

They'll be out and about before and after the fireworks display in blue T-shirts as ambassadors to the campaign.

"The idea is not to be seizing marshmallows," Cieslak said. "We just want people out there talking, explaining what happened last year and just chatting about how we can make this a peaceful, fun and clean Fourth of July."

Receptacles will be available for citizens who can be persuaded to donate marshmallows to the Girl Scouts, Cieslak said.

Will police cite revelers for throwing marshmallows? Police "have agreed to do what they're calling 'appropriate enforcement action,'" Cieslak said, "meaning, if they see something, they're going to take action if they see a crime being committed."

How this approach will differ from previous years is unclear. Lt. Natalie Stone, who addresses the OBTC on behalf of the Western Division, did not return phone calls or emails asking for clarification.

But Cieslak offered: "They're not going to ticket every single person who throws a marshmallow. Let's be honest here. That would get kind of ridiculous. But they're going to be out there. They're going to staff up. They've been working with us since Day 1."

WHEN THE SUN MEETS THE FUN IN OCEAN BEACH

Face painting at Artists' Alley.

Visitors check out the host of samplings at the chili cook-off contest.

Another estimated 70,000 visitors descended on Ocean Beach for the 35th annual OB Street Fair and Chili Cook-Off Festival on June 28. Fun-loving guests took part in everything from the street fair and chili cook-off to adding their personal touches to the Ocean Beach community mural, absorbing the vibes of Artists' Alley, soaking up the massive music line-ups and just being kids in the children's fun zone. Photos by Jim Grant Street fairgoers catch the community mural-painting fever.

Musicians, many from the Ocean Beach community, rocked the house on multiple stages.

A youngster finds a ride to sink his teeth into at the street fair.

A first-ever Ocean Beach Street Fair bikini contest puts contestants center stage.

Newly adopted city budget gives boost to lifeguards, libraries, parks and police office said.

The news is mostly good for public safety, infrastructure improvements and parks and libraries in San Diego City Council District 2's beach areas, as the city's adopted 2014 budget devotes more funding to those areas which have largely gone wanting in recent, more fiscally lean times.

Among other things, the new budget, which took effect July 1, adds four hours a week at branch libraries, keeping them open more hours than they've been in a decade.

The 2014 budget also will bring police staffing to 2,000 in fiscal 2015 — higher than it's been in at least four years. The new budget also will increase, from 34 to 43, recruits at police academies.

San Diego Mayor Kevin Faulconer's adopted budget proposal also beefs up public safety by providing raises for police officers to improve retention, purchasing body cameras for officers, creation of two more fire fighter academies and appropriating $600,000 for the Fire-Rescue Department's Fast Response Program, which are two-person, fast-response squads in neighborhoods relatively far from fire stations, allowing them to arrive at emergencies earlier than standard four-person fire engines located farther away.

Faulconer came up with $12 million more in additional revenue than he anticipated in this year's budget and wants to spend it on parks and other neighborhood services. That extra money comes from revised predictions about how much money the city will make in fiscal 2015, including a $7.2 million increase in projected property-tax revenue and $1.4 million extra in hotel-room taxes, the mayor's

San Diego Lifeguard chief Rick Wurts said he liked what he sees in the fiscal year 2015 budget, noting it has several additions designed to improve lifeguard operations.

"The first improvement is the addition of one daily lifeguard 24-hour shift at the Boating Safety Unit (BSU)," Wurts said, noting the BSU conducts a wide variety of boating rescue and enforcement functions.

"It also serves as support to all other lifeguard districts within the city during periods of increased activity or emergency incidents. This will provide enhanced staffing in support of boating operations and relieve the strain placed on the BSU during periods where personnel resources are stretched or depleted," he said.

The Lifeguard Division is also receiving $500,000 to relocate the Park and Recreation Department's carpenter shop at Quivira Basin to another city facility.

"The carpenter shop space at Quivira Basin will then be converted into a locker room and sleep quarters for members of the BSU who work the 24-hour shift," he said. "Currently, they are being housed in trailer facilities."

Another $60,000 is being provided to purchase and install three boat motors needed for a lifeguard fire boat.

"We are extremely grateful to the mayor and City Council for the exceptional support they give to all public safety in San Diego," said Wurts. "These additional resources will certainly enhance Lifeguard Division capabilities and allow us to provide even stronger service to the community."

WWW.CUTTINGEDGEK9.COM CUTTING EDGE K9 REHAB Has Been Featured On Local & National News, Radio, A Number Of Local Papers & Magazine Articles.

Swimming is one of our strongest recommendations for most K9's. It is an ideal form of exercise for a many reasons. Our rehab services offer assisted swimming in a warm water environment. The benefits are: • Non-weight-bearing (reducing stress on joints) • Facilitates full use of the front and hind legs vs. partial use as seen with underwater treadmills • Dogs are often able to actively swim although unable to move their legs on land (due to stroke/ spinal injury) • Allows manual techniques by therapist/ manual resistance to an affected limb • Swimming in a controlled environment is the safest way for clients to exercise. • Speeds recovery following injury/ surgery • Improves function & quality of life • Works reciprocal muscle groups (helps correct muscle imbalances) • Reduces pain & inflammation • Reduces canine obesity thus decreasing the risk of other health-related problems • Increases strength, range of motion & cardiovascular conditioning • Prevents overheating through proper water temperature • Increases tolerance for extended cardiovascular training • Decreases recovery time • Reduces post-exercise soreness • Provides good cross training for the competitive, athletic dog (619) 227-7802

ON VACATION WITH THE PENINSULA BEACON

It's vacation time! Peninsula Beacon readers are heading out of town and taking their favorite hometown paper with them! Take us with you to whatever corner of the world you may be visiting and share your trip with other readers. Tell us your name and/or the names of your family members in the photo and give us a brief description of where the shot was taken. Email the photo and the information to beacon@sdnews.com. It's that easy! Photos are published based on space constraints and in the order in which they are submitted.

Point Loma resident Gary Pergl took the Beacon with him on his most recent trip to Afghanistan, shown here in front of International Security Assistance Force, the NATO base coordinating all security assistance in the country and to the U.S. Embassy in Kabul, Afghanistan. He has been going to Afghanistan for the last five years to help administer the State Department's Fulbright Fellowship program, which brings about 75 Afghan students to the U.S. every year to pursue master's degrees.

Point Loma resident Dr. Lisa Saarni took her favorite hometown newspaper to the Temple of Ceres in the ancient city at Paestum in Southern Italy.

THANK YOU! to all the Musicians that support the OB Street Fair!

Brothers Gow - Originally from Flagstaff, AZ., brothers gow is currently based out of San Diego, CA. Borrowing from a massive cache of influences, this funk-rock-improv quintet relies on thoughtful lyrics, deep grooves, and improvisational tact that keeps each show fresh and unique. Brothers Gow is: Alex Gow Bastine (Keys, vox), Carson Church (Bass), Kyle Merrill (Guitar, vox, trumpet), Ethan Wade (Guitar, vox), and Nathan Walsh-Haines (drums, vox). The band claims an eclectic fusion of rock, funk, jazz, and reggae as the broad genres they play within. Combine the bands energetic stage presence with powerful vocal harmonies, complex arrangements, ripping guitar solos and the bands awe inspiring light show, and you get the recipe for a truly memorable concert experience. They are a valued member of their community and have partnered with Ocean Beach Rock and Roll to provide music lessons to children. They have also recently raised enough money to put an instrument in every classroom at Ocean Beach Elementary.

Red Lotus Revue - Blues Band Based in North Park San Diego. A mix of musicians, The Red Lotus Revue is made up of Karl Cabbage on harmonica/vocals, Jimmy Zollo on guitar, Pete Fazzini on Guitar, and Kurt Kalker on drums. These seasoned musicians have played all over Southern California, Memphis, and Chicago land areas.

MARKLAND - MARKLAND is an energetic and original blues/funk/rock group born and raised right here in Ocean Beach. The band consists of guitarist/singer Aaron Markland, brother/bass player Justin Markland, father/harmonica player Steve "Tunker" Markland, and good friend/drummer Randy Jones.

Agua Dulce - Agua Dulce was founded in the Summer of 1997 in the Chicano Suburbs of Chula Vista, CA. It all began in a little garage at 176 Bethune Way. This little garage in the charming barrio of Otay, spawned some of the best music and musicians to come out of South Bay San Diego in the mid 1990's. Imagine a mix of Afro-Cuban, Santana, 80's and 90's angst and love, Jim Morrison meets Cal Tjader, Eddie Palmieri meets Bill Withers at a saloon near you. Music that invokes spirits of the past can only mean it carries soul that endures. Agua Dulce represents that soul and plays it like it lives- Latin Soul.

Electric Waste Band - With a standing Monday night gig at local favorite, Winstons OB, Electric Waste Band's unique interpretations of over 150 Grateful Dead tunes have made the band San Diego's favorite Grateful Dead tribute band. The high energy sound the band produces is the result of the enthusiastic crowds that gather each and every Monday night at Winston's since 1992. Rather than play the traditional licks, the band focuses on the unique fact that unlike any other band, The Grateful Dead does not have a definitive version of their songs. Where-as any other tribute band is delegated to playing the signature licks and solos that we all know by heart; The Grateful Dead's music is a luxury for musicians in that it provides endless opportunity for exploration. The Electric Waste Band prides itself in the fact that; where the Dead would guide you safely up the hill and back down, The Waste Band, once leading you up the hill, pushes you over the cliff! High Voltage Dead is the mantra...

Doggie Street Festival to spotlight World Pups Parade, authors

The Doggie Street Festival, Southern California's largest adoption-focused event, takes place Saturday, July 12 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at NTC Park in Liberty Station in Point Loma.

Friendly dogs, accompanied by their two-footed companions, can check out specialty vendors who will offer the latest trends in fashion, accessories, leashes, leads and pet-food products and extraordinary services to pamper pooches.

Last year, thousands of dog lovers attended to celebrate and adopt from the more than 40 rescue groups and shelters who offered up adoptable dogs and cats. A record-breaking number of 166-plus animals found new loving families on Doggie Street Festival Day 2013.

This year, Helen Woodward, Rancho Coastal, SD Humane, SNAP, chihuahua, Aztec doberman, spaniel, golden retriever and German shepherd rescues will be represented.

New this year will be the festival's Pet Book Pavilion, featuring best-selling authors who will appear in person and sign books.

At 10 a.m., doggies will parade in soccer jerseys paying tribute to their favorite World Cup teams.

VCA Animal Hospital of San Diego will provide complimentary pet exams and goodie bags to adopting parents. Veterinary Specialty Hospital will also host a hands-on, pet-focused kids' art booth.

This is a free, family-fun celebration. NTC Park at Liberty Station is located at 2455 Cushing Road.

WHAT'S AHEAD?

Peninsula-area events, July 12-28

SATURDAY, July 12

Friends of Famosa Slough will host a work party at Famosa Slough to care for California native plants and remove invasive plants from 9 a.m. to noon. Participants are asked to meet inside gate east of the bus stop, near the southeast corner of W. Point Loma and Famosa boulevards. For more information, call (619) 224-4591.

THURSDAY, July 17

The Ocean Beach Historical Society will present a free presentation titled "WWII Comes to OB" at 7 p.m. at the Point Loma United Methodist Church, 1984 Sunset Cliffs Blvd. The presentation will feature speaker Dedi Ridenour, who will transport audience member back to the frightening start of World War II, as experienced in Ocean Beach. Ridenour will share details from a 72-year-old historical piece written by her mother, in which her mother tells of hearing "War is Declared!," seeing armed soldiers patrolling Sunset Cliffs Boulevard, a hair-raising 45-mile trip in blackout, martial law and air raids. Hear the actual unpublished words of a Navy doctor's wife journal describing the anxiety, bravery and courage of Obecans as they faced possible invasion by Japan in the first weeks of the war, about O.B. Elementary School's air-raid drills, finding k-rations washed up on shore and how growing up in a war affected these children later. For more information, visit obhistory.wordpress.com.

AUG. 1-2

Visionary Dance Theatre will present "Travelogue: An Evening of Dance with Jeanne Travers and Dancers" from 8 to 10 p.m. both days at the Performing Arts Center at Point Loma High School, located at 2335 Chatsworth Blvd. Tickets are $13 advanced sale or $18 at the door. For more information or to register, visit www.visionarydancetheatre.org/-Gallery/2014_VDT_FallDanceConcert, or call (619) 758-8112.

tor Kerri De Rosier. "They like listening to music that they're familiar with."

With an expected 2,000 people per gig, it's become one of the most coveted events for local performers.

"It used to be that we had to go find the bands, but now they find us," De Rosier joked. "We send our members out to go see the bands. We like to have a mix, so we have some Motown, we've got some good old rock 'n' roll, the Beatles, Neil Diamond. We like to appeal to a wide audience."

Early concert guests will also be treated to opening sets on a "junior stage," featuring area youngsters who kick things off at 5:30 p.m., with the main-stage music taking place from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. This year's future rock stars include Fate By Friday on July 11, The Non Prophets on July 7/18, First Friday Music Club on July 25, The Sahara Grim Quartet on Aug. 1 and The California Sirens on Aug. 8.

Concertgoers are encouraged to bring a folding chair or blanket to enjoy the music, but they can also order dinner from one of the catering sponsors that will offer a different taste treat per event.

Supanee serves up food July 11 (Thai food); Miguel's Cocina on July 18 (fish tacos); The Peninsula Lions Club on July 25, (hot dogs and bratwursts); The Harbor Town Pub on Aug. 1 (wings and sliders); and Stump's Family Marketplace on Aug. 8 (fried-chicken dinners).

The event is a labor of love for all, from the 11-person board of directors to the 50 volunteers, whose duties range from cleanup to selling raffle tickets.

The PLSC Board of Directors recently donated $2500 to Dana Middle School's Music Program. The donation will enable the school's band director, Ruben Flores, to purchase and repair instruments for his fifth- and sixth-grade classes.

With its mix of food, music and beautiful weather, the Point Loma Summer Concert Series is a great way to hear some favorite tunes and help the area's residents connect.

"It is a wonderful community event," said De Rosier. "It brings all ages together. We have everybody from toddlers to senior citizens, all coming together to enjoy music."

She's said "community" is more than a buzz word when it comes to the summer concert series.

"It's also a really great collaborative event. We have gate greeters who are Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, as well as the Optimist club, Point Loma Rotary, Point Loma Association and more. So, in addition to the great entertainment, it's a way to bring a bunch of other community groups together," she said.

Point Loma Park is located at 1049 Catalina Blvd. near the intersection of Varona Street. Free parking is provided at All Souls' Episcopal Church, located at 1475 Catalina Blvd. Enter the parking lot on Chatsworth Boulevard.

A free shuttle runs between All Souls' parking lot and the Point Loma Park from 5:30 to 8:45 p.m.
