Ocean Beach Woman's Club floor campaign a smashing success

Thanks to the generous support of the community, and especially Steve Yeng, the Ocean Beach Woman's Club met the Laying a New Foundation Floor Campaign goal.

We have begun in earnest to ready the club for our Community Social Hour on Thursday, Oct. 5. Look for more details in the coming weeks and make sure to RSVP to the guest list. It is going to be a lovely affair with food, music, beer and wine, on our beautiful new floors and other spiffy improvements.

In the meantime, we wanted to shed a bright light on our very own community champion, Steve Yeng.

Ocean Beach resident, owner of The Noodle House, 1502 and The Holding Company, Yeng has a legacy of charity. His story and generosity echo back to before he was born, when, through multiple acts of kindness, he and his family escaped atrocity and war to come to the United States as refugees.

We caught up with Yeng to thank him in person. He and his family embody the best of Ocean Beach and San Diego (and humanity in general for that matter) and we wanted to take the time to share his incredible journey. As it turns out, this is just Part 1. The "rest of the story" will be published in the next issue of the Peninsula Beacon.

Wars, bandits and apples

The story begins in China. Yeng's parents and grandparents were part of a massive migration of people who fled China to escape poverty and communist rule. They came to Cambodia, which is where his parents met. Cambodia was good to them. They owned rice plantations, there was enough to eat and the future looked promising.

Then in 1975, the Khmer Rouge communist party and Marxist leader Pol Pot overthrew the government and took control of Cambodia. This brutal regime claimed the lives of up to two million people. Yeng's family was rounded up and forced to work in communal farms.

Whole families died from execution, starvation, disease and overwork. Yeng's parents told him they worked 23 hours a day, were given 10 grains of rice to eat and lived in constant fear of execution. Terribly, Yeng's grandparents, aunts and uncles all died in the "killing fields," but unbelievably fortuitous, his parents managed to hold on until freed.

Yeng's parents, Mr. T. and Siv Lien (owners of OB Donut) found a way to start over as butchers, using wild game as the meat source. Yeng's father became famous for his sausages, which were valuable given the fact that there was no refrigeration. He and his wife shared food with others, already starting the philanthropy and charity they are still known for today – and clearly handed down to Yeng.

The first two boys were born, with Yeng's brother in 1982 and Steve in 1985. Then, when he was just 1 year old, he woke up and was unable to move from his neck down. At that time in Cambodia, illnesses were often thought to be caused by evil spirits and he was taken to spiritual healers. Medical clinics did not exist, but if they had, they would have learned that Yeng had polio, as there was not a polio vaccination in Cambodia.

Without any medical hope in Cambodia, Yeng's parents decided to give up everything to help their young child and hired a guide to leave Cambodia and go to Thailand. The guide was required not only to help them navigate, but also to avoid land mines and groups of bandits who preyed upon people traveling, as goods and services were paid for with gold. As a result, bandits knew anyone on the road was vulnerable.

The butcher business had been successful, so Yeng's family had a good deal of gold with them when they started the journey. But because Yeng's father was well known, there were already bandits targeting his family.

What happens next will be the subject of Part II.

Emma Stone as Billie Jean King and Steve Carell as Bobby Riggs in a scene from the movie 'Battle of the Sexes'.

'Battle of the Sexes' movie nets Point Loma instructor

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

The made-for-TV match dubbed "Battle of the Sexes," which featured self-styled "male chauvinist pig" Bobby Riggs versus tennis champion Billie Jean King, broadcast on Sept. 20, 1973 to an audience of an estimated 50 million viewers in the U.S. and 90 million worldwide.

San Diegans can now relive that compelling pop culture moment by watching the upcoming movie "Battle of the Sexes," which is scheduled to be released Sept. 22. And for one Point Loma tennis instructor, it's a return to his past.

The plot, loosely based on the Riggs-King match, stars Emma Stone and Steve Carell as King and Riggs, respectively, with Andrea Riseborough, Elisabeth Shue, Austin Stowell and Sarah Silverman in supporting roles.

Lornie Kuhle, tournament director of the USTA Girls' 16s and 18s Nationals at the Barnes Tennis Center in Point Loma, was a close friend of

BATTLE OF THE SEXES

What: The film depicts the 1973 tennis match between Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs, which became the most watched televised sports event of all time.

Actors: Emma Stone as Billie Jean King, Steve Carell as Bobby Riggs. Release date: Sept. 22.

Info: www.foxsearchlight.com/battle-ofthesexes.

Bobby Riggs and worked as a consultant with film producers to bring the film to life.

Kuhle spoke with the Peninsula Beacon about what the match, and the movie, have come to mean to him, to sports culture and international evolving gender relations moving forward.

"I was the consultant for the movie," said Kuhle, 69. "I was the person who worked with Steve Carell every day in getting him into the character of Bobby Riggs. I taught him how to play tennis like Bobby Riggs."

Robert Larimore Riggs, who died in 1995 from prostate cancer, was an American tennis champion who was the world No. 1 player for three years, first as an amateur in 1939, then as a professional in 1946 and 1947. As a 21-year-old amateur in 1939, Riggs won Wimbledon, the U.S. National Championships (now U.S. Open), and was runner-up at the French Championships. He was U.S. champion again in 1941, after a runner-up finish the year before.

At age 55, Riggs competed in the first "Battle of the Sexes" challenge match in May 1973 against Margaret Court, the top-ranked female player at the time, and beat her (6-2, 6-1) in a televised match in Ramona. His easy victory landed Riggs on the cover of national magazines and reignited his fame.

Riggs used his new-found celebrity to taunt female tennis players, which prompted King to accept a lucrative financial offer to play Riggs in a nationally televised match in the Houston Astrodome on Sept. 20, 1973.

Against King, the reigning Wimbledon champion and one of the best female players in the world, Riggs lost in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. Their primetime "Battle of the Sexes" match, which had a $100,000 winner-take-all prize, remains one of the most famous and most-watched tennis events of all time.

Kuhle, Riggs' close friend and estate executor, pointed out Riggs, notably macho, had many redeeming qualities.

"The uniqueness of his character was his promotional capacity, his showmanship, his thought process, mannerisms," Kuhle said of the Los Angeles native.

Noting King was 29 when she beat the 55-year-old Riggs, Kuhle believes that her victory helped spur the women's rights movement.

"It was not about the money," said Kuhle of the iconic tennis match. "Billie Jean had won nine women's titles and she couldn't even get a credit card. It had to go in a man's name. She became one of the 100 most influential people in the 20th century because of this match."

Kuhle added movie producers are now "recapturing this historical match." The hype of the match itself was aided greatly, the tennis pro said, by Riggs' promotional abilities, which he likened to "Barnum and Bailey."

The Barnes Center is part of Youth Tennis San Diego, a nonprofit whose purpose is to promote the educational, physical and social development of all youth through organized tennis and educational activities.

Next Space plans redevelopment of old shopping center site on Voltaire Street

New owners of the dilapidated small shopping center on Voltaire Street at Las Lomas want to replace the old hodge podge of leftovers there, which in recent years featured Sunshine Liquor as the most prominent tenant.

But Sunshine Liquor has moved on, after losing its lease, to a new home down Voltaire Street in a different strip mall near a consignment shop and a music center.

There used to be a flower shop on the corner of the old Sunshine Liquor site, Petals by Katie. But Katie's has left as well. What will replace them?

As the Voltaire Corridor spruces up with improvements on the Nimitz overpass bridge and plans for decorative street lighting, the old shopping center was ripe for being the next space developed.

In fact, that's the name of the company taking over, Next Space Development, which is based at 2820 Shelter Island Drive. This new mixed-use creation is being referred to as "Nimitz Crossing."

"The center was old, was functionally obsolete, and had just a run-down dump of a building," said

'The center was old ... a rundown dump ...'

RUDY MEDINA
NEXT SPACE DEVELOPMENT

Rudy Medina, a member of the Next Space Development team. "It was mostly the liquor store and some mixed-use components. There were some (old) offices in there that were empty for users (tenants)."

Next Space has other projects in the Peninsula in the works, including their latest blockbuster, Bellamar Point Loma, at 3025 Byron St. and 1180 Rosecrans St.

A collection of 16 two-bedroom master flats, Bellamar at 1180 Rosecrans St. is replacing Blockbuster Video, Ipanema Watch and Jewelry and Gus's Subs.

Designed by Martinez Cutri Architects, many of Bellamar's units exceed 2,000 square feet in size and are being priced in the low $1.1 million-range. It's a price the project's website claims "will be significantly lower than similar-sized units in the immediate area."

Though it's still early-on in the center's redevelopment, Medina said a plan is in place for the makeover of the old Sunshine site, which Next Door acquired in 2016.

Medina said pre-approved plans were already in place, when Next Space purchased the property two years ago, to redevelop it as mixed use. "[The plan] has been in process for years," said Medina about the old 26,000-square-foot building that previously housed Sunshine Liquor.

Medina said Next Space is in plan-check with the city on its proposed project, which includes 24 apartment units and approximately 9,000 square feet of retail space.

"We're not going to do liquor, just community uses — whatever the market will bear," Medina said about redeveloping the site. "I'm sure there will be some food uses, the normal stuff. There could be coffee. There might be some low-impact restaurant like Subway."

It's still early-on in the planning process, said Medina of the status of the old Sunshine Liquor site.

"We don't have any tenants yet," he said adding, "We're not going to start construction until the end of this year. So we're looking at sometime in 2019 for (tenant) turnover. We bought it (Sunshine site) with a plan in place. That part has already been done."

Doughballs pizza, Crackheads breakfast eateries open at Liberty Public Market

By DAVE SCHWAB | THE BEACON

If you're into cereal or custom pizza, Liberty Public Market has two new eateries joining its varied mix to please your palates.

One is Doughballs, a new take on all things pizza. The other is Crackheads, a brand new concept: An all-day breakfast bar.

Doughballs/Crackheads owner/originator James Markham talked about the origin of both restaurant concepts.

"One of the things I remember growing up back East is my mom buying pizza dough from the Italian gourmet and frying into little pancake-like patties," said Markham about Doughball's makings. "Crackheads ... I just thought it was a funny name," adding, "the name's really been wildly popular with our sign inside drawing attention from people taking pictures with it."

Doughballs is now cooking up wood-fired pizza in the Liberty Public Market space that services the food hall's indoor dining area. The quick-service eatery is a fresh offering from a veteran of the fast-casual pizza world, JM Concepts' Markham, who helped create the MOD Pizza, Pieology and Project Pie brands, and who also operates Rolled Up, a sushi burrito shop in Hillcrest.

This new Liberty Station outlet is a preview of Doughballs' new sit-down restaurant in Pacific Beach at 822 Grand Ave. When PB Doughballs opens, it will have a rooftop patio and the distinction of being the first to offer wood-fired pizza from a drive-through window. Built with hand-tossed dough, the pizzas will range from signature creations to customizable options that bake in just 90 seconds.

Markham is also launching Crackheads in Liberty Public Market. The all-day breakfast bar features breakfast sandwiches, Pop Tarts that can be topped with sweet ingredients or used as a base for ice cream sandwiches, and build-your-own cereal bowls.

Of Crackheads and its origin, Markham said, "There seems to be a big void in breakfast, with nothing in-between the fast-food restaurants of the world, and the more expensive, sit-down breakfast places that take 20 to 40 minutes to be served. There was a void in the casual side of breakfast."

Enter Crackheads, where, Markham noted, "Everything sits in a hot water bath and is ready to serve to you in 15 seconds."

Markham added Crackheads cereal "bar" is truly unique.

"We have 10 different cereals in a glass counter, and you tell us which ones of the 10 — or all of them — that you want, with everything in ingredients from Snicker's bars to marshmallows to gummy bears. It's build your own."

Additionally, Markham is developing Jarheads, an eatery offering sweet and savory dishes cooked sous vide in recyclable mason jars, which will have a dedicated storefront in North County, offering sweet and savory dishes cooked sous vide in recyclable mason jars. The jars, filled with everything from truffle-bacon mac and cheese to fluffy Japanese-style pancakes, will also be available at Liberty Public Market.

Pointers come back and hold off Hornets at goal line

By SCOTT HOPKINS | THE BEACON

Fans at last Friday night's football game between Point Loma and Lincoln High Schools were treated to one of the best and most dramatic prep games in recent memory.

The Pointers emerged from the battle royale with a 36-34 victory, but only after the Hornets were given two plays to win the game by scoring from the Dogs' one-yard line – with 4 seconds, and then 1 second, left on the stadium scoreboard. Both times they were stopped by a Pointer defense that, along with the offense, seemed to find new life in the second half after falling behind by as much as 22-7 earlier.

With 3:31 left to play and the Hornets clinging to a 34-29 lead, Pointer Jake Silva pounced on a fumble to give the Pointers a chance for one more drive. Pounding runs by Josh Ball (41 carries) and others brought the Dogs inside the Hornets' 10.

With 34 seconds left in the game, the Pointers scored the go-ahead touchdown when quarterback Kyle Grady found fullback Mathew Fa'alele open near the goal line and lofted an eight-yard scoring pass to the 240-pound senior for only the second Pointer lead of the game at 36-34.

The Pointers chose to go deep with the ensuing kickoff, and Hornet Da'Jon Thomas took the ball and weaved in and out of Pointers' coverage, sending the hearts of fans of both sides into shock.

But a game-saving tackle by Pointer Johkyreian Shealey gave the Hornets the ball just 15 yards from a victory with 20 seconds

The next play saw the Hornets sweep left for 11 yards to the Pointer four-yard line with 8 seconds left.

The Hornets ran the first of their two "last plays" from an I-formation with 4 seconds showing.

Pointer coach Dave Aros later said there is "no way" the Hornets could have snapped the ball, made the exchange to the running back, who then had to run to the line of scrimmage and attempt to fight through a tangle of bodies and then be stopped and tackled, all in less than 4 seconds.

Yet the officiating crew determined there was still 1 second left and cleared the field for a second "last play."

The Pointers stuffed this final, final play to seal the victory and send emotions on both sides swirling in opposite directions.

"I'm really proud of the way we came together at the end," said senior lineman Davey Folsom, a 6-foot 4-inches tall, 315-pounder who plays both ways for the Pointers. "The coaches talked to us at halftime and told us we were a better team. We changed some coverages, put in some new guys and that shut them down. Lincoln is legit, they're a good team."

Folsom had three tackles, an assist, a sack and a fumble recovery and once again left several defenders flat on their backs after pancake blocks.

For the Pointers, the game marked their first victory under their popular new stadium lights and improved their record to 1-2. The Hornets (2-1) were undefeated entering the game.

It was also a game of big numbers.

The teams combined for 808 yards in total offense during the 48-minute game. Lincoln gained 428 yards on 64 plays (6.68 yards per play) and the Pointers added 380 yards on 79 plays (4.81 yards play).

The teams combined for 52 first downs, the Pointers leading 27-25.

Individually, workhorse Ball's 162 yards with two touchdowns and a sack on defense led his team while Grady completed four of seven passes for 32 yards and a touchdown. He also had 35 yards rushing and scored twice.

Brian Yopez ran for 89 yards on 10 carries and Malik Moore gained 43 on six.

Defensively, JL Skinner had eight tackles and an assist, and his two pass interceptions stopped Hornet drives.

"We knew we were in for a real dogfight," head coach Mike Hastings said later. "Anytime we got down we just came back and answered. At halftime I could feel the energy was there. I had the feeling we had turned a corner and we were going to go out and win the game in the second half."

Ramona 21, Point Loma 14

In a game played in temperatures above 100 degrees, Grady had an 81-yard touchdown run and completed 10 of 22 passes for 133 yards, including a 5-yard scoring pass to Cameron Auva'a. Ball carried only 17 times but picked up 92 yards for a 5.4 average.

Coming up for the Pointers are home games against Bonita Vista (0-3) tomorrow (Sept. 15) and Olympian (2-1) on Sept. 22. Both games kickoff at 6:30 p.m.

Extra points

■ An inconsiderate motorist parked blocking a driveway across the street from the Voltaire Street entrance to the stadium. The resident called the school to complain, but of course the school has no jurisdiction over on-street parking. The San Diego Police were then called and officers quickly had the Toyota 4Runner towed.

■ The Pointer JV team (1-2) picked up its first win against Lincoln (21-20) after losing to Ramona 16-14. The freshmen improved to 3-0 with wins over Ramona (40-0) and Lincoln (30-6).

Marie Haddad to perform with friends at Humphrey's for album release party

By BART MENDOZA | THE BEACON

One of San Diego's musical treasures, pianist and singer-songwriter Marie Haddad, performs at Humphrey's Backstage Live on Sept. 28. She will be celebrating the release of her new album, "Stories From Atlantis," a wonderful showcase of her piano-based songs. Blessed with a beautiful, pure-sounding voice, her material will resonate with fans of Kate Bush or late-period Joe Jackson, songs that paint pictures, unified by a wonderful sense of melody.

Now known for her virtuoso piano playing, Haddad doesn't recall any specific influence on her instrument of choice. "I don't know if there was one person who inspired me to play the piano," she recalled. "I just always have been drawn to play one. When I was a kid, any time there was music in a commercial or on a TV show, I'd 'play along,' also known as banging on the keys of my little toy piano. When I turned 5, my parents brought in a 'real' upright piano for me to learn on and I started taking lessons."

Haddad most often performs solo, but for this event she will be joined by drummer Matt Lynott, bassist Patrick McClory, and singer Heather Nation will be adding her beautiful voice to the live backing vocals. Special guests will include Daniel Crawford (Black-out Party), cellist Erdis Maxhelaku and Kelly Duley (Kite Flying Society).

For her second album, she cites production as one of the biggest differences this time out. Co-produced by Ben Moore, the album, has a warm, lush sound with an almost classical feel in parts, offset by quirky rhythms and Haddad's inspired arrangements.

"I also wanted to add a lot of vocal layers to these songs, more so than in any of my previous recordings. I think the songwriting topics are more diverse as well. Although there are personal songs on this album many of the songs are observations of others. 'Waiting on the Sun' is about the inventor Nikola Tesla. 'Pictures in the Clouds' is about a child," she said. Meanwhile, "Spinning Yarn" includes a clip of Haddad's grandmother singing in her native language, Serbian, and "Jdita" is about the village in Lebanon where her father grew up.

The album also includes a cover of Johnny Cash's classic "Ring of Fire." "I've had a lot of positive feedback about my rendition of 'Ring of Fire' over the years, I thought it was time to finally get it properly recorded," she said.

Though the odds are long in today's music biz, Haddad is determined. "I'm not sure I've ever thought about not continuing to try to get my music out there," she said. "I know I'll always be making music. How I share it might change as the years go by, but the drive to create isn't something I can explain or stop. I'm just extremely happy other people have liked what they've heard. It makes me excited to share and to continue on with public performance."

Future plans include more music videos. "I have visual ideas for every song I write and I really enjoy the experience of making a video from start to finish," she explained. "We've already finished one for 'Jdita' made by the incredible people over at KIND Films. 'Waiting on the Sun' and 'Pictures in the Clouds' are probably the next songs from the album on the list." Other projects in the works include two EPs and a children's book.

Ocean Beach Historical Society presentation

Ocean Beach Historical Society will present “Kumeyaay Resistance and ‘Abusive’ Art at Mission San Diego and the San Diego Presidio” by Richard Carrico at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 21 at P.L. United Methodist Church, 1984 Sunset Cliffs Blvd. Do you ever wonder how the Kumeyaay might have resisted Spanish colonization besides sacking Mission San Diego in 1775?

Is there any chance that they used art forms to show their disdain for the Spaniards right beneath (and above) the eyes of the colonists?

In this highly informative and engaging talk, historian and anthropologist Carrico will delve into the “dark art” that the Kumeyaay used to continue their ancient artistic practices and their use of symbology.

The Kumeyaay served as laborers at both the mission and presidio and as part of that work effort they formed and fired the adobe roof tiles (tejas) and floor tiles (baldosas) at both outposts. Probably unknown to their supervisors and to Spanish authorities, some Kumeyaay inscribed the wet adobe with images and symbols.

Many of the images are comparable to designs in local rock art and on ceramic pots and vessels that pre-date the arrival of the Spaniards. They include circles, concentric designs, cross-hatching, and what may be human figures. In addition, some of the designs depict things and places on Presidio Hill.

Through a series of slides and images, Carrico will guide you back to the 1770-1820 period when the tiles were formed and decorated and then link the art work to a far more ancient period. Carrico will strongly suggest that the images have deep-rooted meaning and form what one scholar has called “abusive art;” art that is meant to reflect cultural persistence and a rejection of some of the Spanish dictates.

The luncheon, to be held 11:30 a.m. Friday, Sept. 22, at the Coronado Island Marriott Resort and Spa, draws a host of local and Hollywood celebrities to serve some 400 participants. Attendees will have a chance at some live, silent and raffle items at the luncheon.

Tickets start at $80 per person and reservations may be made by calling the UCP office at 858-571-5365 (ext. 112) or at www.ucpsd.org. Sponsors for the event include KyXy 96.5, Energy 103.7, Location Edit, Berkshire Hathaway HomeState Cos., the San Diego Community Newspaper Group and KUSI-TV 9/51 News.

Memorial concert for Aristotle Georgio

On Sept. 17, a memorial will be held at Winston’s Beach Club from 1 to 5 p.m. in honor of Aristotle Georgio, who died on Aug. 2. Georgio was a musician who has been playing at OB venues since the ’70s. He played the harmonica for a number of local groups, as well as BB King, Bo Diddley, and The Allman Brothers. Georgio was a well-known figure in Ocean Beach.

Garden Club meeting

The Point Loma Garden Club will meet at 10 a.m. on Oct. 11 at Portuguese Hall, 2818 Avenida de Portugal. The topic is “Succulent Tapestries” by Laura Eubanks of Design for Serenity. Guests are welcome to attend. Join the club for an interesting program on these water wise plants.

Pets blessings

Pastor Deb will bless pets and animals from 3 to 5 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 23 at the Westminster Park located at Westminster Presbyterian Church, 3598 Talbot St. (corner of Talbot and Canon) in Point Loma. A brief, informal “Preachin’ in the Park” will follow. For questions, call 619-223-3193.

Keep walking along Newport Avenue by the colorful stalls selling crafts, clothes, and cuisines, eventually one ends up at the little grass area next to the beach, which is filled with creative people playing music, balancing on bodies and slacklines, all the while going with the flow.

"There are a lot of people doing different things and it is also a good place to meet other people doing slacklining," said Eric Hake, who comes to Ocean Beach from Mission Valley on Wednesdays to slackline.

Hake moved to San Diego about a year ago and thinks it is a perfect city for slacklining, which he does five days a week in OB and Bonita Cove. "It is just a lot of fun. You can do it almost everywhere. You just need two places to make hangers," Hake said.

The grassy area off Abbott Street is also filled with young women dancing around with hula hoops and plenty of acro yoga enthusiasts.

'I come here because there are so many beautiful people and that helps me relax.'

CASLEY SHANNON
SAN DIEGO STATE STUDENT

"I come here because there are so many beautiful people and that helps me relax in the middle of the week," said Casley Shannon, who is a student at San Diego State University.

Shannon likes to hula-hoop and she comes to the Ocean Beach Farmers Market every Wednesday with her friends.

"I like the energy and all the creativity that is happening. There is a very loving, accepting, and creative vibe here," Shannon said.

As the sun gets closer to the horizon, the drums beat louder, and the crowd grows larger around the grassy area as visitors watch the young people expressing themselves.

"I think it is fantastic to watch people being creative with athletics and yoga. I am an athlete myself and the things they are doing are really hard to do," said Sandy Valone, who lives in Point Loma.

Valone brought her sister, who was visiting from Hawaii, so she could see the new things happening around the OB Farmers Market.

"I think it is a really nice and helpful thing," said Valone.

Lose 20 lbs this FALL!

"I've been on Dr. Wong's program for 24 days and I've lost 20 pounds so far. I feel very good about it and I'm feeling progress everyday and I recommend it to anybody."

Isabelle S. — San Diego

"So far in the last 60 days, I lost 35 pounds and I even took seven days off during the holidays for eating fat foods! I expect to drop another 25 pounds in the next 30 to 60 days!"

John R. — San Diego

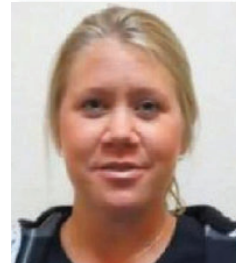

NO SHOTS/DRUGS

NO SURGERIES

NO EXERCISE

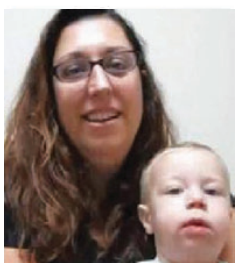

"I knew I wanted to make changes after I had my 2 year old and get rid of my baby fat. Dr. Wong guided me along the way and was very supportive and I've lost 23 pounds in 2 months. I've met my goals and I'm happy! I feel a lot better, healthier and I have more energy. I've noticed that I've had to get new clothes!"

Mandy C. — San Diego

"I've tried every known diet program out there but I've always gone back and gotten even larger than when I first started. I knew I needed to do something different. With Dr. Wong's program, within 2 months, I've lost a total of 38 lbs. I feel great! My goal is to lose another 25 lbs and I'm ecstatic. I want to thank Dr. Wong and his staff for their support because otherwise it would have been much more difficult."

Chris U. — Chula Vista

"After being on Dr. Wong's program for 2 months, I've lost almost 40 pounds. I was lethargic and couldn't keep up with my kids but I've found an answer to my energy problems and I wake up with energy, I feel better, I've been eating healthier and I've been more active. Thank you Dr. Wong!"

Rachel R. — San Diego

"Before I came to see Dr. Wong, I had a lot of health concerns. I had extreme knee pain, I was over-weight and I also had a lack of energy. After I had a consultation with Dr. Wong, he told me what was wrong. Everything we did involved no pain and in 8 weeks, I have lost 32 pounds without doing exercise! I am a lot more energetic and I feel like working out. I am stronger, more alert, more flexible and limber so I appreciate everything about Dr. Wong. If you're ever in need of optimal health, come see Dr. Wong because he'll make you strong!"

Rodney W. — San Diego

I started with Dr. Wong exactly 50 days ago when I decided to do something for me. I was scheduled for surgery and needed to lose 20 pounds but I'm happy to say I've lost over 30 pounds! I'm very happy and appreciative because it's been easier than before and it's been worth the money and the time.

Cyndi F. — San Diego

Cabrillo National Monument proposes increase in fees

Cabrillo National Monument is seeking input from community, stakeholders, visitors, and neighbors regarding a proposed change to park entrance fees in 2018. The National Park Service is proposing to increase the daily park entrance fee for vehicles from $10 to $15 per vehicle (good for everyone in the vehicle,) walk-ins/bicyclists from $5 to $7 per person, and motorcycles from $7 to $10.

Entrance fees are valid for seven days. An increase in the annual Cabrillo Park Pass from $20 to $30 is also planned. The new fees could take effect in January of 2018. The NPS began collecting entrance fees at Cabrillo in 1987. This would be only the second increase in 31 years.

Comments may be submitted at parkplanning.nps.gov/cabr or email cabr_info@nps.gov between Sept. 1 and Sept. 30. Comments may also be submitted in writing to the Park Superintendent, 1800 Cabrillo Memorial Drive, San Diego, CA 92106 during the comment period.

Eighty percent of the entrance fees collected at Cabrillo stay at the park. These funds preserve natural and cultural resources, improve visitor facilities, and provide educational and recreational opportunities.

Projects funded with entrance fees include the development of a curriculum-based education program for the San Salvador Ship in partnership with the Maritime Museum of San Diego; construction of restroom facilities at the intertidal area; and construction of the Whale and Kelp Forest Overlook.

Projects planned include installation of 38 new wayside exhibits, repair of the damaged Bayside Trail; production of a new signature film for Cabrillo; improved accessibility to park structures and resources; and an upgrade of displays for the WWI and WWII bunkers.

ANNOUNCEMENTS 100

As you know, each year the Pacific Beach Town Council holds a Police and Emergency Services Appreciation Night (P. A. E. S. A. N.) honoring SDPD Northern Division, Station 21 of San Diego Fire & Rescue, the San Diego Lifeguards, and the Mission Bay Park Rangers. The 2017 event will be held September 27 from 4:30 to 6:30 P. M. and will take place at the Rotary Club Pavilion "North Crown Point Shores" off Crown Point Drive. This year the major beneficiary will be the San Diego Lifeguards. The town councils of Ocean Beach, Mission Beach and La Jolla accepted the challenge to join us and together we honored the 100 full-time and 205 seasonal guards at a beginning of the season breakfast hosted by the Mission Bay Yacht Club. We requested the lifeguards' wish lists and are asking for your participation on the purchase of these items, and your financial support for the September 27 BBQ.

1. Practice Rescue boards without Rescue on them for use and practice of newer guards. They have requested 5 and they cost $425 each. Total needed is $3400.
2. The lifeguard stations need help too. They have requested toaster ovens, and solar radios.
Estimated cost is $1000.
3. At the breakfast, each lifeguard received a back-pack filled with summer needs – sun screen, towels, etc. The Toyota Dealers Association provided back-packs for the seasonal guards, the cost for the full-time guards came to $1,500.
The cost of the BBQ September 27 is $2,000. So our total fundraising goal is $7,900.
Can you help us reach this goal?

Beacon travels

Point Loma resident Prentice St. Clair traveled to Cannafest, the annual music festival in Grand Forks, British Columbia, Canada to see his favorite band Saga perform. It was worth the trip--the emcee made special mention of Prentice's journey upon introducing the band and the lead singer jumped off-stage to shake his hand.

around San Diego International Airport may be eligible for sound insulation treatments to mitigate aircraft noise.

The FAA has set a goal of reducing interior noise levels for eligible residents by at least five decibels inside the home, providing a noticeable reduction in noise. The Airport Authority’s Quieter Home Program is the means to obtain that goal.

The FAA said $8 million will be spent to mitigate noise for around 715 people who live around Lindbergh Field. Also, $5.7 million will be used to repair the longest of two east-west runways at Brown Field, the municipal airport nearest the U.S.-Mexico border.

San Diego officials have been trying to spur development at Brown Field in recent years, including approval of a sprawling project that includes airplane hangars, industrial buildings, retail space and restaurants. The four-phase project, which could take two decades to build out, could get underway by the end of this year.

“The airport improvement program helps to maintain our aviation infrastructure and supports safety, capacity, security and environmental improvements,” said U.S. Transportation Secretary Elaine Chao. “This is an important investment in these airports and the economic vitality of their respective communities.”

Bloomfield noted the Quieter Home Program’s goal “... is achieved by treating windows and doors in habitable spaces. We also offer some form of ventilation treatment if they don’t already have one.”

Bloomfield estimated 6,000 homes remain within the established noise contour for sound diminishment.

Homeowners may apply for the Quieter Homes Program at www.san.org/Airport-Noise/Quieter-Home-Program.

The average cost to sound proof a home against airplane noise?

“The average cost is $30,000 per home,” answered Bloomfield, adding, “we estimate the $8 million grant will provide funding for approximately one year, or 286 homes within the program boundary.”

With the exception of last fiscal year, Bloomfield said the Airport Authority has received an annual FAA grant for the Quieter Home Program since 2004. The program has provided sound attenuation to an estimated 3,500 homes within the program boundaries.

Bloomfield pointed out each homeowner in the Quieter Homes Program is requested to complete a post-construction survey.

San Diego International Airport is owned and operated by the San Diego County Regional Airport Authority. In 2015, traffic at San Diego International exceeded 20 million passengers, serving more than 500 scheduled operations carrying about 50,000 passengers daily. While primarily serving domestic traffic, San Diego has nonstop international flights to Canada, Germany, Japan, Mexico, Switzerland and the United Kingdom.

mate Action Plan efforts and mobility hub plans,” said Stacey LoMedico, the city's assistant chief operating officer. “As a result, the city is proposing new locations in the urban core areas, which will be presented to the appropriate community planning groups.

“Based on this current focus,” continued LoMedico, “DecoBike will remove and relocate the bike stations listed below to urban locations through a city community outreach process. The removal of the stations will begin [this week] and conclude the week of Sept. 11.”

Beach bike-share station locations proposed to be reassessed/moved include: 4198 Mission Bay Drive, 1492 N Harbor Drive, 1899 N Harbor Drive, 4500 Ocean Blvd., 780 Thomas Ave., 700 Grand Ave., 760 Pacific Beach Drive, 1005 W Mission Bay Drive, 1098 W Mission Bay Drive, Dana Landing Road and W. Mission Bay Drive, 5800 Newport Ave., 2100 Spray St., 2727 De Anza Road, 2576 Laning Road, and 1240 East Mission Bay Drive.

This most recent turn of events was hailed by DecoBike boardwalk station opponents, who had become weary of tangling with DecoBike, trying to get them off the boardwalk and not competing with local bike-rental small businesses.

Especially relieved by this most recent turn of events are beach small business owners catering to recreational bicyclists, like Matt Gardner, longtime owner of Cheap Rentals, and Mission Beach Rentals at Belmont Park in Mission Beach, who were crying foul claiming their businesses suffered from unfair competition from DecoBike.

“I’ve lost about $120,000 over two years,” Gardner told the Peninsula Beacon previously, adding, “I’m giving the city and DecoBike every chance to make it right.”

Making it right, according to Gardner, would mean “establishing a true commuter-friendly ride sharing network — or they recoup the money that’s been taken away from me.” Garner claimed the lion's share of DecoBike rentals, as much 77 percent, is for recreational tourists, and not as the final leg of a commuter trip utilizing mass transit.
