Finally, a community as prestigious as the area it's named after. Point Loma Woods.

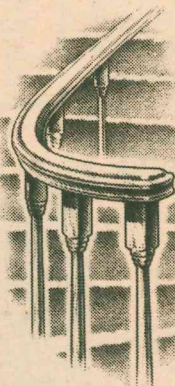

These days, true prestige can be found in few places. One of them lies here in the wooded area of Point Loma. Point Loma Woods. Prestigious not just by the rich design of the homes, but also by a location long favored by San Diego's elite.

Point Loma Woods is the first new community to be built in Point Loma in over two decades. The setting, once a part of Madame Tingley's impressive estate, is now a unique collection of estate-sized homes. Away from the flight path and noises of the city. Yet close to downtown, Shelter Island and San Diego's yacht clubs.

The homes combine award-winning architecture with sweeping volumes of space. A choice of four distinctive plans offer 3 and 4-bedrooms and up to 2,861 square feet of living area.

And a host of generous amenities customize every home. 100% nylon plush carpeting, ceramic tile entries, decorator flooring, custom design wood-burning fireplaces with gas log lighters, natural stain hardwood cabinets, antique brass fixtures, roman tile tubs, and gourmet kitchens with the latest in modern conveniences.

You owe yourself a visit to Point Loma Woods.

A community so exclusive, it lives up to its name.

From $259,000 to $385,000.
