Discover PB mulls maintenance district fees to pay for security, trash

By SEBASTIAN RUIZ | BEACH & BAY PRESS

Business property owners in parts of Pacific Beach could end up paying for cleaner sidewalks and repaired streets in Pacific Beach.

Community leaders propose that property owners of Pacific Beach businesses join together and charge themselves a fee that would pay for services such as more frequent trash collection, cleaner sidewalks, street improvements and off-duty police officers patrolling along Garnet Avenue and Mission Boulevard, said Benjamin Nicholls, executive director of Discover Pacific Beach.

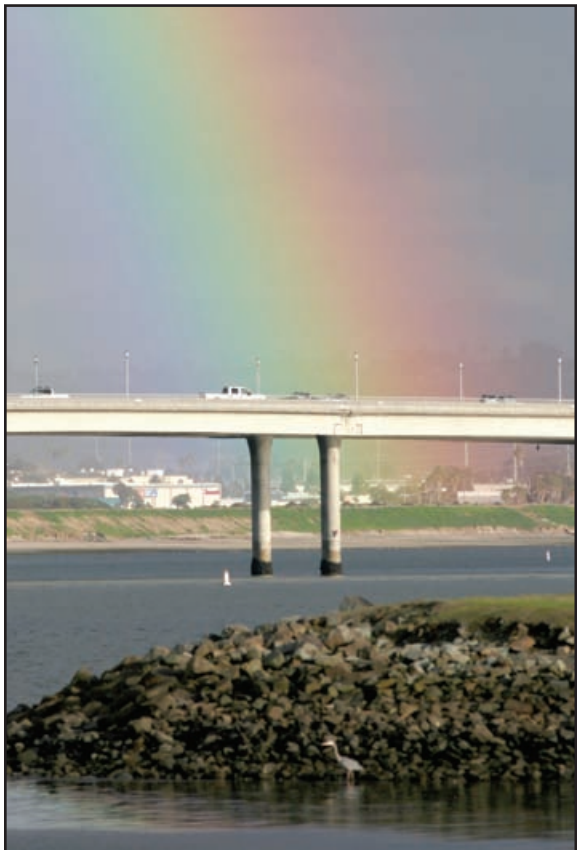

Discover Pacific Beach represents approximately 1,300 Pacific Beach businesses, mostly Garnet Avenue and Mission Boulevard.

"If you drop some gum on the sidewalk it would stay there forever," Nicholls said "Pressure washing of the sidewalks, nobody does that. This would provide for that sort of service."

Nicholls said he wants to get the program on a ballot in July for voting members of the Business Improvement District to decide. Each of the business owners and property owners participate on a voluntary basis, he said.

Nicholls said fees collected from the business-

DA releases man mistaken for PB shooter

By NEAL PUTNAM | BEACH & BAY PRESS

An attempted murder charge involving a shooting in Pacific Beach has been dismissed against a young man after his attorney was able to persuade the District Attorney's Office it was prosecuting the wrong person because of misidentification of the defendant by a store's security camera.

The charge against David Minuk Park, 24, of Scripps Ranch, was dismissed "in furtherance of justice" by San Diego Superior Court Judge Jeff Fraser in a motion by Deputy District Attorney Makenzie Harvey on Jan. 7.

She said another person will be charged in the Sept. 23 incident that left a man shot in both legs in front of Ramiro's Taco Shop, 4525 Mission Blvd.

"We pretty much convinced (the DA's office) he was innocent," said Park's attorney, Bill Nimmo.

Park had been in county jail since his arrest a few days after the incident, but the prosecutor agreed to let him out on his own recognizance about 10 days before Christmas while authorities reviewed the case.

Nimmo said the prosecution had a videotape from a store's security camera that they believed resembled Park, but he was able to show "it's clearly not the same person."

"I didn't think it was my client, so I took photos of the face from the same angle as the store security camera. The facial structure was totally different," Nimmo said.

The DA's office also studied Park's cell phone records at the time of the shooting and afterward, and Park was making calls in North County. Nimmo said his client was in the Del Mar Heights area and made calls from his car. He was not in Pacific Beach or Mission Beach at the time.

So who did shoot Eric Joseph, 25, who also sustained a third gunshot wound besides being shot in both legs?

"We have filed against someone else," she said.

Harvey said the person's identity will be revealed upon arraignment.

Lady Bucs reach Central League soccer showdown

By PAUL DOUGLAS | BEACH & BAY PRESS

The Lady Buccaneers varsity soccer team has built a stunning 16-2 record and a 7-0 Central League performance. But Clairemont High is also undefeated, with no ties in league play.

Although it is late in the season, because of a first-round rainout, the two contenders have not met. But after Thursday there will be only one undefeated team. The battle for the Central League title starts at 3 p.m. Jan 31 on the Chieftains' field.

"Clairemont is a good team. They've had a good season at 10-4," said Mission Bay head coach Jorge

Palacios. "We will have to play our best and not give them anything."

Mission Bay's balanced attack has been boosted by the team's freshmen as well as its seniors and other veteran players on the squad. Leading the team and the San Diego section in scoring is senior Roshana Lavery, with 29 goals.

"We have a lot of speed and ball-collecting ability," Lavery explained. "We have been playing together a long time now and are pretty effective. Clairemont has a good goalie. But we have good defenders too."

Praised for her speed, Lavery has

Rains cause a new slide on Mt. Soledad

By ALYSSA RAMOS | BEACH & BAY PRESS

Angela Schuetz and her husband were watching the end of the president's State of the Union address inside their Mount Soledad home Monday when they were startled by the sound of gushing water.

"We heard all the rushing water," Schuetz said. "I ran to the back and saw our shed had moved, and there was gushing water."

She said they also had an old chicken coop — empty from a previous raccoon attack — that had moved down the hillside. Several neighbors' yards were also affected by the slide.

Fire department and city personnel evacuated Schuetz and her neighbors around 8 p.m. at the 7700 block of Sierra Del Mar, along with residents on the 1700 block of Soledad Avenue, but SchUetz's husband refused to leave.

"We knew our house would be okay," Schuetz said. She left anyway, going to a friend's house, while her husband stayed, she said. But Schuetz shares the edge of her backyard with her neighbors, who may not have fared as well.

The slide, at the 7700 block of Sierra Del Mar, where the Schuetz residence is located, shares property lines with homes on the 1700 block of Soledad Avenue. But some residents on Soledad Avenue said they were "reluctant to talk" about the incident.

"What I understand was that the initial reports said that it was the pipes from the homeowner's backyard," said Arian Collins, spokesman for the City of San Diego Water Department.

And according to a statement released Tuesday, Jan. 29 by Mayor Jerry Sanders' office, the city's water and storm drain systems were not the cause of Monday's slide.

"This was not a landslide and is unrelated to the ancient landslide site on Soledad Mountain Road that reactivated last October," the press release states. It refers to the slide as a "debris flow."

The mayor's office said soil in the area was saturated from heavy rains. Eventually, mud slid down the hill, encroaching in others' yards, breaking sprinklers and spraying water. When the fire department arrived, IT shut the water down until homeowners located the shut-off valve for their sprinklers. There was minimal damage done to homes, save the mess from the mud.

"It's always possible that something will change once someone begins the investigation," Collins said.

The Oct. 3 landslide on the other side of Mount Soledad resulted in property loss and, according to attorneys representing the homeowners, loss of home value. While that landslide occurred on city property, this slide, officials said, is on private property. Homeowners affected by the October landslide are suing the city because of a series of events they say caused the slide, including water main and other leaks.

Two Pacific Beach residents are in jail on weapons charges following an officer-involved shooting on the 1700 block of Grand Avenue Sunday, Jan. 27, at approximately 10:30 p.m.

According to San Diego Police Department (SDPD) Lt. Kevin Rooney, Northern Division Sgt. Paul Phillips, a 16-year veteran with SDPD, was driving east-bound on Grand Avenue when he heard gunshots coming from the north side of the street. Phillips spotted Douglas Satterfield, 31, pass something to James Baichtal, 22.

"There is no evidence that there was anything in particular they were shooting at," Rooney said. "We're still trying to determine if anything was damaged by the gunshots."

According to police reports, as Phillips exited his car, he saw Baichtal point the gun down the street. Phillips ordered Baichtal to drop the gun, and Baichtal spun around and pointed the gun at Phillips, who fired one shot at Baichtal. The round missed and Baichtal dropped the gun.

While Baichtal was being arrested, Satterfield left the scene. A Canine Unit officer searching the area found Satterfield hiding under a bush on the 1800 block of Grand Avenue two hours later at approximately 12:30 a.m.

Baichtal was arrested for assault with a deadly weapon on a peace officer and possession of a loaded firearm. Satterfield was arrested for reckless discharge of a firearm and possession of a loaded firearm.

Bakersfield man pleads guilty to December rape

A rape suspect avoided a preliminary hearing Friday, Jan. 25 by pleading guilty to sexually assaulting a woman in Pacific Beach.

Hosh Deion Thomas, 24, of Bakersfield, faces up to nine years in state prison. San Diego Superior Court Judge Michael Smyth set sentencing for March 17.

Thomas pleaded guilty to raping a woman whom he had apparently followed after she left a bar in the 1200 block of Diamond Street Dec. 12 in the early morning hours. She was attacked outside in the residential area, but a man riding a skateboard heard her screaming and intervened, scaring the attacker off.

Detectives were able to identify

Thomas with the help of the staff at the Tavern, which Thomas and the victim were patronizing before the attack. Officers contacted Thomas' friends, and he was arrested several days later.

According to two online social networking sites, Thomas was an aspiring actor and musician and in 2005 was a wide receiver for the football team at Southern Utah University.

Smyth dismissed two lesser sex charges against Thomas that involved the same incident. Thomas hired a Bakersfield attorney to represent him. Thomas decided to plead guilty to the strongest charge on the day of the preliminary hearing when the victim and other witnesses were waiting to testify against him.

Thomas remains in the South Bay Detention Facility without bail.

PB Town Council hosts Saturday beach cleanup

The Pacific Beach Town Council (PBTC) is inviting residents to join PBTC members for its monthly beach cleanup Saturday, Feb. 2.

Volunteers will meet at the lifeguard tower at the foot of Grand Avenue at 8:50 a.m. I Love a Clean San Diego (ILACSD) will start the cleanup with a presentation about the importance of keeping the beach, waterways and gutters clean.

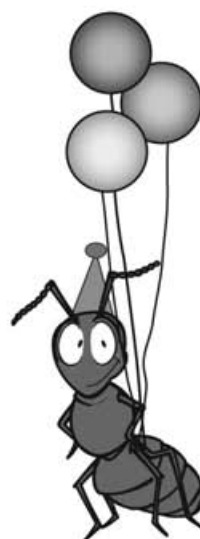

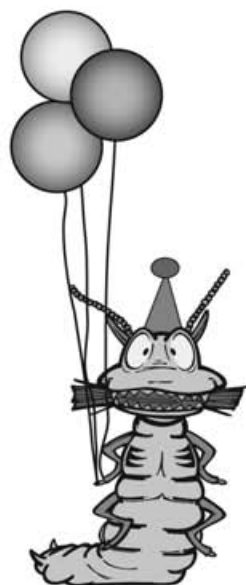

Gloves, trash bags and water will be provided.

The PBTC adopted the stretch of beach between Crystal Pier and Pacific Beach Drive and has regularly scheduled beach cleanups on the first Saturday of each month.

Water Dept. hosting poster contest for kids

As San Diegans prepare to grapple with possible water shortages and reductions for myriad reasons, area students are preparing to get involved with their own conservation messages during the city of San Diego Water Department's 8th annual Water Conservation Poster Contest.

Water officials are encouraging all public, private and home-school teachers to use art to teach students about the benefits of water conservation by entering the contest. The Water Department will accept entries through Wednesday, March 26.

Water officials say they hope the student-based art will help inspire the community and transform the way residents view water conservation. The theme of this year's contest is "Water Wins."

Mission Bay High School (MBHS) sophomore Taylor Eastman shows off his science fair project, "The Forces of Swimming." Taylor and 19 other MBHS winners will move on to the district finals, held at Muirlands Middle School.

Of the total submissions, 18 winners will be selected and recognized at a future City Council meeting. These 18 students will receive a U.S. Savings Bond, four tickets to the Reuben H. GUEST COMMENTARY

Flying Leatherneck Museum wants to take off at MCAS

By SANDY LIPPE

Looking at our neighbor to the east, Marine Corps Air Station Miramar (MCAS), what comes to mind? “The few, the brave, the proud, the Marines” may be your answer. The sound of freedom might be your choice as you hear and watch F-18s soar through the sky or do touch-and-go take-offs and landings. Finally, the word gratitude may roll off your lips, directed to those who serve us in the military, whether you embrace the Iraq mission or rail against it.

Recently this writer made her way over to the Flying Leatherneck Aviation Museum, located just north of the North Gate at MCAS on Miramar Road. I was greeted by two former Marines, museum volunteers, one who served during World War II and one who had seen duty more recently. The first Marine joked about how his generation could possibly have won the Second World War because “we weren’t as smart as these kids today. You can’t believe how smart and well-trained they are.”

The younger of the two volunteers told me that he loved his volunteer work in the temporary quarters of the museum, the only official Marine Corps aviation museum in the western United States, according to Col. Chris O’Connor, commanding officer at Miramar. The Marines are hoping to raise funds to build a beautiful, permanent museum or exhibit hall.

“We meet people from all over the country and we hear their stories,” the volunteer said. “Volunteering here is a most interesting job.”

The museum displays World War II, Korean War and Vietnam War vintage aircraft outside the temporary facilities. MCAS Miramar is home to the 3rd Marine Aircraft Wing, the Aviation Combat Element of the 1st Marine Expeditionary Force. According to the San Diego Union-Tribune, at least 200 service members left Miramar Marine Corps Air Station last Saturday, Jan. 19, to join Marines and sailors on a combat tour as part of a major series of deployments to Iraq for troops based in San Diego County. In the coming weeks, about 11,000 members of the 1st Marine Expeditionary Force will head to Anbar in Iraq. Most of them are stationed at Miramar or Camp Pendleton.

In honor of those who serve us as Marine aviators today and for an understanding of the interesting history of Marine aviation, it would be worth the drive on Miramar Road to visit this museum. Various military aircraft are on display, including the F4U (Corsair) used by aviators in World War II, as well as an F/A-18A, with about 30 aircraft on display at any time.

The museum has the most complete exhibit of the history of women in the Marine Corps from 1918 to the present. In July 1993, 2nd Lt. Sarah Deal became the first female Marine selected for Naval aviation training. She received her wings on April 21, 1995 and served as a CH-53E helicopter pilot.

The first USMC pilots, Alfred Cunningham and Roy Gieger, began their aviation career in 1912. They flew anti-submarine patrols and front-line bombing missions.

Three famous Marine aviators include John Glenn, an American astronaut who was a fighter pilot with the Marines. He piloted F4U Corsair planes and flew 59 combat missions in World War II.

Ted Williams, baseball’s best, served as a Marine pilot during World War II and the Korean War, where he recorded 38 combat missions.

Jerry Coleman, once the voice of the Padres, signed with the New York Yankees in 1942, but he postponed his baseball career and joined the Marines as a Naval aviation cadet. He flew 51 combat missions at Guadalcanal, Solomon Islands and the Philippines. In 1952, Coleman was recalled to active duty for combat service in the Korean War. He flew 63 close air support and interdiction strike missions. He remained in the Marine reserves until 1964, when he retired.

Since 2012 will mark the 100th birthday of Marine aviation, it would be great to have the new museum ready to open. In the meantime, the temporary headquarters provide an opportunity to relive the history of Marine aviation. A gift shop gives you a chance to pick up souvenirs and Marine mementos. Right now the public is invited to the museum Tuesday through Sunday, from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., and admission is free. However, the opportunity to join the Flying Leatherneck Historical Foundation is available. The e-mail address is flhf@flyingleathernecks.org.

DISTRICT

es would provide for daily trash pickup along Garnet Avenue and Mission Boulevard in Pacific Beach. Though the city provides for some of the services, it's not enough, he said.

He said many other communities such as Little Italy and downtown San Diego have benefited from creating such Maintenance Assessment Districts (MAD).

Funds from the MAD would also pay for two pairs of off-duty police officers to patrol Garnet Avenue Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights. The officers would deal specifically with security, working at the bars along Garnet Avenue. Additional security would patrol the boardwalk to deal with graffiti and other criminal activity along with homeless issues, he said.

The program also sets aside funds for minor sidewalk repair and other improvements, he said.

The entire program would have a budget of about $470,000, Nicholls said. Property owners would pay into the program based on how much service the businesses in the area receive, he said.

For example, a bar on Garnett Avenue that benefits from trash pickup service and security services would pay more into the program than a small business on Mission Boulevard that benefits only from trash pickup service.

Tom Frost, owner-operator of Beach Cottages, 4255 Ocean Blvd., said he thinks the Maintenance Assessment District would benefit the area greatly.

"This program helps fill in where the city leaves off and the police department leaves off," he said.

Frost said a clean area with more police would help tourists feel safer.

Others, however, don't think more fees are the best way to handle the problems.

Richard Peña, general manager of Plum Crazy Saloon, 1060 Garnet Ave., said the business he helps run already pressure-washes the sidewalk. He added that businesses shouldn't have to pay for that service if they already do it on their own.

"I think certain things should already be done by their own businesses and that shouldn't have to be dependent on the city or whoever," he said.

Jeff Kinney, owner of PB Surf Club Surf Shop, 952 Garnet Ave., said he was not aware about the proposed program. He said he thinks the idea is terrible because fees levied on property owners would just get passed down to renters, resulting in higher prices for consumers.

Kinney said he plays zero role in the Business Improvement District adding that the fees he already pays into the district now should pay for a lot of the services in the proposed program.

"I'm all for a cleaner and better PB, but before we put our hands out for more money, why don't we look to make sure we're being as efficient as possible with money we already have," he said.

Created in 1997, Discover Pacific Beach represents the Pacific Beach Business Improvement District. The district uses funds to install street lighting, promote BeachFest and other outdoor festivals and remove graffiti.

Fat Tuesday will light up the Gaslamp

By LORI MARTINEZ | BEACH & BAY PRESS

Gold, purple and green will adorn the Gaslamp Quarter, from Broadway to Harbor Drive between 4th and 5th avenues, on Tuesday, Feb. 5 as San Diego celebrates Fat Tuesday with music, food, the traditional parade and a seemingly endless supply of entertainment. The festivities begin at 6 p.m. and wrap up at midnight.

While old traditions stand fast, the Gaslamp Quarter Association has new aspects to bring the event up to date.

This year the Masquerade Parade will step off twice, at 7:30 p.m. and at 10 p.m.

Revelers are encouraged to come in costume, either elaborate or simple like those thrown together with a feather boa and heavy make-up.

Those arriving not in costume shouldn't worry. The beads will find their way across the entire quarter, even without flashing some skin.

In New Orleans tradition, beads are given in exchange for flashing, typically women baring their breasts, although that won't be necessary during the Gaslamp's festivities.

Almost 50,000 people are expected at the event to see not only the parade, which features elaborate floats by various San Diego institutions, but also the impromptu sidewalk performers and roving bands along with the stage performers.

Entertainment lounges and music stages are located throughout the area for additional entertainment.

Numerous area bars and restaurants will offer dinner and drink specials. Most nightclubs will forgo a cover charge, while many eateries will offer discounted dinner packages that include Cajun and Creole dishes, as well as entrance into the Mardi Gras festivities.

Food venders and retail booths will also be dispersed throughout the streets.

Once again the Gaslamp Quarter Association is offering advance purchase of tickets online. Tickets will be available the day of the event at the entrance gates – 5th Avenue and Broadway, 4th Avenue and Market Street or 6th Avenue and K Street – for $20 each.

Advanced purchase tickets are $15, plus an additional $2.25 fee, and can be purchased at the Gaslamp Quarter Association Web site.

Public transportation is recommended, as parking will be limited. The trolley will run special event service. For schedule and stop information visit the San Diego Trolley Web site, www.sdcommute.com, and click on the Special Events Services link.

No cameras, video cameras, large backpacks, umbrellas or skateboards will be allowed inside the gates.

For more information and to order tickets in advance, visit www.gaslamp.org or call (619) 233-5227.

continues through Friday

San Diego Restaurant Week is coming back for seconds as the popular local culinary event continues through Friday, Feb. 1. The twice-a-year event gives diners the opportunity to try some of San Diego's premiere restaurants at a special price. "San Diego has experienced a renaissance in dining and culture over the past 20 years that parallels the community's growth," said Ingrid Croce, owner of Croce's Restaurant and Jazz Bar and founding chair of San Diego Restaurant Week, in a statement. "San Diego Restaurant Week is unique in that the event encourages local restaurants from all San Diego communities to band together to offer diners the opportunity to visit high-end dining establishments while indulging in off-season rates." More than 130 restaurants across San Diego County are participating in this year's Restaurant Week. Each will feature a special three-course, prix fixe menu for either $30 or $40, depending on the location (tax, beverage and gratuity not included).

Participating Pacific Beach restaurants are:

Giants feel confident against perfect Pats

By BOB HURST | BEACH & BAY PRESS

In a Week 12 home game in November, the New York Giants were at their lowest point after a 41-17 thumping by the Minnesota Vikings. Early in the fourth quarter, Eli Manning sat on the ground looking up, bewildered by yet another interception returned for a touchdown. This one was Chad Greenway's 37-yard pick, run and score, making it 41-10.

"When you throw four interceptions, it's never a good day," Manning said after the game.

It was the fourth interception of Manning in the contest and the third returned for a TD. New York had lost for the second time in three games, and its promising 6-2 start was a distant memory.

If New York fans and media were hard on Manning and the Giants before, the Vikings game topped everything.

But all was not lost.

The next week, Manning was awful through three quarters at Chicago but rallied the offense on two late drives in the fourth quarter to come away with a 21-16 victory. The Giants went on to win two of their next three games to make the playoffs before meeting New England in the regular season finale.

And if there's such a thing as moral victory, it came in that last game, a 38-35 loss to the Patriots. The Giants held a 28-16 lead in the third quarter. Manning threw four touchdown passes.

"We didn't win the game, but if you saw everybody in the locker room, everybody was excited,"

Manning said. "I never saw a locker room so upbeat after a loss, because we played so well, did some good things and hung in there in a game where we didn't have to play. We wanted to. We wanted to come out and play well, and we did that."

The New England game was a confidence builder. It was a booster shot that propelled the Giants to three straight road wins during the NFC playoffs. Manning hasn't thrown an interception throughout the postseason after getting picked off 20 times prior.

New York will have its hands full with the Patriots in Super Bowl XLII. But it's a different team, loaded with confidence. And the Giants can thank the Patriots for letting

The crowds cheers for Tiger Woods after he sinks a shot at the Buick Invitational. Woods' victory was his fourth consecutive Buick win.

Tiger reigns again at a wet Buick Invitational

By PAUL DOUGLAS | BEACH & BAY PRESS

Tiger Woods added to his golf legend with a dominating performance during his fourth consecutive Buick Invitational victory at La Jolla's Torrey Pines Golf Course Saturday, Jan. 27.

Woods has won five of the last six PGA tournaments at Torrey Pines and six since 1999, even while the course has been significantly remodeled to be more difficult.

Woods led all four days of the tournament while shooting a 67, 65, 66 and 71 for an 8-shot margin over Ryuji Imada, Rory Sabbatini and Stewart Cink.

"Even though I didn't drive the ball particularly well this week, I still was able to do what I was able to do, which was nice," Woods said.

What he did do was shoot 19 under par. At one point he was 21 under. But late Sunday the weather affected everyone's game while the wind was gusting around 25 miles per hour and it finally began to rain again.

Only seven players finished the final round under par. Woods 71 was his first above the 60s in 14 rounds of tournament play.

"It wasn't easy today. It was breezy and cold," Woods added. "The wind changed a lot — it was impossible to get close sometimes."

Woods hit less than half of the fairways in his first event of the season, but his short-game and putting was spectacular. Huge putts found the cup for Woods while other players reading of the greens were less perfect. On the 11th, Woods looped a putt over 60 feet, curling 30 feet off-line and finding its way into the back of the cup.

Woods was 59th in driving accuracy but No. 1 in putts per round and birdies.

The victory was the 62nd in Woods 11 years on-tour, tied with the great Arnold Palmer at No. 4 on the career PGA victories list. But he has accomplished the feat in less than half the time than the other champions on the list, Ben Hogan, Jack Nicklaus and Sam Snead.

Native San Diego favorite Phil Mickelson finished Sunday in sixth behind veteran Justin Leonard. Mickelson also made his 2008 debut at Torrey Pines, where he has twice been champion. But he was battling a stomach virus as well as the elements on the bluffs of La Jolla.

Rounding out the top 10 were Joe Durant at 6 under par and John Senden, Fred Couples and Stewart Appleby tied at 5 under.

The Torrey Pines South course has been made extremely difficult in preparation for hosting the 2008 US Open on June 12. The prestigious Open event will be hosted on a municipal course for only the second time in tour history.

The San Diego Century Club hosted the Buick Invitational. Local youth programs were also big winners due to the efforts and generosity of the Century Club and hundreds of tournament volunteers.

The PGA Tour moves on to Scottsdale, where large crowds are expected, up to 200,000 per day on the weekend. Then the tour moves back to Pebble Beach followed by the Riviera Country Club near Santa Monica.

Woods however will be traveling to the Dubai Desert Classic in the Middle East.

Tournament information is available at www.buickinvitational.com and www.PGATour.com.

PAUL GALLEGOS | BEACH & BAY PRESS

Stewart Cink finished 9 under par, taking fourth place at Torrey Pines with a score of 68-69-69-73-279.

some of that confidence rub off on them.

Brady ready: The New England media and Patriots fans can relax. They were on edge last week when Tom Brady was seen wearing a protective boot on his right foot while delivering flowers to his supermodel girlfriend, Gisele Bundchen, in New York.

“It’s feeling good, I’ll be ready to go,” Brady said in a press conference on Sunday. “I’m not concerned about how it’s going to affect my play. This won’t keep me out.”

Brady’s injury, apparently a high ankle sprain, was suffered in the third quarter of New England’s 21-12 victory over San Diego in the AFC title game. After missing three practices last week, Brady returned to the field on Monday, fully participating in practice. He had a slight limp and his ankle was taped.

As for being chased around by photographers while in New York,

Brady said: “I was just trying to get into the house as fast as I could. I was trying to hobble along. It kind of caught me off guard. It’s just part of the world we’re living in. Those places I went for refuge, I guess I can’t go anymore. If we were 0-16, nobody would (care).”

Chargers to play in London: The NFL is expected to announce on Friday that the San Diego Chargers will play the New Orleans Saints in London next season. It will be the second NFL regular season game played outside of North America, following the New York Giants-Miami Dolphins game in London last October.

The game is expected to be played at Wembley Stadium on Oct. 26 and would be one from the Chargers road schedule.

“It shows that the Chargers clearly have become one of the NFL’s marquee franchises; a team with a strong following that the league is proud of,” Chargers president Dean Spanos said in a statement on the team’s web site.

The Chargers have played overseas in the past. They played the Giants in Berlin in 1994; the Pittsburgh Steelers in Tokyo in 1996, and the Denver Broncos in Sydney in 1999. All were preseason games.

Changes to Bolts staff: A couple of familiar faces are returning to the Chargers coaching staff. Ollie Wilson, a Chargers coach from 1997 to 2001, will be the new running backs coach. And Charlie Joiner, the Bolts’ all-time leading receiver and a Hall of Fame member, will coach wide receivers. Joiner coached wide receivers in San Diego from 1987 to 1991.

Wilson, who spent the last six years coaching for the Atlanta Falcons, helped guide LaDainian Tomlinson to an outstanding rookie season in 2001, when the running back gained 1,236 yards rushing and scored 10 touchdowns.

Joiner, who played for the Chargers from 1976 to 1986, coached wide receivers with the Kansas City Chiefs for the past seven years.

Wilson replaces Matt Simon, and Joiner replaces James Lofton. Simon and Lofton were fired last week.

SUPER BOWL

deficit, taking a 31-28 lead on a 65-yard TD pass from Tom Brady to Randy Moss in the fourth quarter. Brady had his usual numbers (32-42, 356 yards, 2 TDs, 0 INT), but Eli Manning came of age with his 22 of 32, 251-yard, 4 TD, 1 INT performance. Although a loss, the game was a turning point for the Giants, who went on to win three consecutive road play-off games to reach the Super Bowl.

No team has scored more points in a game against the Patriots this season than the Giants did in the regular-season finale. So expect New England to make some defensive adjustments, such as keeping the Giants’ 1-2 punch running game of Brandon Jacobs and Ahmad Bradshaw contained inside and putting more pressure on quarterback Eli Manning (0 INTs in postseason) early in passing situations.

New England led the NFL in every major offensive category this season (except rushing) and put up 390 yards on offense in the earlier contest against the Giants, so there should be more of the same. The Patriots have too many weapons, with Moss and Donte Stallworth as deep threats, Wes Welker and Ben Watson medium threats and Laurence Maroney and Kevin Faulk coming out of the backfield. The Patriots’ offensive line will focus on protecting Brady and his mild right ankle sprain. New York, which led the league with 53 sacks, has to get to Brady, led by defensive ends Michael Strahan and Osi Umenyiora.

It’s been the Patriots’ year all year, and they’ll make history with a perfect 19-0 finish.

Pick: Patriots 35, Giants 23 accepted a softball scholarship to San Diego State University.

The Lady Bucs got in a non-league romp against Lincoln Monday, Jan. 28, as a tune-up for the big game against Clairemont. Mission Bay defeated Lincoln 13-1.

Seven different players scored goals. With remarkable accuracy to her kicks, senior Becca James led the crew with four goals.

“She’s a great shooter — we have been trying to encourage her to shoot more,” Palacios said. “Becca’s scored three games in a row now.”

James’ first goal came 5 minutes into the game. In the second half, she added a clean break-away shot by the Hornet goalie. After Lincoln lobbed in its lone goal, just under the bar, James added the next two goals on a precise poke into the corner and one rebound put-away.

JORGE PALACIOS
HEAD COACH

Lavery also added a hat trick of three goals for the Lady Bucs. Two came on swift breakaways placing her one on one with the goalie. The other came off a rebound pick-up in the first attack of the second half.

Freshman forward Stephanie Urrutia provided two back-to-back goals late in the first half. The first came on an unassisted drive up the baseline and under the reach of the goalie. The second shot threaded the needle just inside the pole, past the goalie’s reach.

A beautiful lob into the center by S. Urrutia was delivered into the net with a header in by Brooke Bruce.

Freshman Jessica Diaz also added two goals. The first into an empty net after she faked her way past the goalie 20 yards out. The second was a put-away of another rebound in traffic.

In the final seconds, Erin Planert drove toward the net between two defenders and blasted the goal off the hands of the goalie.

Mission Bay’s goalkeeper senior Jeanette Urrutia retains a great goals-against average of less than 1/4 goal per game (0.21) including 11 shutouts.

At Mission Bay’s final home game, they will host Crawford Feb. 7 at 3 p.m. League play continues through Feb. 12, followed by the playoffs.

This friendly young man (approximately 4 years) seeks a forever home that can see beyond his fur re-growth to the gentle lover inside. His injuries are mild compared to those of less fortunate animals. The only reminder of his recent tragedy is the fact that his paw pads are now not quite as tough as those of a normal cat. Indoor, soft surfaces are just what the doctor ordered which means Hot Rod should be parked indoors for the rest of his life. HOROSCOPES

January 2008 — Week 4

 CAPRICORN December 22–January 19 Unusual circumstances force you to take a long, hard look at your life. Be careful how you proceed. Capricorn, and work to make the right decisions. A wish is granted.	 ARIES March 21–April 19 Flattery is not your specialty. Aries, so don't bother using it with a friend. Make your request and give them ample time to respond. A home repair turns out beautifully.	 CANCER June 22–July 22 Young mischief puts you in a humorous mood. Throw away your reservations. Cancer, and join in the fun. Helpful tips come from afar. Listen closely.	 LIBRA September 23–October 22 Time is running out on a project, Libra, and promises for assistance fall on deaf ears. Be bold and step up to the plate. You have what it takes.
 AQUARIUS January 20–February 18 Tired of that persistent health problem, Aquarius? Say no more. All you need to make it disappear is the help of the right professional. Start your search with a friend.	 TAURUS April 20–May 20 Motivation is hard to come by these days, Taurus, until a coworker offers you a hand. Take it and be prepared to return the favor when you can.	 LEO July 23–August 22 Like a challenge, Leo? You better. Your supervisor has something up their sleeve just for you. Charge! A financial matter is taken care of quickly.	 SCORPIO October 23–November 21 Tragedy befalls a friend, Scorpio, and you must help them pick of the pieces. Be firm but kind. Financial improvements lead to a budget surplus.
 PISCES February 19–March 20 Watch out, Pisces. A friend is not what they seem. Take what they say with a grain of salt. A professional dilemma comes to a head. Stay on the sidelines.	 GEMINI May 21–June 21 A momentous occasion calls for a momentous celebration. Time to let bygones be bygones. Gemini, and work your special magic. Ambiguity will not work at home.	 VIRGO August 23–September 22 Be careful, Virgo. This week is all about the unexpected. Everything you thought you knew and took for granted will be turned upside down, and you will learn a great lesson.	 SAGITTARIUS November 22–December 21 Clatter reigns at home and begins seeping into other aspects of your life. Rally the troops, Sagittarius, and take charge. The items you uncover will be reward enough.
