New leader takes reins at Point Loma Association

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

There will be a changing of the guard at Point Loma Association's annual town hall forum and election from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Tuesday, May 24 at the Portuguese Hall at 2818 Avenida de Portugal.

Clark Anthony

Outgoing PLA president Robert (Tripp) Jackson will be passing the gavel to Clark Anthony Burlingame (known professionally as Clark Anthony).

This year's forum/election format is diverging from that of recent years. Instead of having the traditional three guest speakers, the town hall will have a panel discussion instead.

The itinerary:

- 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. – "Meet Your Neighbors." Local organizations and businesses will be available to meet at their displays inside the hall.

The popular Ocean Beach restaurant, co-owned and operated by David Martin and his son-in-law, Jeff Levitt, at 5083 Santa Monica Ave. for more than 13 years, has changed hands.

The Martins and Levitts told their employees at the end of April that they had sold the restaurant, which will close after Labor Day. The buyers were three high-profile restaurateurs – Mina Desiderio, Hoffman Leung and Brendan Huffman – who intend to remodel the space and reopen as new-look OB Surf Lodge.

CHRISTIE'S INTERNATIONAL REAL ESTATE

The new venture, located at 2620 Truxtun Road, occupies the former building No. 35, previously known as LUCE Auditorium, originally a 2,200-seat theater.

The Lot restaurant, cinemas open in Liberty Station

The Lot, a luxury lifestyle entertainment company, opened its second location at Liberty Station in Point Loma on May 5, providing a luxurious, comfortable dining, drinking and cinema-going experience.

"The Lot Liberty Station will provide guests with the utmost in service, high-quality dining and cinema experience, with our signature luxury leather theater recliners; a social cocktail scene and fantastic breakfast, lunch, dinner and in-theater dining options – all with unique elements that pay homage to the building's original function as the Naval Training Center's epicenter of military troop training and entertainment," said Adolfo Fastlicht, chief executive officer at The Lot.

The new venture, located at 2620 Truxtun Road, occupies the former building No. 35, previously known as LUCE Auditorium, originally a 2,200-seat theater and equipped with CinemaScope (a lens series used from 1953 to 1967 for shooting widescreen movies, the creation of which marked the beginning of modern widescreen movie projection), a projector and screen where military training features and movies were shown.

The cinema's design preserves the building's original oak stage and exposed concrete proscenium, where the curtains once hung. Created to honor the past as well as current, leading-edge design, the cinema also features a completely glass-enclosed café, bar and restaurant space that lends itself to an eclectic balance of reinvented use in a rehabilitated historic building.

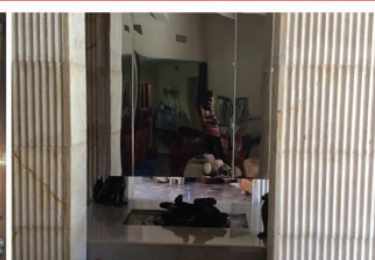

The restaurant will feature stand-out breakfast entrée selections including an open-face sandwich with prosciutto and arugula and "killer" chilaquiles. Created by chef Matt Sramek, the lunch and dinner menus will focus on sharable plates, fresh salads and hearth oven-baked flatbreads with Mediterranean, Italian, French and Mexican influences, plus a wide and dynamic selection of European-influenced dishes that spotlight the finest offerings of both land and sea.

The restaurant will also boast creative and intricate desserts by pastry chef Alejandra Pitashny.

Owners Dr. Katrin and Charles Gillespie

Owners Jeanne and Mickey Flynn

Thank you all for your entries to our Beacon Fireplace Design Contest following our event on Sim Bruce Richards' mid century modern designs in Point Loma. One of his important design elements was the fireplace. That inspired us to find out what other fireplace designs were in our community.

As Charles Gillespie, one of our winner's said, "Sim Bruce Richards hearths, even more so than his fireplaces, were really the heart of the home. The photo above is an early example - 1947 - of a Sim Bruce Richards cornerstone element."

Our other winner, Jeanne Flynn told us, "Our home is a mid century design with a remodel by Architect Gerald Jerome and interior design by Arthur Porras. The fireplace is a outstanding feature and sets the tone for the theme of the house."

Sip coffee and satisfy your tech craving in Point Loma

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

Something new is coming to Point Loma: a techie coffee shop.

In the space formerly inhabited by Ballast Point Pub at 1304 Rosecrans St., TechOutfitters, a new hybrid retail experience blending coffee with high-tech, is coming this summer.

TechOutfitters will combine local, craft-roasted coffee drinks with professional mobile device repair services and a retail showroom highlighting emerging technology goods.

Koren Lilburn, TechOutfitters vice president of sales, said the new business venture seeks to accomplish a number of goals.

"We're going to do a few things, starting with bringing to Point Loma the best craft-roasted coffees being produced in San Diego into a tasting room," Lilburn said. "In addition, we'll also be doing mobile device repairs with trained and certified staff. We'll also have a retail showroom exhibiting emerging TechOutfitters will be a new hybrid retail experience blending coffee with high-tech gadgets.

global technology brands."

Mobile devices will be repaired at TechOutfitters in a clean, trustworthy and inviting environment – "perhaps while you enjoy a tasty cuppa Joe from premium roasters like Café Virtuoso and Swell Café," said Lilburn, adding she and others are looking forward to giving Point Lomans an opportunity to experience emerging consumer electronics, premium brands and unique products with unsurpassed customer service in a modern retail space.

How to make your home "smart," what technological tools can help students succeed, info about health wearables, educational toys, cool waterproof gadgets and emerging consumer electronics like Hush Smart Earplugs will be showcased at TechOutfitters, Lilburn said.

Jon Linney, newly elected president of Peninsula Community Planning Board, said TechOutfitters' hybrid concept could be the start of something new in Point Loma's Roseville neighborhood.

"TechOutfitters, a business coming soon to Dickens and Rosecrans streets, will be even more than a combination sidewalk coffee bar and techno gadget sales and repair store," Linney said. "It will be an example of how appealing businesses can jumpstart walkable districts."

Lilburn said TechOutfitters will have two primary objectives: becoming a trusted retail advisor that will provide valuable consumer marketing input and building an active virtual community that follows and promotes technology.

"We'll be using technology to extend our brick-and-mortar impact with our customers, showcasing brand assets and allowing customers to arrange service appointments, pre-order coffee and do in-store pick-up orders complete with customer gift wrapping, if desired," Lilburn said.

Lilburn said TechOutfitters will be cutting edge.

"There are a number of different mobile accessories being developed for smart devices, everything from cases to Blue Tooth keyboards and speakers to headphones and earbuds and protective glass," she noted. "There's an entire ecosystem around smart devices today which make our lives easier."

"We're going to be an upscale technology retailer that offers mobile device services as well as providing great local coffees to our Point Loma community," Lilburn said.

"We're super-excited and will love working with all our neighbors to provide them with new technology that will help them," Lilburn said.

Former SeaWorld manager pleads guilty to wire fraud

By NEAL PUTNAM | THE BEACON

A former manager at SeaWorld pleaded guilty May 5 to wire fraud as he defrauded the company out of $818,000 by creating 100 invoices on his work computer for a phony merchandise company that claimed to sell products to the marine mammal park.

Sebastian Jobin, 47, also pleaded guilty to filing a false tax return on which he never reported the illegal funds he received.

On Friday, U.S. District Court Judge Jeffrey Miller renewed his earlier order to detain Jobin without bail in the Metropolitan Correctional Center.

Sentencing was set for Aug. 5. Jobin could receive a maximum sentence of 23 years in federal prison.

Jobin billed SeaWorld from a sham business he created called SJ Merchandise. He claimed packages of merchandise such as "sea creature rings," "purple shiny ornaments" and wildlife animal bookmarks were sold to SeaWorld, but no deliveries or packing slips could be found.

The company's address was listed as his own residence in Mission Hills, and he was suspended from SeaWorld on Jan. 22, 2015 when the firm discovered a link between him and SJ Merchandise. His name and that of his former roommate were listed as co-owners with the California Secretary of State.

Some of the invoices were billed for less than $10,000, a financial threshold that would have triggered scrutiny by SeaWorld management.

"We are dedicated to protecting our local businesses, citizens and taxpayers from corruption," said U.S. Attorney Laura Duffy in a statement. "Business insiders who abuse the trust of their employers and the community will be held accountable and brought to justice."

Court documents also show that Jobin defrauded the co-owner of SJ Merchandise through identity theft and used credit cards in his name. That man was left with debt of $177,000.

Jobin was charged under his full legal name, Wilfred David Joseph Jobin-Reyes, but used the name of Sebastian Jobin in business and entertainment ventures. He was arrested in Dallas in March.

"Mr. Jobin-Reyes abused his position as a manager at SeaWorld for his own selfish gain; when that was not enough, he went on to defraud the government by claiming false expenses and failing to report significant income on his tax return," said Aimee Schabillon, acting special agent for IRS criminal investigation.

Fundraiser set for PLHS administrator battling cancer

Point Loma High School vice principal Kevin Gormly is continuing to battle a brain tumor found in October after he experienced severe headaches.

Now, a fundraiser is being planned at his wife's school, and a GoFundMe account has been set up to help his family.

Despite Gormly's several surgeries and setbacks, his family remains courageous in supporting the administrator, who is well liked by students and staff. A fundraiser walk is planned for Monday, May 23 at St. Augustine High School, 3266 Nutmeg St., where Gormly's wife works. The event, titled "Show Your Love for La Familia Gormly," begins at 5:30 p.m. Donations can also be made at gofundme.com/22kgef4u.

A history of Gormly's illness posted on social media by his family says he was diagnosed with glioblastoma and gliosarcoma, a very rare and aggressive type of brain cancer. Gormly underwent surgery, but physicians were unable to remove all the tumor. Gormly began radiation and chemo soon after to kill the remaining part of the tumor.

Near Christmas, Gormly again began experiencing severe headaches, and further testing showed he had a small new tumor and that the original tumor was growing. Further radiation and two types of chemo followed.

Soon, the incision site reopened, and he was given a three-week break before further chemo, during which he was able to enjoy himself and play outside with his children.

In early April, Gormly experienced a setback when two new small tumors were identified in a different location. In late April, doctors found these new tumors had grown aggressively.

Early this month, Gormly returned home under hospice care and is reported to be resting comfortably.

The family's social media message says, "Kevin's prognosis is not good, and it has devastated our family. We ask that you keep Kevin and our family in your prayers. We know that God works miracles, and we believe that Kevin is a miracle himself."

Gormly has worked at Point Loma High School for nearly two decades and has taken a strong interest in the school's rich history.

ful... it just seemed like the right time," said Levitt, noting OB Surf Lodge will "not be an extension of Wonderland but an entirely new restaurant."

Among them, the three-member ownership group own several other local eateries, including Wonderland Ocean Pub, The Local (downtown and Pacific Beach), Bayside Landing and Resident Brewing Company.

"Our goal is to create a new local venue that is connected to the heart of OB like Shades was," said Brendan Huffman in a release. "We plan on continuing our participation and support of local cultural and community events such as the Christmas parade, fireworks and the chili cook-off."

Of their new Surf Lodge menu, Huffman said it will be "focused mostly on breakfast, and the vibe will have a chill, beach atmosphere — good food, good views, good people."

Huffman added the Surf Lodge, like Shades before it, will be "family- and dog-friendly."

Buying into Shades was a no-brainer at the time, said Levitt, noting his business partner in-law, Dave Martin, is a lifelong restaurateur who previously had been involved with both Boll Weevil and Taco Bell chains. Martin has also been active on a number of civic fronts over the years, including a past presidency of OB Town Council.

Ocean Beach Pier 50th Anniversary Art Show exhibit set for June

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

Ocean Beach MainStreet Association received about 50 submissions by the May 6 deadline for the Ocean Beach Pier 50th Anniversary Art Show.

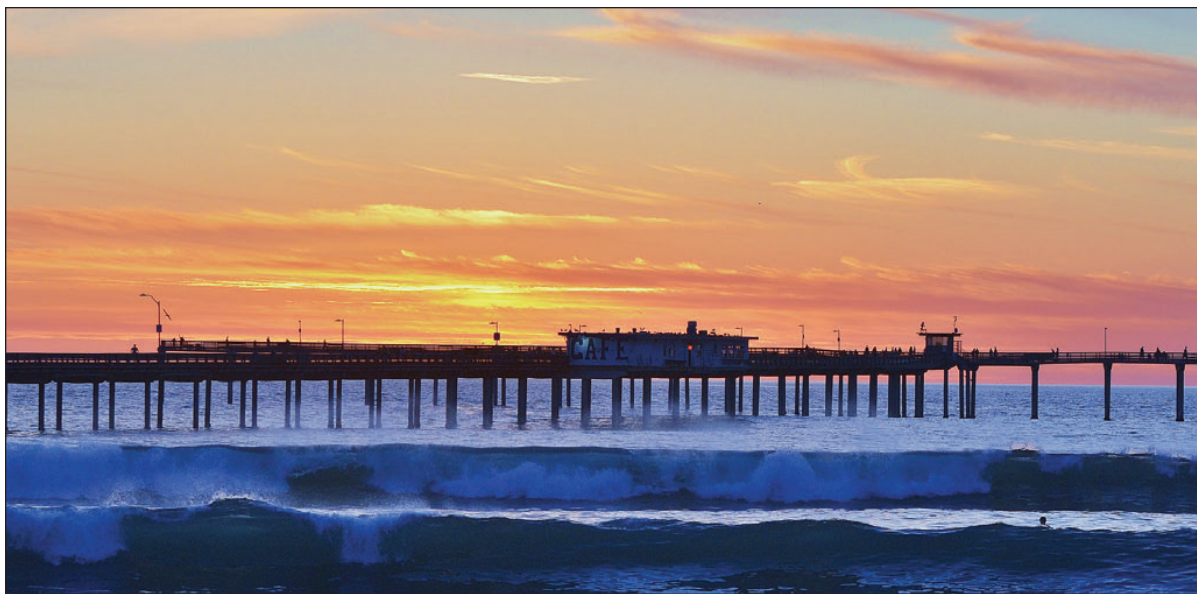

"We will judge the art and make a (winning) selection, and all the artists will know who that is by May 20," said Isabel Clark, the association's programs director.

On July 2, Ocean Beach's iconic pier officially passes the half-century mark. On that date in 1966, 7,000 of San Diego's then 600,000 residents turned out to celebrate the pier's official opening. The pier's ribbon cutting was presided over by San Diego Mayor Frank Curran and Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown, father of current California Gov. Jerry Brown.

Clark said the beach community's Business Improvement District was pleased by the submissions, noting the art was "in a wide variety of media, everything from sculpture to photography to different styles of paintings – watercolors, oils, acrylics."

Submitted artwork will be exhibited at Teeter gallery/boutique, at 5032 Niagara Ave. in Ocean Beach, from June 30 to July 31.

"Our job now is to figure out how we can fit as much as we can of what was submitted into the space we have," Clark said, adding, "The exhibit should be really good, and people will enjoy seeing different interpretations of the pier."

Sunsets don't get any better at the pier in Ocean Beach. The OB Pier will turn 50 on July 2.

Clark wasn't surprised by the turnout, noting, "We have so many talented artists here in OB, and the pier is such an inspiring place."

The entries will be unveiled at a public reception Thursday, June 30 at Teeter from 6 to 9 p.m. There will be an opportunity for artists to sell their work during the monthlong exhibit.

Three other events will be held as part of the pier's 50th anniversary in OB: Saturday, July 2, OB Pier Anniversary Walk and Celebration; Monday, July 4, Annual Fireworks off the OB Pier; and Thursday, July 21, Peninsula Beacon special section about the OB Pier.

Although the OB Pier quickly became a popular destination for locals and tourists, its original purpose was strictly for fishing. Local fishermen needed a way to prevent their lines and lures from getting tangled in the vast kelp and rock beds that lie near the surface of the water near the shores.

The construction of the pier enabled anglers to fish in 25 to 30 feet of water, avoiding most of the shoreline kelp and enabling them to catch species of fish that live in deeper waters.

The pier extends 1,971 feet into the ocean and is the second-longest pier on the West Coast. It is purported to be the longest concrete pier in the world. Its unique T-shape at the end adds 360 feet to the south and 193 feet to the north.

Founded in 1978, the Ocean Beach MainStreet Association comprises area merchants and professionals dedicated to building a thriving business district that fulfills the needs of the neighboring community and visitors alike.

Keep California Great!

For too long, we have sent "representatives" to Sacramento with the belief they will act in the best interest of California and Californians and each of us. Sadly, that has not been the case.

I am running for the California State Assembly because it is time to bring honesty and integrity to Sacramento. It is time to reign-in bloated government spending that does not benefit those it is intended to benefit.

It is time to lower taxes on hard-working Californians so they can invest in their families and their communities. It is time to lower the regulatory and tax burdens on California employers so they can keep jobs here instead of moving them overseas or to other states.

It is time to redirect and rededicate tax money the state collects to the purpose they were established to address.

It is time to dedicate more tax-money to schools and I will concentrate on getting the money into the classrooms and the teachers.

It is time to do more to help our seniors and veterans through efficient and common-sense programs to meet their pressing needs.

If you give me the honor to represent and serve you, I will go to Sacramento to achieve these goals. And to lead by example, I will give $50,000 of salary for use in classrooms in my district.

Kevin Melton: Doing what is RIGHT, not what is EASY.

Point Loma football to play county powers

By SCOTT HOPKINS | THE BEACON

Several new opponents and membership in a new league will highlight the 2016 Point Loma High School football season.

Based on their strong performance in recent seasons, the Pointers will move up to an Eastern League that will undoubtedly be one of the toughest in the CIF's San Diego Section, and there should be no shortage of rivalries in the new format.

The 2016 Eastern League games will match the Pointers against perennial county powers Cathedral Catholic and St. Augustine, two private schools with more liberal allowances in filling their rosters.

In fact, when the Pointers made three consecutive trips to Qualcomm Stadium as a CIF Div. III finalist, it was the Saints (46-14 in 2005), (17-7 in 2006) and Dons (41-3 in 2007) who defeated them. Then, in the Pointers' fourth stadium trip, it was the Dons who again drove a dagger through Pointer hearts with a 20-14 come-from-behind win in 2009.

From the period between 1993 and 2014 when schools were grouped for playoff competition by enrollment, private schools won 14 Div. III titles, led by the Dons (eight times) and the Saints (two titles and five runners-up).

Teams are now assigned to divisions based on their record over the past five seasons, a move local CIF administrators felt would help even the playing field for all schools. Following each year, division assignments are re-evaluated and changes made.

Another rivalry continues in the new Eastern League with Pointer nemesis Madison also coming on board. The Warhawks have been dominant since joining the Western League for the 2010 season, winning the league title every year since except for 2011, when the Pointers battled them to a 13-13 tie in a memorable rainy-night donnybrook at Madison.

The Pointers have yet to defeat the Warhawks in league play, coming no closer than a 28-14 loss in 2012 before their worst loss in the series last year, when Madison crushed them 48-0 on Bennie Edens Field.

Holdover Mira Mesa, who finished 7-5 overall (1-2 in the Eastern League) last year, rounds out the league.

Besides these league opponents, the Pointers' early games coming up include repeat matches with El Camino (28-21 Pointer loss last year); Ramona, (20-18 win); Lincoln (21-0 win) and Olympian (21-14 loss).

New to the schedule this year is South Bay power Bonita Vista, who finished 12-3 (4-0 in the Metro Mesa League) enroute to a 52-14 destruction of Mission Bay for the CIF Div. III championship before defeating Canyon (Anaheim) and before losing to Hanford, Cal. 33-21 in a state bowl game.

Also new is El Cajon's Christian High School, who finished 8-4 (4-0 to win the City League crown).

Gone, for now, is the annual "Shoe Game" against La Jolla, one of the county's longest rivalries, which the Pointers have won with regularity in recent years.

Watch the Amgen Tour of California as it rolls through Mission Bay

By JENNY WERTH | THE BEACON

Olympic medalists, Tour de France competitors and other pros will kick off the Amgen Tour of California race in Mission Bay's Ski Beach at 11:30 a.m. Sunday, May 15.

At least 16 teams of eight riders will begin the trek through 106 miles of San Diego's diverse terrain with thousands of spectators vying for the ideal place to watch them start the race.

This is North America's largest cycling event. Stage 1 begins at Mission Bay and goes through Balboa Park, downtown, Imperial Beach and other San Diego neighborhoods before returning west on Garnet Avenue to finish in Mission Bay about 3:40 p.m. Last year, the tour was broadcast in more than 200 countries as world-class riders cruised through the course.

Here are some of the best spots to watch the cyclists spin by as they begin the weeklong 800-mile race.

Mission Bay

This free lifestyle festival is open to the public and will be staged at the race's finish line at 1500 Quivira Way, near Marina Village from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

This daylong viewing spot will host entertainment and fun for the whole family with more than 40 exhibitors, various local bands providing music, booths for cancer and cardiovascular awareness education, cycling-themed products and demos, family activities and a Michelob Ultra beer garden with outdoor video screens. More than 3,000 people are expected to attend. Plan on arriving by 12:30 p.m.

Veteran's Corner

This special spot, at Civita Life Mission Valley from 1 to 4 p.m., was created for military families; however it's also free and open to the public. In fact, it's San Diego's version of the Tour de France Dutch Corner.

"For us to replicate the feeling of international racing, we have the Veteran's Corner. (Riders) go right down Friars Road in front of the property," said Ed Clancy, chairman of the Amgen Tour of California – San Diego Local Organizing Committee.

There will be live music, food trucks and children's games including a bounce house along with TVs streaming the race. Plus, this location is on the actual race course – you can watch the riders breeze by live.

The Lot La Jolla

The Lot in La Jolla will have a free block-party type atmosphere for watching the race from 1 to 4 p.m. There will even be a spin class while the race is under way so one can feel motivated. Expect food and drink specials along with some Amgen Tour of California swag-bag giveaways.

There are other viewing locations throughout the city as well, such as along Garnet Avenue and Ingraham Street in Pacific Beach. Visit www.amgentourofcalifornia.com for more viewing spots and information.

It was a priority for Clancy to bring the race spotlight to San Diego.

"We were looking for something better and bolder... it's important to bridge the gap between international teams and our community," he said. "Knowing we have such a strong and healthy living community, we wanted to engage communities both on the race route and off the route with viewing locations," he said.

ENJOY THE BEAUTY OF OLD TOWN

Mention Old Town San Diego and most folks will start talking about Mexican food whether it's the restaurant their family has been going to for generations or a new discovery they've made recently. And rightly so. If there is a capital of Mexican cuisine in San Diego, it's definitely Old Town.

Increasingly, though, people are discovering what locals have known for years. Old Town is also the place to go for shopping and Fiesta de Reyes is the place to hit up if you're in the market for a unique gift or specialty item you just can't find anywhere else.

Fiesta de Reyes is home to 19 unique specialty shops featuring authentic, historically themed, one-of-a-kind items that are perfect for gifts or for yourself. From hot sauces to silver jewelry, from olive oil to toys, from unique garden items to original artwork, books to wine to jerky all of the specialty shops of Fiesta de Reyes are locally owned and independently operated.

Of course, if you really want authentic Mexican food with your shopping, Fiesta de Reyes also features three fantastic restaurants that celebrate San Diego's rise from a Mexican village to a thriving culinary and commercial mecca. Add to that, the nightly entertainment and Fiesta de Reyes is not just a shopping center, it's a vibrant shopping and dining experience.

For more on the shopping, dining and entertainment at Fiesta de Reyes, go to fiestadereyes.com or just visit in the northeast corner of Old Town San Diego State Historic Park. 2754 Calhoun Street, San Diego, CA 92110.

The Festa Parade, the event's signature installment, will commence at 10 a.m. May 15 and follow a route from the UPSES Hall to St. Agnes. The celebration of High Mass and the coronations of the festival king and queen will take place at St. Agnes at 11 a.m., with singing by the church choir.

The festival will commence at 7 p.m. May 13 through 14 with the recitation of the Holy Rosary at the church and accompaniment by the St. Agnes Portuguese Choir. For more information on the event, see upses.com.

Cryotherapy studios open in Point Loma, PB

Former Navy SEAL Bryan Dyer and his partner Dr. Martin Abelar recently opened two state-of-the-art whole body cryotherapy studios in Point Loma and Pacific Beach.

Chill-N-Out Sports Arena is located inside the Point Loma Plaza shopping center at 3683 Midway Drive. Chill-N-Out Pacific Beach is opening on Monday, May 16 at 940 Garnet Ave.

Whole body cryotherapy is a comfortable 2 to 3 minute-long treatment in which the client stands in a "cryo-sauna" and is surrounded by cool, dry, vapor made up of nitrogen gas. The cool air triggers a systemic response, which has been proven to provide a vast range of benefits including increased circulation, reduced inflammation, caloric burn and a measurable endorphin rush. For more information, visit Chillnout.com.

Celebrate Spring with Organic Produce from OB People's

A growing amount of research suggests that fruits and vegetables contain nutrients and compounds that help the body destroy cancer-causing agents (carcinogens) before they damage cells, thereby reducing cancer risk. While the exact mechanism remains unclear, it has been suggested that the antioxidant properties (the ability to neutralize harmful free-radicals in the body) of certain vitamins such as vitamin A and C seem to offer protection.

According to "Prevention" magazine, more than 600 active chemicals are registered for agricultural use in North America, to the tune of billions of pounds annually. By purchasing certified organic foods, you ensure a healthier way of living for you and your family.

Golf fundraiser for Point Loma shooting victim

By LISA MACLARTY | THE BEACON

"I walked a quarter mile in one hour and 15 minutes yesterday. A year and a half ago I could only walk 100 yards in that time," said 23-year-old Will Barton in March.

When Point Loma High School alum Barton was shot three times (including once in the head) by a fugitive in 2012, no one expected him to survive. Doctors gave him less than a 1 percent chance to live at all. Today, Will's cognitive and physical accomplishments have stumped medical professionals and inspired family members, friends and loved ones.

After being injured, Barton remained in the hospital and assisted living facilities for months, where he relearned to eat, talk, sit up, stand up and walk. While he continues to rely on a wheelchair most of the time and needs around-the-clock care, focusing on his accomplishments and abilities, and not on what he can't yet do, is a vital strategy for him.

"When Will walked that quarter mile down the pier, it was a record-breaking day, and people were cheering for him all the way," said his mom, Marie Najera-Lonsdale. "Recognizing these milestones and seeing the support from others energizes him to keep going."

For Barton, who is coming into his adulthood in the wake of a violent and life-changing injury, these milestones wouldn't be possible without the support of the community. The annual cost of care for his equipment, caregivers, therapists, teachers and life coaches runs in the tens of thousands of dollars annually (over what insurance and government aid cover).

The Peninsula Beacon has shared Barton's story with a caring and generous community that has stepped up to make several previous fundraisers into big successes. Another opportunity to help Barton and his family is coming up.

On Saturday, May 28, the Strong Will Golf Tournament will be held to raise funds for his annual cost of care. The event will be held at the Salt Creek Golf Club in Chula Vista and includes greens fees and cart, balls, lunch, an opportunity drawing and more.

"Golfers and aspiring golfers should come and join me for the tournament," said Barton. "I want to say 'Hi' and shake your hand and tell you thank you for all of the support. I have felt it every step of the way and it means everything to me."

To sign up as a golfer or sponsor, go to birdeasepro.com/StrongWill.

Ask The Trust & Estate Attorney

Question:

My parent(s) died, how do I access their bank account(s)?

Answer:

As a Lawyer I must say, it depends. There are quite a few questions that need to be answered before I give you my advice as it pertains to CA law. 1. Is your name also on your parent's bank account and is it payable on death? 2. Did your parent(s) have a POA (Power of Attorney) for you? If so, then you can use it at the bank. 3. If the account is in the name of your family trust, do you have a copy of the trust? The named trustee will be able to access the bank account. If the account is less than $150,000, you can use a Small Estate Affidavit. Some banks will offer this on their own forms. If the bank does not have the form, your attorney can draft one for you. And finally, if the account is greater than $150,000 or if all the accounts added together total more than $150,000 then you must do a probate to access these accounts. Probate is the court procedure that changes the title of the assets from the decedent (your parents) to the heirs. It takes almost one year and costs approximately 5% of the value of the assets. What action can you take today? Work with your parents and contact your family attorney to prepare the following documents as well as your financial institution. • Attorney - POA (Power of Attorney) • Attorney - Trust (Living) • Financial Institution - Have your parents put your name on title to the bank account(s).

I Love Poke Festival returns to Shelter Island

By KAI OLIVER-KURTIN | THE BEACON

The seventh annual I Love Poke Festival is expected to bring about 800 people to Bali Hai Restaurant on May 24 to sample raw tuna and other Hawaiian delicacies.

Bringing together about 30 chefs and restaurants for a tasting event and competition, this year's I Love Poke Festival will feature the event's first international poke chef.

"This is an event to celebrate Hawaiian food and culture in one of the most beautiful island settings on the mainland—the Bali Hai," said Nino Camilo, festival founder.

The festival is divided into two areas: Pokeland and Foodland. Pokeland will feature 20 chefs competing for the festival title of best poke. Foodland will offer samples of Hawaiian, Asian and Island-inspired dishes from 12 restaurants.

Participating restaurants include Guahan Grill, Hammond's Gourmet Ice Cream, Hodad's, Ho'onani Cakes, L&L Hawaiian Barbecue El Cajon, Ohana Cafe, Snoice SD, SuperNatural Sandwiches, Sweetbricks, Tajima Ramen, The Lanai Leucadia and Zarlitos Family Restaurant.

Honolulu-based restaurant Da Hawaiian Poke Co. will lead a food demonstration during the festival.

"Since poke is a popular food on an international level, there are a lot of poke recipes out there," Camilo said. "I want to have a demo this year to make sure our friends from Hawaii have the opportunity to share a recipe from a Hawaiian palate."

Australian chef Candy Wu from Poke Australia will be representing the land down under as the festival's first international competitor. A panel of judges, including three previous festival winners, will be there to score the poke chef competitors based on presentation, quality and flavor.

"I love working with chefs who just want to have a good time, serve people poke and throw shakas [shaka brah signs] while listening to live reggae music," Camilo said. "If the chefs are having a lot of fun, then you know the attendees are going to have fun as well."

Live music will be played by Camilo's family from Oahu, a group called Leileiana, who will be performing Hawaiian and reggae music.

Regarding poke's recent surge in popularity on the mainland, Camilo said he's not surprised to see the emerging food trend.

"It's really hard to see some of the more diluted versions of poke out there," Camilo said. "It's all about aloha; and with aloha comes respect for the culture, the people and the ocean. If things are done just to make a dollar, the heart of what poke is will be lost, and tuna as a species will once again be at risk for overfishing."

In the past, Camilo has donated a portion of festival proceeds to the San Diego Fire-Rescue Department. Instead, this year, he decided to sponsor Hawaiian families to attend the festival who are currently in town seeking medical treatment for their children at the Ronald McDonald House Charities of San Diego.

"My family has hosted families from all over the Pacific [in town seeking medical treatment]," Camilo said.

"My hope is to give these families at least one night off, where they can feel like they're home again. I Love Poke was created because I wanted to help Hawaiian people satisfy their poke cravings while here in California."

The festival will be held from 6 to 9 p.m., and tickets are available for $75. For more information and to purchase tickets, visit www.onoyum.com.

Appreciate painted bicycle-friendly intersection

By NICOLE BURGESS AND NATE BAZYDIO

DISTRICT 2 BICYCLE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Congratulations to Ocean Beach, Point Loma and the City of San Diego for implementing the first painted bicycle-friendly intersection in San Diego at Voltaire Street and Mendocino Boulevard (see photo). We appreciate and applaud the city's efforts to repurpose our streets for the safety of active commuters, and we look forward to all such future resurfacing projects. The Bicycle Advisory Committee consistently recommends this type of infrastructure support to encourage people to go by bike.

There are now bike lanes in conjunction with sharrows on Voltaire from Ebers to Catalina designating safer space for all bikers. This new roadway treatment utilized by city staff is great! Where feasible, it provides space to the riders going uphill at a lower speed.

Sharrows are then used on the downhill, where riders can more easily maintain the speed of their vehicles.

Biking is a fabulous way to commute. Its rewards can't be overstated. They include protecting our environments and reducing our pollution to feeling great as we enjoy the endorphins and fresh air, not to mention appreciating the beauty of San Diego from a closer perspective. Biking has proven to create healthful lifestyle habits, to benefit the local economy, to protect our neighborhoods and to provide a markedly better quality of life for everyone.

We have been working hard at implementing safe routes to schools so that Point Loma students can actively and independently get themselves to school. It may look like piecemeal at the time, but we are collaborating to connect the missing pieces as the streets are resurfaced.

We believe the new treatment is a win for everyone: our streets become calmer and safer while providing an opportunity for people to feel more comfortable to ride. It also creates spaces for all users of the road. As we begin to shift our ways of traveling, we must be patient and learn to coexist with one another.

Make your commute one of the highlights of your day and do something great for yourself and your environment. The ride from the Peninsula to downtown is one of the most beautiful rides in the world. And our beloved San Diego gives us the best biking weather ever.

Enjoy a ride soon, and make your commute a great part of your day.

Songwriters Acoustic Nights moves to Ocean Beach

By BART MENDOZA | THE BEACON

Monthly music series Songwriters Acoustic Nights has moved from its longtime location, Swedenborg Hall in University Heights, to Ocean Beach's Holy Trinity Anglican Church. The move was made due to the Hall's closure in February.

The events began in 2008 as a fundraiser for Swedenborg Hall, staged by promoter Mitch Feingold, who at the time specialized in comedy and corporate events. When Feingold saw the response from the crowd at the inaugural event, which featured Grammy-winning singer-songwriter Jeff Silbar ("The Wind Beneath My Wings") and Eagles songwriter Jack Tempchin ("Peaceful Easy Feeling"), he realized there was an audience for this sort of themed concert.

"I knew I was into something great," he said. "My background in producing comedy shows and entertainment for large events made it possible for me to produce Songwriters Acoustic Nights, from pacing to sound. We have had and continue to have some amazing talent in our shows."

Performers agree.

"Mitch is great at setting up an environment that allows the audience to experience the full breadth of what each performer has to offer," says acclaimed producer Jeff Berkley, who has taken the stage at the event several times. "It's fun to play, too!"

The show is done in a Nashville Round style, with four singer-songwriters sitting together on-stage. Each one takes a turn to perform a song and tell a little bit about its genesis, in a round-robin setting.

"I chose this format because I find it more entertaining," Feingold said.

Promoter Mitch Feingold started the Songwriters Acoustic Nights.

"Audience members tend to agree. It also gives performers a chance to interact with each other. Performers who have met for the first time may end up working with each other on future projects."

The concerts feature primarily solo artists but have included duets and singer-songwriters with their instrumental accompanist.

On May 15, the show will feature Veronica May, Fast Heart Mart, Michelle Tobias and Sandra Bacall.

When Swedenborg Hall closed its doors in February, the show's change of venue was quickly worked out, and the possibility of losing momentum was very real. Moving an established event can often work to its detriment, but Feingold sees the recent relocation as nothing but positive.

"The sound quality of this venue is even better than the previous venue," Feingold remarked. "The move to OB has proven to be a good thing. OB is a hotbed of music talent, and it's a great community that supports the arts."

Feingold is always on the hunt for artists to feature in the show.

"I am looking for the most talented singer-songwriters I can find in Southern California," Feingold said. "They come from three sources: word of mouth from people in the industry, singer-songwriters who contact me and performers I have seen onstage."

He notes that sound technician Andrew Nast has been a big help "not only in making the show work but in finding talent."

While staging these events is a time-consuming labor of love, Feingold is more than happy to put in the effort.

"Producing these shows takes a lot of work," he acknowledged. "But the age of the Internet helps, as does partnering with and having the support of a great venue, and a great sound tech makes all the difference."

In this day and age of short attention spans, Feingold is thrilled that his music showcase is still going strong. "I have met a lot of great people from this project, and I look forward to meeting more," he noted. "San Diego has a lot of great music shows. I always appreciate the people who choose to be in our audience."

Point Loma Playhouse opens curtain on new era with full season of shows

By JENNY WERTH | THE BEACON

The Point Loma Playhouse has found reason for a celebration. Within the last eight months, the Playhouse has gone through quite a few changes, including becoming a member of the acclaimed local professional theatres group.

When the theater hired renowned local playwright and actor Matt Thompson to serve as its artistic director last year, there was a goal in mind: quality theater for the public. Consider it done.

Thompson gathered forces with associate artistic director Hilary White to make it their mission to turn the Point Loma Playhouse into something that would make performers

'We've instituted a playwright-in-residence program for San Diego playwrights.'

HILARY WHITE
ASSOCIATE ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

bow with greater pride.

"We're collaborating with some of San Diego's higher-caliber actors and theater professionals on a full season of shows, which has never been done before at a Point Loma Playhouse. (We'll) bring more live theatre at a higher level that's ever existed in Point Loma," said White.

White's list of varying accomplishments is as diverse as the wardrobes in a Shakespeare production. One of the things she's most proud of is a commitment to new works and opportunities for local playwrights.

"We've instituted a playwright-in-residence program for San Diego playwrights, presenting two new works per season. We are pleased to announce four new plays from San Diego writers, presented as staged readings this season, as part of our New Works Reading Series."

White's own staged reading "Houdini's on First" is slated for later this month. The romantic comedy is based on the real-life friendship of Houdini and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and is set against a backdrop of magic and mystery.

This all means that Point Loma play enthusiasts should expect quality live theater consisting of a full season of professionally produced main-stage productions and staged readings. The final curtain ambition is to resonate with locals from Point Loma and theatergoers from all over San Diego.

On June 8, the main-stage production will be "The Complete History of Theatre (abridged)." This is the brain-child of artistic director and playwright-in-residence Thompson. The production is to be a delightful comic romp through the history of theater. What does that mean? A show that's witty, wry and physical.

"It's wonderful and personally gratifying to be able to have a space to stage new plays by local playwrights. As a playwright, it's a rare gift to be given a chance to present your work to the public and for the audience," White noted.

The Playhouse has workshops available for artistic direction as well. A six-week improvisation workshop

Hilary White, Colette Culbertson, Randy Coull, Shelley Benoit and Joe Paulson in 'Circle Mirror Transformation' at Point Loma Playhouse.

Wojniak to headline Liberty Concert Series

Concert to raise funds for nonprofit community Music4Change

Recreational Music Center (RMC), a non-profit community music school located in Arts District Liberty Station, is raising money to benefit communities in need at the new monthly Liberty Concert Series. The first concert takes place on Saturday, May 14, with subsequent concerts scheduled on the second Saturday of every month.

RMC welcomes local singer-songwriter Mike Wojniak, who will perform original songs that have been shaped by artists such as Coldplay, Radiohead and Bon Iver. His unique style and compositions have been inspired by his travels to Europe and Central America and across the United States. Reviewers have hailed him as a poet, a relevant and powerful voice and an amiable storyteller.

"I'm excited to share my music at RMC while raising money for an organization that brings music to youths who otherwise may not have access to these resources. Music changes lives, and ensuring opportunities are available to all is an important mission," said Wojniak.

Other performers include local artists and RMC's youth rock ensembles, part of RMC's unique Live Band Experience program that teaches aspiring rock stars how to perform popular music in a band setting. RMC's youth ensembles regularly perform at renowned venues such as the Point Loma Summer Concert Series, House of Blues and Hard Rock Café.

Proceeds from this concert series benefit

Music4Change, RMC's division of community outreach. Music4Change transforms and enriches lives through music in nontraditional, underserved venues across San Diego County. At-risk youth in the San Diego County Juvenile Court system, homeless shelters and retirement homes are some of the many groups that benefit from this program.

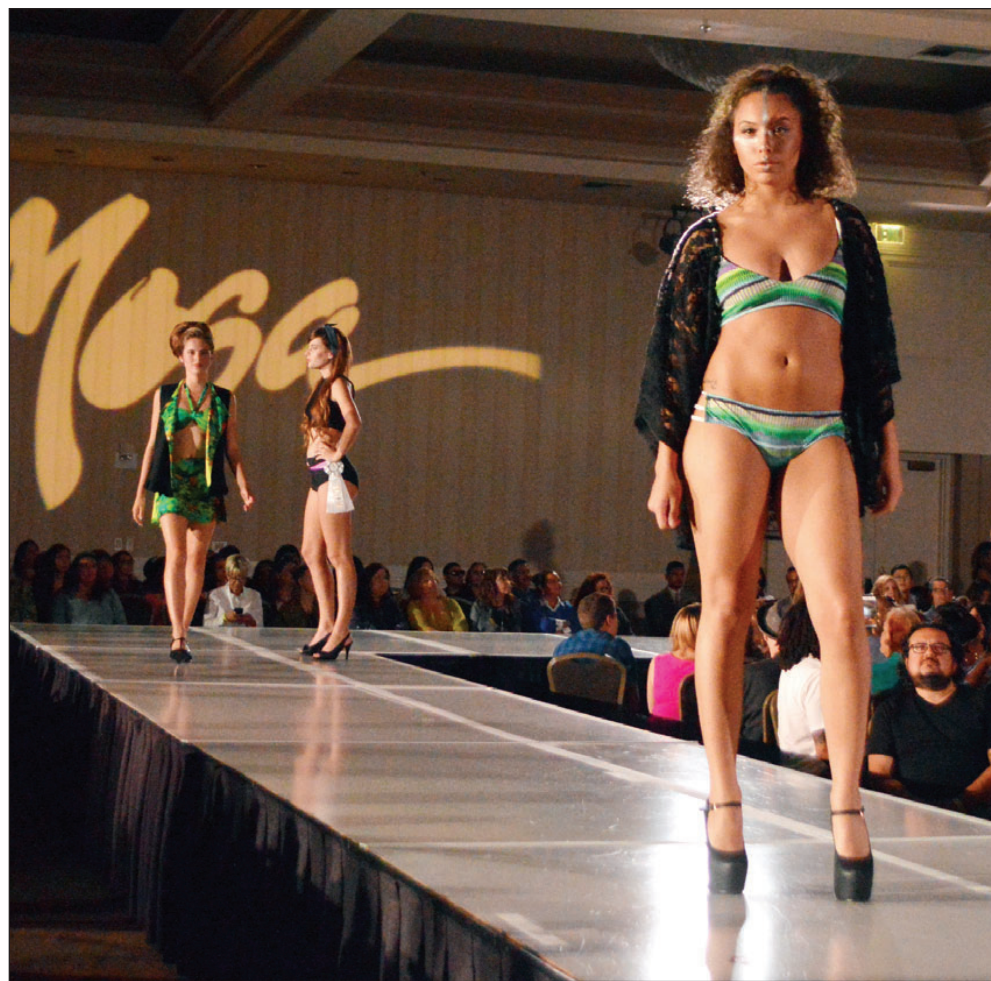

In 2015, RMC provided 884 hours of free services to schools, retirement homes and other underserved groups throughout San Diego and $55,000 in reduced-cost music lessons to students in need.

The concert takes place on Saturday, May 14 from 7 to 9 p.m. at RMC in the heart of Arts District Liberty Station, 2590 Truxtun Road. RMC's renovated performance space features a new stage.

Tickets for this all-ages show are $10 per person and are available at libertyconcerts.eventbrite.com or at the door. Food, beverages and alcohol will be available with a suggested donation. All ticket sales and donations help continue keeping music education alive and accessible in San Diego.

RMC is a nonprofit organization combining its background in all-ages music education with the success of its community outreach programs.

Its mission is to cultivate the joy of making music through relevant, cutting-edge teaching methods, making them available to everyone regardless of financial resources or other barriers. Visit rmcsandiego.org for more information.

Golden Scissors Fashion Show

Mesa College fashion students took their talent to the runway at their annual Golden Scissors Fashion Show May 6 at the Sheraton Hotel on Harbor Island Drive. Themed 'East Meets West,' the show is a fun, fabulous runway event for all fashionistas. (Above) Brigitte Palmer of Brigitte Couture, who designs costumes for hotels like the Bellagio, donated fabric to the Mesa College Fashion Program, where students tried their hand at making swim wear.
