Mayor’s call for cuts will slice beach services

By SEBASTIAN RUIZ | BEACH & BAY PRESS

Midyear city budget cuts to make up an estimated $43 million 2009 budget shortfall has residents concerned over looming threats of loss of public facilities and services. Closing the Ocean Beach library, eliminating pressure washing services at Ocean Beach Pier and shuttering of about 14 restrooms in Mission Beach during winter — all on the list of possible money-saving cuts, according to a mayoral report. The list also contains a proposal contracting out medical services for La Jolla Fire Station 9 to stave off cuts in services. The recommendations represent a reduction of expected incoming property, sales and tourists’ tax dollars in a slowing economy, said Rachel Laing, spokesperson for the mayor’s office.

“It’s not as if we didn’t anticipate lower tax revenue, and we were really conservative if not pessimistic about estimates,” she said. “It’s just that nobody knew just how deep it would be and how short we would fall.”

The City Council listened to residents’ concerns in a daylong hearing Wednesday, Nov. 12, but an official response by the council or the mayor’s office was not available by press time.

Councilman Kevin Faulconer, who sits on the city’s Budget and Finance Committee, said he’s working with an independent budget analyst to “look at the assumptions behind the numbers.” He didn’t have specifics as to what facilities and services would likely get the ax.

Asked which programs and buildings in the beach communities he would like to see survive budget cuts, “Everything that’s on that list is important,” Faulconer said.

While city officials scramble to come up with answers to the community’s questions, those directly affected by impending cuts have to deal with an uncertain future.

Cabrillo Recreation Center, located at 3051 Canon St., is named one of nine centers recommended for closure, which would save the city about $2.3 million in personnel and maintenance costs.

Drama in the court: Cravens’ attorney goes on the attack

By NEAL PUTNAM | BEACH & BAY PRESS

Jury deliberations continued this week in the Seth Cravens trial following a dramatic closing argument Monday by his attorney who got within five inches of the prosecutor’s face and yelled an obscenity while pretending to be slain surfer Emery Kauanui Jr.

Attorney Mary Ellen Attridge called the prosecutor’s murder case “a runaway train” in which she asked that Cravens, 22, be acquitted of second-degree murder and manslaughter in the May 28, 2007, death of Kauanui in front of his mother’s home in La Jolla. “Choo, choo!” concluded Attridge.

Attridge claimed Kauanui was “not some docile victim” and instead was the aggressor, citing the testimony of Matthew Yanke, 22, who told jurors last week that Kauanui stepped up to Cravens and yelled at him within five inches of Cravens’ face.

“How the (expletive), how the (expletive), how the (expletive) did you come over to my house?” Attridge screamed to Deputy District Attorney Sophia Roach.

Roach froze and gave no reaction to the outburst. She rose and told jurors in a rebuttal argument that “insulting words are not a defense.” Roach told jurors Yanke lied about the exchange between Cravens and Kauanui and that Cravens was the aggressor, not Kauanui. Yanke didn’t say Kauanui yelled the expletive three times as Attridge had illustrated.

Roach urged the nine-man, three-woman jury to compare Yanke’s testimony to that of other witnesses, such as the victim’s neighbors who called police and Kauanui’s girlfriend, Jennifer Grosso. She said Grosso was “a courageous, courageous young woman” who was “the only person to try and stop the attack” at the scene by Cravens and four others around 1:30 a.m. on May 24, 2007.

“There is no self-defense here. Seth comes at him at a pace, delivers a punch that knocks Emery out before he hits the

Changes planned for Beach & Bay Press

To consolidate our resources, the Beach & Bay Press will begin publishing every other Thursday beginning this week. The consolidation will allow us to present a bigger and better newspaper for Pacific Beach, Mission Beach and Mission Bay.

Despite the longer time between issues, our writers and reporters will remain dedicated to telling the stories that are important while maintaining the quality publication our readers and advertisers have come to expect. The revised publishing schedule will also give our reporters the opportunity to focus on in-depth stories that are difficult to tackle with a weekly timetable. We will also increase our focus to post breaking and timely news online at www.BeachAndBayPress.com.

We welcome your letters and opinions on this and any other topics. We can be reached at 4645 Cass St., San Diego, CA 92109. Phone: (858) 270-3103 ext. 132. Email: BBP@SDNews.com.

a camp director at Cabrillo Rec for more than 10 years, said he’s disappointed the center might close.

He said the after-school program he runs has grown from about 15 students to approximately 45 kids from five elementary schools.

“I have a lot of parents bring their kids ... they just like the programs,” Heyward said.

While the facility’s programs may have grown over the years, Park and Recreation officials said the Cabrillo Rec Center is considered one of the smaller facilities, which is why it could be closed, wouldn’t affect as many services, according to David Monroe, a deputy director for community parks with the city.

He said athletic fields, basketball courts and some athletic programs would remain open, but no equipment would be available for use.

“They would have to bring their own basketballs,” Monroe said.

“These are tough times and no reduction or cut is an easy cut. It’s just tough,”

The mayor’s plan also calls for closing one library in each council district except for District 8. The Ocean Beach Library, which just celebrated its 80th anniversary last month, was listed as the District 2 library for closure.

Friends of Ocean Beach Library member George Murphy, said there’s always a line to use the computers at the library and doesn’t want to see the community resource shuttered. He said this is the only library many patrons can get to because they either walk or ride bicycles.

“We’re not sure that we can stop this, but we want to let OB know that this is happening and...speak out and let these politicians know we’re not pleased with it,” he said.

According to the mayor’s proposal, other department cuts include:

- Removal of fire rings from along Mission Bay.
- Reducing staffing and operation hours at Robb Field and other skate parks from 48 to 40 hours a week.
- Eliminate the extra Mission Beach trash collection during summer months.
- Elimination of about 216 full-time city positions.

“Doctor Regrets Unfortunate Mistake...”
And what you should know about it...

Dear friend,

Mistakes are tough. Real tough. But, sometimes an admission can set the record straight, and I want to give credit where credit is due. Before I talk about my mistake, though, let me say a few other things first.

Let me start by explaining the photo in this letter. You know, people usually say, “Oh, yeah, you’re Dr. Wong. I’ve seen your ad with that picture of you and the cute little girl.” Let’s start with me, the guy on the right.

Thirteen years ago something happened to me that changed my life forever. Let me tell you my story...

Back then I was working part time delivering fresh seafood when I developed an excruciating pain in the middle of my back. In my case it came on suddenly. The pain in my back was so intense that I couldn’t bend over, twist, and sometimes I couldn’t even button my shirt. I was afraid that I’d lose my job if the disability continued. After seeing a doctor and taking lots of pain medications, the discomfort was still there. I even remember one instance where I just couldn’t stand the agony any longer, and I broke down and cried. Knowing I didn’t want to take pain killers forever, I was desperate for answers. But, there’s more...

A friend of mine convinced me to give their doctor a try. This new doctor did an exam, took some films, and then “adjusted” my spine. The adjustment didn’t hurt, it actually felt really good. I got relief, and I could bend over again. It worked so well for me, and I was so impressed with the other ‘miracles’ I saw in his office, that I eventually went to chiropractic school myself.

Now for Cierra, she’s the little girl in the photo. Growing up, she was (and still is) very active. She slipped and hit her head on the sidewalk once before, she’s fallen out of bed numerous times and on top of that, she suffered from ear infections. Cierra’s been getting adjusted regularly now for over a year and she is as healthy as can be. She knows that her adjustments help her immune system to fight off the “bad stuff” when she’s starting to feel a little sick. She loves getting adjusted and it seems like a huge difference to her.

It’s strange how life is, because now people come to see me with their health problems. Also they come to me with their headaches, migraines, chronic pain, neck pain, shoulder/arm pain, whiplash from car accidents, backaches, ear infections, asthma, allergies, numbness in limbs, athletic injuries, just to name a few.

Here’s what some of my patients had to say:

 UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIAL ***

“I was having so much back pain, neck pain and terrible headaches that affected my job. I was misdiagnosed so many times but now, I live pain free since I’ve been seeing Dr. Wong. My husband and kids used to call me ‘grumpy’ but not anymore! Thank you Dr. Wong!”

Signed,
Ligaya A. RN, San Diego, CA.

 UNSOLICITED TESTIMONIAL ***

When I first came to Dr. Wong, I was in constant pain and could barely walk up the steps to his office. Now, after being under his care, exercise to strengthen my back and body, I can honestly say that I am pain free! I am no longer taking any pain medication. My bowling game is better and I am now walking about 3 miles a day. I am back to enjoying life as I did before my back problems.

Signed,
Larry D. San Diego, CA

Several times a day, patients thank me for helping them with their health problems. But I can’t really take the credit. My unfortunate mistake is that I’ve neglected to tell people that their bodies heal from within and that taking medications only covers their problems. My commitment is to tell as many people as possible about how an adjustment removes nerve pressure, and the body responds by healing itself. We get tremendous results. It’s as simple as that!

You Benefit from an Amazing Offer - Look, it shouldn’t cost you an arm and a leg to correct your health. You are going to write a check to someone for your health care expenses, you may as well write one for a lesser amount for chiropractic.

When you bring in this article, you will receive my entire new patient exam for $47. That’s with x-rays, computerized testing...,the whole ball of wax. This exam could cost you $270 elsewhere. But, please call right away because this offer expires on November 15th, 2008, and I don’t want you to miss out. By the way, further care is very affordable and you’ll be happy to know that I have affordable family plans. You see I’m not trying to seduce you to come see me with this low start up fee, then to only make it up with high fees after that. Further care is very important to consider when making your choice of doctor. High costs can add up very quickly.

Great care at a great fee...Please, I hope that there’s no misunderstanding about quality of care just because I have a lower exam fee. You’ll get great care at a great fee. My qualifications...I’m a graduate of the California State University System with a bachelors in biochemistry and then I completed my doctorate at Palmer College of Chiropractic in San Jose, CA. I’ve been entrusted to take care of tiny babies to elderly seniors, like my grandma and grandpa. After finishing my internship in San Jose, I moved to San Diego to start my own practice. I just have that low exam fee to help more people who need care.

My assistants are Cindy and Lauren, and they are really great people. Our office is both friendly and warm and we try our best to make you feel at home. Our office is called GREATER LIFE FAMILY CHIROPRACTIC and we’re in Point Loma at 3689 Midway Drive, Suite G (we are in the Vons shopping center next to 24 Hour Fitness and Sport Chalet). Our phone number is 619-222-8885. Call Cindy, Lauren or myself today for an appointment. We can help you.

Your Friend,
Dr. Henry Wong, D.C

P.S. When accompanied by the first, I am also offering the second family member this same examination for only $27 but only before 11-15-2008 so call right now!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

City ignores traffic dangers on Riviera

In response to “Crosswalks don’t protect pedestrians from cars” by Sebastian Ruiz (Beach & Bay Press, Nov. 6), I have the following comments: Having been working on the traffic dangers on Riviera Drive for years, there seems to be a disconnect with our city officials and the concerned residents of our town.

After several deaths on Riviera Drive and more than 20 years of history about our dangerous street, the city installed two V-calm signs only after our residents put the pressure on. Only one stop sign was installed. This was only a fraction of what was recommended by PB Planning, and it has only proven to “slow” those two blocks. We will not give up our fight for safety on the entire length of this street due to the history we have of accidents, property damage, hit-and-runs, and even deaths.

The city’s excuse to do nothing is the 2005 Transportation Study. The city does not address the steady increase of unsafe speeds in our residential areas. The La Jolla area has several crosswalks along La Jolla Boulevard. It seems to be working there.

The report says transportation agencies should use visible crosswalks along with signs, raised medians and other measures to make streets safer. I think the 2005 Transportation Study is recommending what we are asking for — to make our streets safer!

No on D crowd fought the good fight

The picture in the Union-Tribune the day of the elections pretty much sums up Proposition D, with the Pro D gentlemen downtown looking like the last time they walked on sand was after a golf ball and the No D gentlemen in casual clothes at a beach establishment. This is another case of age and treachery triumphing over youth and enthusiasm.

I would like to commend the No on D people for a battle well fought. They took on a backdoor politician, the Union-Tribune, Republican Party fat-cats and civil servant unions and almost pulled it off. And it looks like they even cleaned up the signs. Please do not lose your enthusiasm and the will to fight for what you believe in.

I am disappointed by my generation. Just because we have had our time on the beach is no reason to deny that freedom to the younger people. Being like L.A. is not a good thing — I have always thought that we were more civil than that huge metropolis and could work together through our problems. Too bad it looks like I am in the minority.

Common sense wins with Props C & D

More funding to take care of Mission Bay Park (Prop C) and no more out of control alcohol use on our beaches (Prop D) — finally, common sense has prevailed.

Councilman Kevin Faulconer took a lot of heat for his leadership on both of these fronts, but in the end, the majority of San Diegans agreed with him. I appreciate the way he worked with the neighborhoods and business communities to get input and support. I know not everyone is pleased with the results, but how refreshing to see an elected official who doesn’t back down when things get tough.

I am an avid ocean swimmer, it’s a great way to relax from the pressures of my private law practice, but I haven’t even wanted to touch the fouled water in Mission Bay for 30 years. This new infusion of funding, which comes from the park itself rather than from my taxes, will be a great help in preserving wildlife habitats and improving the enjoyment for everyone.

For me, one of the worst parts about going to the beach is that unsettled feeling of not knowing whether the people who are drinking are going to control themselves. I am relieved that now I can go and relax in the beauty of nature, without that gnawing concern.

Thank you, San Diego voters, and thank you, Councilman Faulconer.

The beaches and bay are the big Nov. winners

As a wife and mother of two, and as a businesswoman, I am writing to thank Councilman Kevin Faulconer for leading the effort to pass Propositions C and D.

Cheers for Community Organizers...What an amazing election! Barack Obama has quietly, efficiently and thoroughly overturned the standard model for presidential elections.

People who never cared about politics are avidly following Obama’s daily actions. Millions of small donations to his cause — and thousands of volunteers — have energized an entirely new crop of activists across America. We hope local Obama workers will turn their newfound energies to improving PB.

Safer Beaches...PB’s community organizers helped lead the parade to pass Prop D, permanently allowing our beaches to remain alcohol-free.

Strong support came from places like Scripps Ranch, Del Cerro, Mira Mesa, Allied Gardens and San Ysidro. Elsewhere, families, especially those originally from other countries, decided that a day at the beach would be better if Grandma and their young teenage daughters didn’t have to deal with large crowds of rowdy imbibers.

Young women were also emphatically in favor, telling campaign workers, “I’m tired of being hassled at the beach.” Prop D passed, 52.8 percent to 47.2 percent.

Fact Check...Statistics were quoted by both sides. Here are a few explanations:

- DUI arrests are up in PB. That’s because police, no longer stuck at the beach, have had time to move inland, catching more drunk drivers.
- Lifeguards won’t be as busy. Lt. Andy Lerum told me, “Now that families are returning to the beach, more kids are in the water and we’re busy rescuing them.”
- Arrests is up. See above. With MIP (minors in possession) rates down 50 percent, cops can more efficiently respond to calls on car break-ins, loud parties, etc. that were often unanswered before.

Let’s celebrate PB—together!... It’s time to enjoy events that everyone can appreciate, like the upcoming PB Christmas Parade on Sunday, Dec. 14 at 1 p.m. Want to enter? Forms are on Discover PB’s website, PacificBeach.org, or call Kathy Evans, (858) 488-7355.

Wildwood, N.J., did just that, after an alcohol ban passed years ago. When we visited Wildwood last year, city clerk Chris Wood told me their Chamber of Commerce began hosting family-friendly events. Their jam-packed annual calendar now includes a classic car show, kite festival, kids’ boogie board races, an Ultimate Frisbee tournament, Wildwood Triathlon, fishing tournaments, bike races, a Classic Motorcycle Club rally and dozens of musical shows, from “Fabulous ’50s” to “Sensational ’60s,” a blues festival and Philadelphia Mummers.

For parade details or to suggest future events, attend PB’s Special Events Committee. It meets Tuesday, Nov. 18, 6 p.m. in Discover PB’s office, 1503 Garnet Ave.

Council hands Peters a seat on the Port Commission

Request to hold vote for new council overruled

By NEAL PUTNAM | BEACH & BAY PRESS

Outgoing City Council President Scott Peters won five votes from his colleagues Monday, Nov. 10, for a seat on the San Diego Unified Port District Board of Commissioners, despite an attempt by Councilmember Donna Frye to have the vote postponed until four newly elected members of the council begin their terms next month.

Peters, of La Jolla, will serve a Port District term that will end Jan. 2, 2013. Peters is leaving his 1st District council seat next month because of term limits. Peters recused himself from voting, and the meeting was conducted by Councilman Jim Madaffer, outgoing council president pro tem.

Laurie J. Black, of Mission Hills, also won five votes from the City Council for her reappointment as a Port District commissioner for a term that will also end in 2013. Both begin their terms Jan. 2.

Robert McNeely, of Point Loma, won the votes of four councilmembers. Several councilmembers told McNeely they prefer him to remain on the Centre City Development Corporation, where he was recently reappointed by the council.

Voting for Peters were Councilmembers Kevin Faulconer, Toni Atkins, Ben Hueso, Jim Madaffer and Brian Maienschein. Voting for Black were Councilmembers Tony Young, Donna Frye, Faulconer, Madaffer and Atkins. McNeely won votes from Young, Frye, Maienschein and Hueso.

In a brief statement to the council, Peters said he is former Coastal Commissioner and an attorney who specialized in environmental law. He described himself as “a good listener” and has served as council president for three 1-year terms.

A spokesman for Mayor Jerry Sanders told the council the mayor endorsed Peters for the Port District seat.

Before the vote, Peters told the council he would not be accepting the $1,000 monthly transportation or $100 monthly phone allowances. Port Commissioners do not receive a salary but they do received some free travel with their official duties.

Councilmember Donna Frye unsuccessfully asked at the start of the meeting that the vote be delayed until after four recently elected councilmembers are sworn into office on Dec. 8. Frye said she made the motion “out of courtesy to our incoming colleagues,” and added there’s no rush to fill the Port District seats that will not be vacant until Jan. 2.

“I don’t think it’s the fair thing to do,” Councilman Young said, who seconded Frye’s motion to postpone the vote.

Activist Ian Trowbridge said the new City Council should be the ones to vote on the nominees, adding that it was “shameful to docket this item” before the new council is seated.

Madaffer said there was nothing wrong with docketing the matter now. He said many council actions are often delayed, but there was no reason to delay this one. The new council will meet only twice in December before the Christmas recess, and it won’t meet in January before the vacancies take effect.

The Port District of San Diego was created by the state legislature in 1962 to manage San Diego Bay and surrounding waterfront land and is a state agency. The cities of Coronado, Chula Vista, National

The whole point of allowing commercial leases on public park land was to take the financial burden of maintaining and improving Mission Bay Park off of taxpayers like me. Now that the park will be receiving more of the income generated there, I look forward to enjoying it with our girls and, eventually, with their children.

As for keeping alcohol off the beach, I know that, frankly, we will feel safer and more comfortable going to the beach to enjoy nature, without the dangers and distractions of intoxicated visitors, more and more of whom were coming from beach areas where alcohol is already banned.

Councilman Faulconer stood firm in the midst of heated opposition on both of these propositions. We appreciate his boldness, leadership and courage.

versities compared to a small business owner or resident interested in the same conversion, it has made Brandenburg very knowledgeable on the subject, and he is quick to note a few key issues which apply to everyone.

“Before you can install a solar system there needs to be an energy audit done to make sure you are already operating at a reasonably high efficiency level,” he said. “Otherwise then all you will do is waste solar power energy.”

The cost comparison of conservation versus producing is also a factor.

“It costs five times less to conserve one watt of electricity than it does to make it,” Brandenburg said, “which is another reason for having the energy audit ... to make sure you are doing your best with conservation efforts.”

While either a business or individual consumer can install a solar system which gives them only partial energy support, say 30 percent or 50 percent, the aquatic center, in order to be 100 percent self-sustaining, had to do “zero out” its consumption,

Sometimes during the year production may exceed consumption, and other times it may be the opposite. but at the end of the year, the energy used matches the energy produced. Because with solar power it is virtually impossible to produce exactly the right amount of electricity needed on a daily basis, you can “stockpile” extra electricity, and then apply it to other time frames during the year.

“Fortunately in San Diego we have sunshine year-round,” Brandenburg said. “However, you still produce more electricity than you need during the summer months, so we will receive energy credits for those months. Also, remember, you do not produce energy when it is dark or as much in the winter months.”

What if you produce more electricity than you need for the year even after all appropriate credits are applied? Then the utility company simply uses it elsewhere. You do not receive any money or rebate. Anyone who might be quick to complain about that scenario has to point a finger at the entire United States and not just a local power provider, according to Brandenburg.

“In Europe they have what are called ‘feed-in-tariffs’ where people can be paid to produce electricity,” he said. “Right now they do not exist in the USA, although Florida is considering it.”

In theory, this could mean a corn farmer, for example, could replace his entire crops with solar panels and then literally sit back and earn money while selling electricity generated from those panels to utility companies.

There are other benefits to solar power, some not visible and others quite clear.

“Our solar system will reduce CO2 emissions by 82,000 pounds per year,” Brandenburg said.

Another benefit might be in your electric bills. It has been estimated that solar systems installed on 25 percent of the buildings, rooftops, parking garages and similar structures could provide San Diego with 100 percent of its electrical needs. Solar power has the capability now to at least reduce peak load demands for electricity. This typically happens between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m., and most noticeably during the hotter summer months. This is also when electricity costs the most to use, because often more is being consumed than produced, so it has to be brought in from other sources.

“This has the potential to save consumers billions of dollars over the long term,” Brandenburg said. “It is really quite simple. The sun comes up and energy is produced. As well, the energy from the sun is free. You can actually watch your electric meter go backwards.”

ground,” argued Roach. “He hits the ground with a sickening thud.” Both sides agree that Kauanui’s head hitting the pavement caused brain damage that led to his death four days later. Roach said that Kauanui’s “brain was shaken,” causing it to bleed and fracture. She said surgeons cut his skull open to allow for swelling, but that didn’t save him. Roach quoted a witness as saying Cravens had laughed about Kauanui’s injury before he died, saying he “put him to sleep” in the hospital. Roach started her closing argument Nov. 7 by showing a skull replica to the jury and saying it was “common knowledge” that people protect their heads from injury, such as wearing helmets while on motorcycles or playing football. “This is an intentional act, the deliberate, fatal punch. This is not an accident. This is a group attack,” Roach argued. “He is uniquely aware of the force of his punch. He knew it was dangerous.” Attridge disagreed, asking, “Who knew that one left-handed punch could result in death? One punch is not cruel or unusual.” The jury deliberated 3 1/2 hours Monday before going home; the jury and court had Tuesday off for Veterans Day. An early verdict wasn’t expected because jurors also must decide nine other charges involving previous assaults on other people, some going back several years.

Cravens, who lived with his parents in La Jolla, did not testify in his trial, which began on Oct. 27. He is also accused of making a criminal threat, numerous assaults and battery charges involving people who were punched at parties that Cravens and other members of the “Bird Rock Bandits” crashed. Ironically, both Roach and Attridge argued against the lesser offense of voluntary manslaughter. Both said there was no “heat of passion” at the moment, such as the textbook example of someone finding his or her spouse in bed with someone else and spontaneously killing the spouse, lover or both. Attridge mentioned the offense of involuntary manslaughter as an option but strongly urged jurors to acquit Cravens. She did concede that he was apparently guilty of several assault and battery charges, telling jurors she “would not waste your time” in argument against several counts involving other victims. Jurors know there are others charged in Kauanui’s death since Yanke and Henri “Hank” Hendricks, 22, testified in jail clothing. They do not know their plea agreements. Yanke, Orlando Osuna, 23, and Eric House, 21, pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter and Hendricks pleaded guilty to being an accessory after the fact. They were all given varying jail sentences on terms of three years’ probation. Both attorneys agreed the start of the dispute began in the Brew House when Kauanui spilled a drink upon House, and both were ordered to leave. Roach mentioned the security at the bar ejected several defendants upon learning they were under 21 years of age. Attridge said all five men showed up at Kauanui’s house to finish the “one on one” fight between Kauanui and House. She showed a color photo in which House’s face was bleeding profusely after a cap from a tooth was knocked out. “Emery is cruising for a fight. He’s as much a participant as anyone else,” Attridge said. “If Emery was in a homicidal state, the actions of Seth Cravens were reasonable.” In rebuttal, Roach disagreed, saying, “Mr. Kauanui had a right to use self-defense. He was attacked in the street. He was the first to go down.” Cravens has remained in county jail in lieu of $1.5 million bail since his arrest in May of 2007.

Need Braces?

Dr. Patricia Westwood has been treating adults and kids in her PB orthodontic practice since 2001. After graduating at the top of her USC Dental School class, Dr. Patricia Westwood completed a 3-year Orthodontic residency at the U. of Michigan. Dr. Westwood's specialized training taught her the skills required to manage tooth movement (orthodontics) and guide facial development (dentofacial orthopedics). The value of an attractive smile should not be underestimated. A pleasing appearance is a vital asset to one's self-confidence. Orthodontic treatment can benefit social and career success, as well as improve one's general attitude toward life. Crooked and crowded teeth are hard to clean and maintain, which may result in tooth decay, gum disease and ultimately tooth loss. If you are interested in having orthodontic therapy, seeking out a specialist member of the American Association of Orthodontists (AAO) ensures that the treatment plan is from an educationally qualified orthodontic specialist.

Choosing a Companion Caregiver

When looking for a company to provide you or your parents with qualified homecare, ask the following questions:

- Does the company provide a thorough assessment by an RN Geriatric Care Manager with the training and experience to handle the family and elders needs?
- Can the company write a detailed care plan tailored to each client?
- Will they provide information and referrals and help coordinate appropriate resources?
- Will an RN Geriatric Care Manager make regular visits to supervise the caregivers and advocate for the client's medical needs as they change?
- Can they provide 24/7 services, staffing and management?
- Do they require TB testing annually and provide liability, bonding and workers' compensation insurance for the protection of every client?
- Are all caregivers required to have references, criminal background checks, drug testing and DMV driving records verified?
- Does their company have the highest accreditation and Home Care Aide Organization Certification through the CA Association for Health Services at Home?
- If the company answered "NO" to any of these questions, you're not talking to the RN based Geriatric Care Management Team of Innovative Healthcare Consultants. Check us out on the web at www.innovativehc.com or call 877-731-1442.

Two Chargers defenders clamp down on the Chiefs' tight end Tony Gonzalez.

Defense stops KC for 20-19 win

By DAVE THOMAS | BEACH & BAY PRESS

When you sport a 1-7 record in the NFL, you often throw conventional wisdom out the window. Missing an extra point earlier in a game and having a tired defense out on the field may do that to you too.

The Kansas City Chiefs decided to go for it all on Sunday, passing on an extra point after pulling within 20-19 late in their game against the San Diego Chargers. Their two-point conversion came up short, however, and the Chargers escaped the AFC West Division matchup with the victory.

“When you’re 1-7, it’s not even a question what you do,” Kansas City Head Coach Herman Edwards said. “These guys, they deserve to win a football game. These guys are so beat up on defense that it wouldn’t have been fair to not go for two points because I don’t think we could’ve stopped them. We just didn’t have the bodies.”

In what can politely be described as a sloppy game for most of the day by both teams, more than 67,000 in attendance saw the Chargers break a 13-13 tie in the fourth quarter, nursing a lead right down to the very end.

On a day where neither the offense or defense was at its best,

USD opens women’s basketball season

By PAUL DOUGLAS | BEACH & BAY PRESS

The USD women’s basketball team defeated Point Loma Nazarene College 65-56 in an exhibition match-up on Halloween to prepare for the home opener against UCSD Friday, Nov. 14, at the Jenny Craig Pavilion at 7 p.m.

Towering over the Lady Toreros’ hopes this season is senior Amber Sprague, who played her prep basketball at Mission Bay High. The 6-foot 5-inch center rallied USD from a halftime deficit with a 23-point, 13-rebound performance against the Lady Sea Lions.

Sprague’s 8-for-10 shots from the floor boosted the Toreros’ 52 percent shooting accuracy in the second half. She also shot 7-for-8 from the free-throw line.

With the score knotted at 50-50, Sam Child hit a 3-pointer that sparked a 11-2 scoring run that put USD on top for the remainder of the game.

The Lady Toreros have 14 games scheduled through the end of the year, including UCLA and Arizona. The regular WCC season begins when USD hosts San Francisco Jan. 8.

The WCC is made up of USD, University of San Francisco, University of Portland, St Mary’s, Santa Clara, Loyola Marymount, Pepperdine and Gonzaga.

Sprague is high on the 2007 NCAA charts in rebounds and blocked shots. Sprague and long-time teammate Amanda Rego were named to the WCC All-Conference Team after their WCC tournament victory performance last season over Gonzaga. Only Rego and one other senior graduated from the championship team.

Sprague, who sat out a year with a foot injury as a red-shirt player, is now in her fifth year of maturing her game with the Lady Toreros.

Point guard Rego is now playing professionally for the Hale, Ger-

Late 4th-quarter scores haunt the Chargers

By BOB HURST | BEACH & BAY PRESS

As the San Diego Chargers defense stood near their goal line waiting for Kansas City's two-point conversion attempt, they had to be thinking, "Not again."

The Chargers have been bitten by late scores and some bad luck this season. Carolina defeated them on a last-second touchdown pass in the season opener. Denver beat them on a 2-point conversion pass with 24 seconds left in Week 2, with the play coming two plays after the Broncos were given new life when a lost fumble had been whistled an incomplete pass.

But on Sunday, even though a bad pass interference call went against the Chargers, leading to a touchdown, they were able to hold off the Chiefs.

Chargers safety Clinton Hart battled away Tyler Thigpen's 2-point conversion pass to Chiefs tight end Tony Gonzalez with 23 seconds remaining to give the Chargers a 20-19 win.

"I said to myself, I wasn't going to let him score this 2-point conversion," Hart said. "We knew they were going for the win. Denver did it, and I guess they figured they could do it. But surprise, surprise, we stood up and made a difference."

Titans 9-0: Tennessee couldn't run at Chicago in Week 10, so the Titans made an adjustment and went to the air. Their strategy worked because the Bears secondary couldn't stop quarterback Kerry Collins, who threw for a season-high 289 yards and two touchdowns in a 21-14 Titans win.

Tennessee's normally reliable ground game produced just 20 yards. The Bears stopped them by putting eight or nine players in the box. But that opened up the passing game for Collins.

The win was the Titans' 12th straight in the regular season, setting a franchise record. The old Houston Oilers won 11 in a row in 1993.

Big games for Peterson, Jones: Adrian Peterson and Thomas Jones were the best running backs in the NFL in Week 10, combining for 341 yards and four touchdowns. Peterson (192 yards, 1 TD) carried four times for 40 yards on the Vikings' game-winning drive, including a 29-yard scoring run with 2:22 left to play, giving Minnesota a 28-27 win. In his rookie season last year, Peterson set an NFL record with 296 yards rushing in one game.

Jones (149 yards, 3 TDs) played a key role in the New York Jets' 47-3 rout over St. Louis. Jones scored three touchdowns, two of which came in the first half when the Jets took a 40-0 lead. He scored the Jets' first TD on a 13-yard run early in the first quarter.

The Jets outgained St. Louis 206-80 on the ground.

"Running the ball, you have to physically dominate the other team," Jones said. "And I think that's what we were able to do."

New York's 40-0 lead was its largest at halftime in team history.

The Jets also set a team record for margin of victory. Their previous best was a 45-3 win over the Houston Oilers in 1988.

Week 10 Leaders:

Jay Cutler, Broncos, 24-42, 447 yards, 3 TDs, 1 INT.

WEEK 11

Pick: Dolphins 27, Raiders 21

Baltimore 6-3
at N.Y. Giants 8-1, 10 a.m.
Last Meeting: Ravens won 37-14 at home in 2004.

Stats & Stuff: Baltimore has won 4 straight, and 3 in a row vs. Giants. New York has won 5 consecutive games at home, dating to playoffs last season.

Game Day: Giants have now proven that they can beat teams with winning records, and this should add another notch to their belt.

Minnesota 5-4
at Tampa Bay 6-3, 10 a.m.
Last Meeting: Buccaneers won
 24-13 at Minnesota in 2005.
Stats & Stuff: Vikings Adrian
 Peterson has 4 straight 100-yard

many, Lions who are 7-0 early in their season.

The success of the USD women's program is a credit to Cindy Fisher who is starting her 4th year as head coach of the Toreros.

Sprague and Rego led Mission Bay High to two CIF Championships and were heavily recruited nationally, but choose USD to be impact-players throughout their careers, a goal which they accomplished.

rushing games. Tampa Bay RB Warrick Dunn has run for a TD in 2 of his last 3 games against Minnesota.

Game Day: Bucs are holding opponents to under 100 yards on ground, so it might be their day.
Pick: Buccaneers 28, Vikings 27

St. Louis 2-7
at San Francisco 2-7, 1:05
p.m.
Last Meeting: Rams won 13-9 at San Francisco in 2007.
Stats & Stuff: St. Louis RB Steven Jackson has averaged 131 all-purpose yards per game in last 4 vs. 49ers. San Francisco quarterback Shaun Hill threw for career-high 217 yards in Week 10.
Game Day: This could be a train wreck or a good matchup with an exciting finish. Neither team has won by more than 7 points in the last 6 meetings.
Pick: 49ers 20, Rams 17

Arizona 6-3 at Seattle 2-7, 1:05 p.m.
Last Meeting: Seahawks won 42-21 at home in 2007.
Stats & Stuff: Arizona is 3 games above .500 for the first time since 1988. Seahawks QB Matt Hasselbeck has 8 TDs, 0 INTs in last 3 games against Cardinals.
Game Day: Hasselbeck is expected to start for the first time in 6 weeks (hyperextended right knee, bulging disc in back) as Seahawks try to salvage something from this season. But the Cards smell a division title.
Pick: Cardinals 23, Seahawks 20

San Diego 4-5
at Pittsburgh 6-3, 1:15 p.m.
Last Meeting: Chargers won 23-13 at home in 2006.
Stats & Stuff: San Diego's Antonio Gates leads all NFL tight ends with 6 TDs. Steelers are 12-0 vs. Chargers at home in regular season, but have lost both playoff games (1982 first round; 1994 AFC Championship) the teams have played in Pittsburgh.

Game Day: Running room might be hard to find for LaDainian Tomlinson, with Steelers limiting opponents to only 69.2 rushing yards per game. It's up to Philip Rivers to find receivers for big plays.

Pick: Steelers 24, Chargers 23

Dallas 5-4
at Washington 6-3, 5:15 p.m.
Last Meeting: Redskins won 26-24 at Dallas on Sept. 28.
Stats & Stuff: Dallas was held to 44 yards rushing in earlier loss to Redskins. Washington has won 5 of its last 7 games against Cowboys.

Game Day: Cowboys expect QB Tony Romo to start and get them back on track. Washington RB Clinton Portis (knee sprain), who had 121 rushing yards in first meeting, is 50-50 to play.

Pick: Cowboys 28, Redskins 26

Monday Nov. 17
Cleveland 3-6
at Buffalo 5-4, 5:30 p.m.
Last Meeting: Browns won 8-0 at home in 2007.
Stats & Stuff: Cleveland QB Brady Quinn went 23 of 35 for 239 yards, 2 TDs, 0 INTs in his first NFL start in Week 10. Bills QB Trent Edwards has 60-plus completion percentage in 8 of 9 games this season.
Game Day: Can Quinn have another strong outing and hand Buffalo its fourth straight loss?
Pick: Bills 14, Browns 10

4TH QUARTER

Quotable: “I was looking up at the JumboTron as I was running, and I could see somebody coming after me, so I was able to move around from side to side. You’ve got to use everything on the field.”
— Carolina’s DeAngelo Williams on his TD run against Oakland.

Sidelines: The Minnesota Vikings defense recorded two safeties against the Packers in the second quarter on Sunday. According to STATS, the last time a team had two safeties in the first half was Sept. 8, 1996, when the Chargers somehow found a way to win their fourth game of the season, heading into a big matchup this Sunday in Pittsburgh.

The Chiefs had pulled within 20-19 after a questionable pass interference call and a TD catch by future Hall of Famer Tony Gonzalez (two TD receptions) with less than a minute remaining.

Having missed an extra point attempt earlier when they took a 13-6 lead, the Chiefs had QB Tyler Thigpen (27-of-41, 266 yards, three TDs) roll out and try for a two-point conversion pass deep in the right side of the end zone. Chargers safety Clinton Hart, however, knocked the ball away to preserve the lead and San Diego (4-5) recovered the onside kick to secure the victory.

The victory reminded many fans of the earlier tussle this season in Denver, where the Broncos passed on an extra point and pulled out a 39-38 victory over the Chargers in San Francisco did it against the Rams...Indianapolis finally beat the Steelers in Pittsburgh. The Colts had lost 12 straight there before winning 24-20 on Sunday night. Their last win in Pittsburgh had been in 1968...Dolphins running back Ricky Williams had his first 100-yard game since Jan. 1, 2006 when he ran for 105 yards in a 21-19 win over Seattle. Williams scored on a 51-yard run...The Arizona Cardinals won their first game on Monday night, 29-24 over the 49ers, since 1985, when the team played in St. Louis. That season, the Cardinals defeated Dallas 21-10. They are 5-12-1 all-time on Monday night, 1-5 since their move to Arizona.

Week 2 to end the game.

After Kansas City grabbed a 7-0 lead early in the game, a pair of Nate Kaeding field goals got San Diego within 7-6. Kansas City scored again to make it 13-6, but the PAT never got off the ground as holder Dustin Colquitt bobbled the errant snap.

Despite having a shaky game, San Diego QB Philip Rivers (27-of-36, 316 yards) passed for two TDs (Malcom Floyd, Antonio Gates) late in the contest to put San Diego up by seven. Star RB LaDainian Tomlinson finished the day with 78 yards on 22 carries.

"We've been in a couple games like that and had calls and plays go against us and not finish," San Diego Head Coach Norv Turner said. "It's nice to win the game."

Win they did, but the Chargers know the next few weeks could make or break their season.

After visiting Pittsburgh this Sunday (Nov. 16), San Diego returns home to face Indianapolis (5-4) on Nov. 23 (5:30 p.m.) and Atlanta (6-3) on Nov. 30 (1:05 p.m.).
